BACK CONCORD LAWYER FOR PLACE ON SUPERIOR COURT

Friends of Hon. Frank Armfield Want Him Appointed to Succeed Late Judge Ben F. Long.

Friends in Concord and other sections of the State are urging the appointment of Hon. Frank Armfield of this city, to the Superior Court bench to succeed Judge Ben F. Long, who died Saturday at his home in Statesville, and at the solicitation of his friends Mr. Armfield has agreed to make the race.

Members of the Concord bar took the first step in the campaign for Mr. Armfield, and individually and collectively they have urged his appointment by Governor McLean, who will name Judge Long's successor. Other citizens of this and other cities also have wired Governor McLean asking that he appoint Mr. Armfield.

Mr. Armfield began the practice of law in 1894 after graduating from Trinity College and the State University law school. He was a student for one year at the Yale law school. He has been very successful as a trial lawyer and is recognized throughout the State as one of the finest students of law in North Carolina.

Mr. Armfield has been prominent in the Democratic party for many years. He served one term as Mayor of Monroe, was a member of the electoral college in 1904, served in the State Senate from Cabarrus county and for two years was chairman of the Cabarrus County Democratic Executive committee.

So far two other candidates in addition to Mr. Armfield, have entered the race for the judgeship. They are R. Lee Wright, member of the Salisbury bar, and John T. Brittain, member of the Asheville bar.

Members of the Concord bar who are working especially hard for the appointment of Mr. Armfield, have been in communication with lawyers in other cities in this district and they are much encouraged by the manner in which Mr. Armfield's candidacy has been received.

Mr. Armfield Endorsed by Monroe Bar. Monroe Enquirer.

At a meeting of the Monroe bar this morning, Frank Armfield, of Concord, was heartily endorsed as a successor of Judge B. F. Long, who died at his home in Statesville Saturday. Mr. Armfield is a native of Monroe; the son of Mrs. E. A. Armfield, and a member of a prominent and influential family, and of course of Democratic lineage. Also Mr. Armfield is admirably fitted for a judgeship, a student well versed in his profession. His many friends know he would fill Judge Long's place with ease and grace. It is the hope of Monroe and Union county citizens that Governor McLean may see fit to give Mr. Armfield the appointment.

Home Demonstration Clubs Hold Meeting.

The first quarterly meeting of the Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs was held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon and was attended by a large number of women from the county. In addition to the regular members present a number of new members were added. The chairman of the home garden contest from each township in the county was asked to report on the progress being made by her committee. Miss Maude E. Wallace, assistant state home demonstration agent, was present and spoke on "Planning and Furnishing the Home." Miss Wallace was located in Cabarrus county for six months when she first came to North Carolina. At the conclusion of the business session refreshments were served.

CONCORD MAN HAS TRUNK STOLEN IN CHARLOTTE

Trunk Stolen in Daylight Robbery Near Stonewall Hotel Saturday Afternoon.

A Homer Snyder, manager of a job printing establishment in Concord, had a trunk stolen from him in Charlotte Saturday afternoon, and so far his property has not been recovered.

Mr. Snyder, his brother and a companion were returning from Gastonia and stopped in Charlotte near the Stonewall Hotel while Mr. Snyder conferred with a friend in the hotel. The trunk was tied on the rear of a Ford and while the occupants of the Ford were walking around a short distance from the car, still in full view of it, some one drove up to the Ford, cut the ropes holding the trunk and dragged it into their car.

The robbery was made during a traffic jam and the occupants of Mr. Snyder's car did not think anything of the fact that another car was standing alongside their car until they missed the trunk.

Mr. Snyder had some very valuable papers as well as much clothing in the trunk. Police officers in Charlotte were notified of the robbery and they have been searching since for the thief but without success.

Col. Harris Still Wide Awake at the Switch. Mooresville Enterprise.

Colonel Wade H. Harris, the well-known and very able editor of the Charlotte Observer, recently rounded out his fiftieth year as an editor, beginning his career as a local writer on the old Concord Sun; the paper since published by his esteemed and beloved father, the late Richard S. Harris. After a brief season on the Sun he was engaged on the first Charlotte Observer with Colonel Charles R. Jones, and from there he established the old Charlotte News with J. K. D. Netherly, Margellus Wallace and John Cornack. It was afterwards his own property and when disposing of the News he became editor of the Charlotte Evening Chronicle; and at the death of the late Joseph Caldwell became editor of the Observer. His record is one in which every editor in North Carolina takes pride and we venture the assertion that he has written more editorial matter about North Carolina and made her greater thereby than any other editor in the State. He is loved by all the profession and after this half century of building for North Carolina, he is still found wide awake at the switch.

May Day Festival Plans Being Made. H. W. Blanks, who is making arrangements for the May day festival in Concord, is rapidly getting his plans in shape for the best celebration which has been held yet in Concord. The court this year is to be larger than it was last year and the entire affair is to be put on a bigger scale.

The queen is to have six maids of honor, six pages, two jokers, two entertainers, and two cannyals following her. There are also to be several hundred boys and girls in the parade. The Y kindergarten is to furnish the dance of the fairies.

The festival is to be held on the lawn of the Y at 5 o'clock on May 1st.

SENSATION SPRUNG IN PROBE OF WEALTHY ORPHAN'S DEATH

Witness Asserts He Offered $20,000 Bribe—Silence Was Sought.

Chicago, March 16.—Charles C. Fairman, proprietor of a school of bacteriology, admitted today, according to assistant state's attorneys, that he had given typhoid germs to William D. Shepherd, foster father of William Nelson McClintock, the "millionaire orphan," whose death from typhoid fever is now a subject for investigation by the grand jury.

Fairman said he had given the germs to Shepherd after the latter had told him that he "was going to inoculate someone with them" and that "it is a million dollar deal."

Chicago, March 16.—The state's attorney's efforts to indict William D. Shepherd for causing the death from typhoid fever of his young foster son and beneficiary by will, William Nelson McClintock, the "millionaire orphan," progressed today with the appearance of two witnesses before the grand jury. Others will appear tomorrow.

As the case was being placed before the inquisitorial body, Joseph Savage, assistant state's attorney, announced that at 3 o'clock this morning, after persistent questioning, Dr. C. C. Fairman, proprietor of a school of bacteriology, stated that Shepherd, in regaining possession of a letter he had written regarding a course of instruction, offered him $20,000 if he would "keep his mouth shut."

The proposed bribe was to have been paid, Dr. Fairman said, after settlement of the $1,000,000 estate left by young McClintock. Under terms of the will Shepherd received the entire estate except for an $8,000 annuity to Miss Isabelle Hope, who wanted to marry young McClintock when he died.

Post and Flag's Cotton Letter. New York, March 16.—Reports of shavers at scattered points in Texas, leading to the hope that the drought might be on the point of being broken, served to restrict in the cotton market and encourage selling with the result of an easier tone, though offerings were, on the whole, well taken and it is understood that showers, while welcome, will not relieve the situation fully but that a slow steady aim for at least a week will be required for that. The showers, moreover, are where most needed, which is northeast Texas.

Any prospect of real relief, however, will operate as a check on the buying, although as against that it is difficult to see where any heavy aggressive selling will make its appearance unless it is for speculative short account. Liquidation has been frequent and hedging has practically run its course for the season unless it comes from the mills selling against their stocks of cotton, which looks very improbable, in view of the improvement in goods and the well known scanty stocks resulting from the hard to mouth policy prevalent in all branches of the trade for so long.

Existing prices discount much of what is favorable in the situation to date and suggest strongly that advances be followed cautiously if at all but good reactions present opportunities for purchases of which advantage should be taken, as matters are shaping themselves in such a way as to foreshadow periods of much anxiety, as to the yield next season and a large crop is practically indispensable to meet probable requirements.

POST AND FLAG.

Two Irishmen, at desperation point, held up a passing Scotchman. After a long stiff fight in which the Scot very nearly had the best of them they succeeded in getting him down. A close search revealed a lone penny. "Truth, Mike," said Pat, disgustedly, "if he'd had five cents he'd have murdered the two of us."

"Are you a clock-watcher?" asked the employment agency manager.

"Nope, no office work for mine," answered the applicant disdainfully. "I'm a whistle-listener."
