"MAGNETISM OF THE CROSS" IS SUBJECT OF FAREWELL SERMON

Rev. W. C. Wauchope Ends Charge as Pastor of Second Presbyterian Church to Go to Whiteville.

"When a group of navigators sailed in Straights of Magellan and into the broad expanse of water to the west of them, they gave the name Pacific to the ocean, for, said they, this water has peace under the sign of the Southern Cross. In like manner, there is peace for the Christian under the Cross of Christ. No matter where we seek, there is no other place where that perfect peace may be found. All have sinned against the eternal God and dare not meet Him and there is only one chance to get right and that is beneath the cross.

"Friends, has the cross drawn you? Has that magnet pulled you from your worldly ways? Has Jesus come into your life? If so then there is rest—peace."

In these words, Rev. W. C. Wauchope concluded his last Sunday morning service at the Second Presbyterian Church yesterday morning on "The Magnetism of the Cross." Mr. Wauchope has recently resigned his charge here and goes this week to Whiteville, where he has accepted a pastorate.

Before the service Mr. Wauchope was presented by his members with a handsomely fitted leather bag and a number of socks and Mrs. Wauchope was given a beautiful beaded bag and a set of silver ice-tea spoons. The following verses were attached to the presents:

"Somebody cares! what a world of woe Lifts from our hearts when we really know
That somebody really and truly cares. And we want you to know and we feel that you do That somebody always is caring for you."

and—
"There are friends whose worth is more than gold,
And you are such to us
In our heart of hearts a place you hold Hallowed with love untold."

In the introduction, Mr. Wauchope said that he would not preach a farewell sermon. His aim, he said, has always been to preach Jesus and Him crucified and that he had always tried to put Bill Wauchope as much out of the pulpit as possible. The text for the sermon was taken from St. John 12:32: "And if I be lifted up from the earth I will draw all men to me."

"These were strange words to fall from the founder of a religion. Empires and kingdoms have fallen when the founders died. The Jews could not understand the words of Jesus. They wanted a king to come with the glare of trumpets and the waving of banners and they could not see how their King should be born lowly and be crucified."

Jesus had the temptation, Mr. Wauchope said, of taking the easy way. All the people followed Him in hope of crowning Him and one of His disciples said: "Master, do not all men follow you?" He might have been crowned king and taken the easy path. The same temptation came in the wilderness but the presence of the Greek Gentiles encouraged Him. Whilst He might alienate His own people, still others would accept and today there are millions who follow Him and multitudes who bow at His name.

Why is it? questioned Mr. Wauchope. Let us think for a while about the magnetism of the cross.

"The cross is a powerful magnet. It has a tremendous pulling power. It draws men contrary to their natural inclinations." At this point Mr. Wauchope told of the powerful electro magnets he had seen in Canada and how they pulled heavy loads from part of the shop to another. The pull was much the same in the case of Christianity. The Cross had a pull which made men leave the path of their natural inclinations. It does no trouble for a person to get a following if he appealed to the natural desires of self-indulgence and love of ease.

"Jesus draws men contrary to their natural inclinations," stated Mr. Wauchope. "He draws them to a life of self-denial, of self-restraint. He calls us from a life of lust. The world calls us to pleasure. There are those who will not play cards, go to the theatre and dance because of their love for Jesus. These people are denying themselves lives of self-indulgence. They are among the multitudes who are working overtime for Jesus. They are in the army of workers with no thought of gain. The world calls to a love of money. There are followers of Christ who are denying themselves not only money but even the necessities."

For a brief period, Mr. Wauchope questioned his hearers directly, asking them how much pull the Cross had on them and how much they were denying and sacrificing. Then he described several reasons why it was that the Cross was so attractive. It set forth, he said, in a dramatic way a life of love. It demonstrated the fact that "No man has greater love than this, that he lay down his life for his friend." Jesus used this truth. Where Napoleon built his empire on force, Jesus built his on love. Then too, continued Mr. Wauchope, the Cross manifested the love of God. It shows that God has come down to meet us.

At one place in the service, the report from the treasurer of the building committee was heard. This report gave in detail the account of the money spent in the recent construction of the but which the church put up for recreational purposes. A sum of almost $5,000 was spent in the building. Among the principal contributors to the building were the Citizens Bank and Trust Co., which gave to the church $2,000, and C. A. Cannon, who also gave $2,000.

Mr. Wauchope, who is concluding his pastorate at the Second Presbyterian Church, has been pastor for almost seven years. During this time, he has not only been very popular with his own congregation but also with the church-people throughout Concord. Members of the congregation expressed themselves as being very sorry that Mr. and Mrs. Wauchope had seen fit to leave Concord.

Dr. Howard to Discuss Vital Question. Dr. George Howard, who will make the county commencement address here on April 25th, will discuss in his address the organization of schools on a larger basis. Dr. Howard is an ex-superintendent of county schools and for several years has devoted much time to a study of rural school organization. At present he is director of the division of the work in the state department of education and he will give a close and rational discussion of various phases pertaining to the organization of rural schools in his Concord address.

The order of the county commencement will be reversed this year. It is announced, so the address will come in the afternoon and so that people of the rural districts interested in the topic, may hear Dr. Howard by taking off only Saturday afternoon. It is hoped that school patrons throughout the county will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Dr. Howard on this vital question.

Teachers Examination in April. Prof. J. B. Robertson, county superintendent of schools, announces that the next examination for teachers will be held in the court house here on April 14th and 15th. This will be the only examination for teachers during the year. Heretofore the law provided for three examinations during the year, one in April, another in July and another in October, but the recent legislature changed the law so that the one in April is the only one of the year.

The change, no doubt, was dictated by the fact that most teachers now are obtaining certificates on school credits.

MOB MUTILATES JOE NEEDLEMAN

Crowd Breaks Into Jail and Takes Accused Man Mile Into Country.

Williamston, March 29.—Joseph A. Needleman, young traveling salesman for a tobacco company, held in the Martin county jail for an alleged attack on a seventeen-year-old girl, was taken from the jail this morning at 3 o'clock and carried a mile to nearby woods where a serious operation was performed on him.

Needleman was arrested Friday and placed in jail pending a preliminary hearing Saturday. However, owing to the nervous condition of the alleged victim, the hearing was postponed to Monday. The charge against the salesman is said to have grown out of an automobile ride he took with the girl and the attack to have occurred at the point of a gun.

In Martin county the sheriff is the jailer and no regular county employes sleep in the jail. But some of the details of the attack on the jail were obtained from people in the vicinity and from two colored men and one colored woman who also were occupants of the prison.

According to these details eight automobiles drove up to the jail about 2 o'clock this morning. It was said that not all of the men were from Martin county. To get to Needleman it was necessary to go through two doors in addition to the cell door. The attackers were equipped for this work as they contrived to break open all three of the strong Yale locks. They had appliances for cutting the steel parts of the fastenings.

Needleman was not so badly injured but that he was able to walk back to Williamston. It is said that he entered smilingly into the office of Dr. H. B. York and asked to have his wounds dressed. Dr. York was assisted by Dr. James T. Rhodes and Dr. W. E. Warren, of Williamston, and Dr. D. T. Taylor, of Warrenton. Needleman had suffered considerably from loss of blood and from the cold of the early morning and swooned away for a brief period on entering the doctor's office. Otherwise he showed remarkable control.

After his wounds had been dressed Needleman was taken to the hospital at Washington. A message from there tonight stated that his condition was very satisfactory. It is not known how long it will be before he will be able to come here for his preliminary hearing.

The crime with which Needleman is charged is alleged to have been committed against Miss Effie Griffin, of Griffin township, this county. The feeling here is that there is no doubt of the guilt of the man and one report was that he had botched of the deed. He is about 20 years of age. He has been in the neighborhood only about two weeks.

THE LURE OF SOUTHERN BEAUTY

Tired, overtaxed pores become weak in functioning, and then we wonder why they become large. Some accept this condition as natural "to her skin," but those of us who really care find a way to refine the pores. Every skin requires an astringent to render it pliant and firm. Keep your skin immaculately clean, free it of black-heads and other excess pore secretions and refine the texture by having "Electric facials" once a week.
