KANNAPOLIS CAR FOUND NEAR CEMETERY HERE

Owner Did Not Know Car Had Been Stolen Until Asked If It Belonged to Him—Other Stolen Goods Found.

The finding of a Chevrolet touring car near the Oakwood Cemetery here Friday afternoon, led local police officers to the recovery of some goods stolen from a barber shop at Kannapolis several nights ago.

The car was discovered near the cemetery sometime Friday afternoon and when no one claimed it for several hours, local officers were notified. From a Fix-all Garage tire cover and a Kannapolis Y. M. C. A. paper found in the car the officers learned that the car was the property of Mr. Price, of Kannapolis, and that it had been stolen Thursday night. Mr. Price did not know of the theft until advised by the officers as he did not open his garage Friday.

When he came for the car Mr. Price told local officers that everything was in place except a pair of overalls which he kept in the car. Later, the officers state, they were advised that some stolen goods had been seen near the old furniture factory. An investigation there proved the reports correct and most of the stolen goods were packed in the overalls taken from Mr. Price's car.

The legs of the overalls were tied together and the goods rammed down in the legs. Cigarettes, cigars, tobacco, handkerchiefs and razors were found in the overalls and the goods were later identified as the property of a Kannapolis barber shop which was robbed several nights ago.

Police officers have no clue as to who committed the robbery or the theft of the car, it was reported here today.

'Y' BUILDING HERE GATHERING PLACE

Tennis and swimming are both popular sports in the summer. The Y courts are in constant use and the pool always filled. Over 500 persons were taught to swim last year. For two years, the Y wrestling teams have met the other wrestling teams in the state in meets which have attracted a great deal of attention. The majority of the meets were with college teams and, while not uniformly successful, the results were gratifying to the trainers. Plans are underway for a baseball league for the summer.

Among the list of the miscellaneous activities, two of the most striking are the Bible Story Contest and Pet and Hobby Show. In the former, representatives from every church in the city held preliminaries and the best from each of the four groups was selected to contest in the finals. The first two groups consisted of children under twelve years of age, silver and gold medals being awarded to the winners. A trip to Washington was awarded the winners in the third group, ages twelve to sixteen and in the fourth group, sixteen to nineteen, a trip to Europe was the prize.

The pet and hobby show, put on by the children of the city, was one of the most diverting of the entertainments at the association. In this, hundreds of animals were brought to the gymnasium which had been temporarily made over into a menagerie. Cages, borrowed from the fair association, were filled with cats, dogs, goats, bird and other pets. In the Y lobby the hobbies were placed on exhibition in glass cases. Handicraft of all sorts showed that the boys and girls of Concord are not idle. Letters in regard to the pet and hobby show have been received from all parts of the country, asking about the details. A character letter, this one from the Desert Gymnasium at Salt Lake City, is quoted in part:

"We note that you hold an annual Pet and Hobby Show. We anticipate holding such a show in Salt Lake City and would appreciate any material you could furnish us with reference to it, particularly would we appreciate knowing how you organized this show, the kind of exhibits, how prizes were awarded and any and all details that you have."

Another of the miscellaneous activities is the mother and daughter pow-wow, a get-together for the women of the city. The last one staged was a most elaborate affair, the idea carried out being that of a European trip, each table representing a country. A father and son banquet was also held at which the men of the city and county heard several out-of-town speakers.

Two business classes are conducted under the auspices of the Y. Miss Effie Butler and A. P. Underhill have shorthand and business methods classes and a number of the young men and young women of the city have availed themselves of the opportunity of taking these courses at a minimum cost.

Y movies are shown weekly to 2,300 people in Concord and in the county free of charge. In addition to the regular program at the gymnasium, pictures are shown at the country homes at the Second Presbyterian Church hut, at Harriehurst, Wineoff and Rocky River.

The most unusual thing about the Y in Concord is that there are no fees for membership. Any child can get an admittance card upon application. The Y is run on popular subscription which is taken yearly. The next campaign to secure funds to run the association during the next year will begin on next Tuesday and continue through Thursday. The amount to be raised is $10,000.

Total received $62.50

Fifty-nine dollars of this amount has been sent to National headquarters in Washington, D. C.

In acknowledging receipt of a part of this money—the first check sent—Mr. John Barton Payne said: "Reports indicate that the needs are very great, but that the Red Cross emergency relief measures have been adequate. The work of rebuilding necessitates a program of vast proportions. It will be thoroughly done if the contributions continue for some time to maintain their present daily average. For a task of this proportion the Red Cross needs and can utilize every dollar raised. Please express our thanks to all who contributed to the Relief Fund through your Chapter."

It is wonderful the way people throughout our great country have responded to this urgent call from the Red Cross. The latest report from headquarters, the one that arrived yesterday is to the effect that $1,600,000.00 has been raised for this special work. More than three hundred voluntary workers are in the field, besides two hundred doctors and nurses, and the work is under the most competent supervision. A committee from the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Chicago visited the storm stricken area and made a careful observation of the work being done by the Red Cross. This committee returned to Chicago and made its report. The result was that Chicago has given more than any other city in the nation.

Mr. L. D. Coltrane, of the Concord National Bank is treasurer of this relief fund. Please send checks to him, and all money will be sent promptly to National headquarters in Washington. We hope that the good people of our city will respond more largely to this worthy call. It certainly does not look good for a city of 12,000 population to stop with $62.50 for a thing like this. This is the fourth appeal that has been made through this paper for this fund. Please act quickly, for the need is tremendous, as Mr. Payne has stated. Every dollar will help. Who will be the next to send a check to Mr. Coltrane?

HEAD OF RUTHERFORD COLLEGE ASKS FOR 'TEMPORARY RELIEF'

President Hinshaw Accused of Having Unbecomingly Relations With Girl. Hickory, April 17.—Rev. M. T. Hinshaw, for fifteen years president of Rutherford College, a denominational school twelve miles west of here, today asked the board of trustees of that institution for "temporary relief" following an exposure of an alleged intimacy with a college girl who worked in the president's office, it became known this afternoon. The girl's name is being withheld.

College students led by Edward Conrad, of Spencer, are said to have suspected the existence of unbecomingly relations between Hinshaw and the girl for some time, but nothing definite could be learned, according to statements from the boys today. A crack was found in the ceiling over the president's office, said young Conrad, and he took pictures of the preacher and girl from that position. Conrad stated today that the pictures are now in the vault of the Fidelity Bank and Trust Company at Spencer. These negatives are said to show Hinshaw in a compromising position with the girl in his office.

Two newspaper men today examined a set of positives of the pictures and also the crack in the ceiling over the office of the president of Rutherford College. After the pictures were obtained, it is alleged, Rev. Mr. Hinshaw received a letter on February 14th signed "K. K. K." in which was enclosed a set of the photographs and warning unless $5,000 were placed in a certain spot near the school building he would be exposed. Mr. Hinshaw stated today that he had the letter in a bank vault and intended to use it as blackmail evidence against Conrad if the matter were pressed far enough. Conrad said today that Hinshaw was welcomed to take any action he desired. There are a dozen boys implicated in the matter, said Mr. Hinshaw.

Three members of the board of trustees told the newspaper men today that they believed Mr. Hinshaw would resign as president of the college. The board will meet tomorrow at Rutherford College, it was said today, and it was the prediction here that Hinshaw would not even present an argument before that body.

There has, however, been no charge of immorality. Young Conrad stated today that he had on several occasions heard Hinshaw make such proposals to the young lady but he will bring no charges that immoral conduct followed. Conrad returned today to his home in Spencer and told newspaper men that he would probably remain there until Monday.

Rev. Mr. Hinshaw, in a public statement prepared for the press today, classed his predicament as the result of "unwarranted accusations" and declared that his conduct toward the girl was of a "fatherly nature." He declared that there was no sinister or ulterior purpose behind the alleged advances, but admitted that he was in the habit of playing with the girl.

Conrad is about 19 years old and is the son of Tom Conrad, an engineer on the Southern railroad.

Mr. Hinshaw's signed statement follows:

"In view of some floating rumors it becomes necessary for me to make a statement in my own behalf. There has been no contention of serious conduct growing out of some things that were not entirely understood by the public and some unguarded associations there started at first some little questions and misunderstandings which have taken the natural course of gossip. I state emphatically, once for all, there were no sinister or ulterior purposes in anything that may have been observed in what others have interpreted irregular conduct. Back of this is a conscience void of offense and a record of more than thirty years of clean, honest living and work."

matter," he declared.

"Every club seems to have strengthened its weak points," continued President Bramham. "Every club has a manager of experience who is also a first class player and field general.

"The schedule is ideal," he said, "and the circuit is so compact that any club in the circuit can leave its home city in the morning after breakfast and reach the next city in which it is scheduled in time to play the same afternoon. All the cities are connected by hard surfaced roads, not only with each other but with other nearby towns.

Short Cuts to Sweater Chic

THE bright, fragrant days of spring bring to every feminine heart a craving to be off with the old and on with the new. Particularly is this true of her habits of sport.

Early in the season Palm Beach proclaimed that midday's every day-time need might be met by a knitted costume, and the soundness of the degree has won every smart woman's favor.

It was to be expected, then, that the new sweater presentations would outshine in every way the sweaters of the past season. This year they are so colorful—so original of concept—so in keeping with the daytime mode that makes a study of elimination!

The versatile woman may wear a pleated skirt of crepe de chine, or—newer still—a jersey skirt with the new "kick" pleat, in combination with any one of a dozen different sweaters—and be always assured that she is chicly costumed from the top of her sleek shingled head to the toe of her simple pump.

Take, for instance, the new little daringly novel touch in a smart knitted jabot swaying gracefully from shoulder to lower border. With the mode of the jabot so firmly entrenched, it seems fair to surmise that this new sweater model will attain real popularity with women who require a touch of "difference" in their clothes selections.

Among the other sweaters which are acclaimed really smart, there are mannish slippers with snug turtle necks, Chanel slippers that make a point of buttoning to the bust line, and the trim slip-on with the youthful V neck that midday finds too becoming to relinquish.

All of these slim little sweater models are styled to give the highly effective straight line—and they are practical, not only for spring, but for summer wear as well. Some of the newest are exquisitely knitted from the finest imported yarns, successfully combining the charm of the old world's wool products with the skill of the American knitters of to-day.
