Terrific Storm Sweeps Roaring River Country.

Elkin, April 21.—The most terrific and destructive wind, rain and hail storm occurring in many years swept over a narrow strip of country in Wilkes county between Roaring river and Wilkesboro early Saturday evening. The torrential downpour, in the nature of a blizzard, buried vegetation into the ground, beat the foliage from trees and undermined the ground from the railroad track of the Southern for some distance west of Roaring River. The strip through which the storm along the Yadkin river wrought such havoc was only about one mile in width. Hail is reported to have fallen to a depth of 10 inches by actual measurement.
