Woman Held Prisoned on Coal Barge Five Years. Jersey City, N. J., April 28.—The sudden fate of an old feud between two barge captains related to police today told the story of a young woman, the daughter of one bargeowner and the wife of the other, said to have been held prisoner on her elderly husband's coal barge for five years.

During that time, the woman's father charged, his daughter never had set foot on land or been allowed to communicate with landsmen. Since first going onto the barge as a bride, he said, she had borne three children.

The charges were made after police separated William Warm, 64, and Arthur W. Banks, 60, fighting on the Warm barge. Banks had his son-in-law

PHAROAH'S MONEY SAVED FOR YEARS, STOLEN BY HIS SONS

Old Negro Had Hiding Place In The Floor Where He Had Hoarded Money in Two Buckets.

A parallel to the tale of Silas Marner, the weaver of Ravelo, has appeared in Superior Court here this week. The case was concerned with the theft of Pharaoh's money.

Pharaoh Patterson is an old negro who lives at Kannapolis. He was a thrifty soul and for years has hoarded his savings. Being a trifle leary of banks and the like, he kept his money in a secret hiding place under the floor of his home where he had a carefully concealed loose plank which he would slide out of place when he wished to see to his savings.

In some manner, Shirley discovered that his father, Pharaoh, had the money concealed. One day while both father and mother were away from home (having left the two boys to take care of the place), Shirley announced to Rob and a guest, George Phifer, that he had found a rat's nest.

Shirley then went to town and began the career of a spendthrift. Later in the day, he went riding with Marshall McCullough and in the course of the ride, Marshall remarked that he needed some money and Shirley immediately offered to let him have some as a loan.

Pharaoh, on finding his money gone, questioned the boys but both disclaimed any knowledge of the stolen treasure. Later he had them arrested and brought to trial.

Jack Hamilton and Johnie Maness were sentenced to 6 months on the county roads on a charge of house breaking and larceny.

Lennie Taylor, on a housebreaking charge, was sentenced to the state prison for a term of not less than 3 years and not exceeding 5 years.

Luke Hodges was given a 5 months sentence on the county roads for carrying a concealed weapon. Jake Pettel for assault was fined $75 and costs and J. B. Carrington, on a false pretense charge, was fined $35 and costs.

Moose Howie, who killed John Howie, was sentenced to the State Training School for negro boys. Moose was only 13 years of age according to testimony brought up in the trial.

German President's Term Is 7 Years. The term of office of the President of Germany is seven years, and he may be re-elected.

All Germans more than thirty-five years old, including women, are eligible to the office.

Universal suffrage prevailed in the Presidential election, men or women citizens twenty years old or over being eligible to vote. The ballot was secret.

Sunday was the first time in the more than 1,000 years of Germany's history that a Chief Executive was elected by popular vote. The late President Ebert was selected by the National Constituent Assembly in Weimar.

March 29, failed to give a majority to any candidate, necessitating yesterday's balloting.

The election was held on a Sunday because the German Constitution requires that all general elections must be held either on Sunday or on a legal holiday.

More than 60 per cent of the German population, or around 38,000,000, was eligible to vote.

TUESDAY IS JUDGMENT DAY FOR LOCAL LAW-BREAKERS

Judge Shaw Passes Sentences In Number Of Cases—Highway Robbers Got 5 to 10 Years.

Tuesday was Judgment Day for a number of local law-breakers. They received their sentence which had held over from the past week.

Judge T. J. Shaw who has been conducting the present term of the Superior Court came to the very few decisions during the past week. At the conclusion of the cases being tried, he almost invariably refrained from passing any sentence and held one whole bunch over until this week when the Criminal Docket was continued on Monday and Tuesday.

Of prime importance from the standpoint of local interest was the case of Homer Furr and Willie Heglar who were charged with highway robbery. The two youths were found guilty last week by the jury but Judge Shaw waited till Tuesday to determine what their fate was to be.

In a belief preface to passing sentences on these two boys, Judge Shaw in a very earnest tone delivered a lecture to them, declaring that when a man sows the seed, he may expect to reap the whirlwind.

Said the Judge in part: "There is a law in the physical world which is recognized by every one. When a farmer plants his wheat, and his other grains, he expects to reap them. The same thing is true in the moral world. You boys have been sowing your 'wild oats' and you may expect to reap like you have sown."

"When a farmer plants one grain of wheat, he does not expect to reap less than thirty or forty grains in return. If a man sows the wind, he can expect to reap the whirlwind. That is what you boys have done. You have sown to the wind, now you are reaping the whirlwind. It is a sad case, boys."

T. D. Maness, attorney for the two boys, gave notice of appeal and 60 days was allowed by the court in which to draw up the case. The bond was placed at $5,000 each but neither of the boys has yet raised the required amount.

Judge Shaw continued to make it hard for the transgressor who drove his automobile under the influence of liquor. F. B. Robinson in a charge of this kind was fined $200 and costs. In a similar charge, Whit Smith and Harry Horton were ordered confined to the county jail for 6 months, were to pay the costs in the case, were required not to use intoxicating liquors and not to drive a car for a period of 2 years. The road sentence, however, was not to take effect unless so ordered by a judge within the next two years.

Jack Hamilton and Johnie Maness were sentenced to 6 months on the county roads on a charge of house breaking and larceny.

Lennie Taylor, on a housebreaking charge, was sentenced to the state prison for a term of not less than 3 years and not exceeding 5 years.
