GOLF MATCH AT COUNTY CLUB HERE THURSDAY

Winston-Salem and Salisbury Teams Expected to Play in Third Match of Tournament.

Colt teams from the Salisbury County Club and the Winston-Salem County Club are expected here tomorrow afternoon for the third match in the tournament being held by the three clubs, and during the afternoon play will be on the course of the Cabarrus County Club.

The first match in the tournament was held in Salisbury and the second match in Winston-Salem. On both occasions Salisbury won first place and Concord second place. Local golfers feel that they have an excellent chance to take first place in the match here tomorrow.

The Lexington Country Club was invited to send a team to the tournament but so far has failed to do so. It is not known whether the team from that city will be here tomorrow.

I. J. Davis, Jr., J. Leslie Bell and Walter L. Furr, who represented the local club at the Salisbury and Winston-Salem matches will play tomorrow, the fourth man to be selected later. The same teams are expected from Salisbury and Winston-Salem that have played in the other matches.

At the conclusion of the matches here tomorrow several ladies of the club are expected to serve refreshments.

All members of the club are invited to witness the matches and to meet the visitors.

In addition to the three matches between the club members there will be a match between the professionals of the three clubs. This match is expected to create much interest and attract a large gallery.

Play will begin at 2 o'clock, with the professionals teeing off last.

WINECOFF RESIDENTS ARE STIRRED TO ACTION NOW

Threat That High School May Be Abolished Brings Them in Meeting Monday Night.

A meeting of the Winecoff Community Club will be held on Monday night at 8 p. m. to discuss the matter of co-operating with the Board of Education in regard to securing a better High School in that community.

Special music will be given by local talent and a number of speakers have been secured for the occasion. The reason for the agitation in regard to raising the standard of the school at this time is that it has recently been learned by school authorities that unless the school is improved, it is probable that all grades above the seventh will be eliminated altogether.

Winecoff School has been one of the leading high schools in the county for years and it is felt by persons in the community that if it were abolished, it would do a great deal of harm to that particular section of the county. Residents there state that they would prefer to maintain their own school than they would to send students to Kannapolis or Concord.

Father and Son Play on Salisbury Team

Raleigh News and Observer.

Salisbury Colonials who come to Raleigh today for a two-game series with the local Capitals of the Piedmont league team bring with them a team which is probably the only class B team in organized baseball containing a father and a son in its line-up. The father is Pat O'Rourke, manager, and the son is Joe O'Rourke. Both play in the infield and during the past several games have been pounding the cover off the pill.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

WAR WILL BE DECLARED LATE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Three Hundred Boys of Concord Will Stage Miniature Battle Outside of the City.

Three hundred or more boys are looking forward to Friday night as an event in their lives.

J. W. Denny, physical director of the Y, is putting on at that time a real battle which is to begin late Friday evening and which will continue on through Saturday morning.

A place will be selected near Concord as a suitable site for the activities of the warriors and opposing encampments will be thrown up on opposing hillsides.

During the night only a limited amount of warfare will be allowed. A certain number of scouts and patrolling parties will be permitted to leave their respective camps and venture forth into "no-man's land." These parties will indulge in skirmishes and endeavor to lodge in skirmishes and endeavor to lodge.

With the break of day, however, all will be changed. The main encounter of the day is to be staged at 6 o'clock and it is not probable that any great amount of sleep will be had in either of the hostile encampments after four. The crack of dawn will see each a beehive of activity in preparation of the crucial contest.

The scoring to decide on the victorious side will be by means of points. The capture of a private will count a limited number of points. A corporal will be more and the capture of a general will number well into the hundreds of points.

FILL BEYOND HARTSELL MILL BEING WIDENED

Highway Will Be Made Wide Enough to Accommodate Pedestrians on Sidewalks.

State and County Highway forces are now jointly engaged in widening the fill just beyond the Hartsell Mill on the Charlotte road with a view to making a sidewalk for pedestrians in that part of the city.

The fill has long been a dangerous one from the fact that a number of workers in the Hartsell Mill live in the group of houses which are on the Charlotte side of the fill and it is necessary for them to traverse the fill in going to and from work.

A number of accidents have resulted from this fact since the automobile traffic is very heavy, the Concord-Charlotte road being one of the most traveled highways in the state.

The fill will be made sufficiently wide so as to give space for the sidewalk in excess of the 30 feet contained in the highway.

Big Cast in "Lincoln" Film.

The cast of characters for "Abraham Lincoln," the First National picture at the Star Theatre, which will be shown today and tomorrow for the benefit of the Ellen Pemberton Sunday school class, was not completed until the last week of the big photodrama's production, when the character of Allan Pinkerton, President Lincoln's chief of secret service, was added to the long list.

The casting of this picture was different from any ever filmed for the reason that the characters represented so many different periods of American history and that only three have long-sustained roles. Lincoln, Mary Todd Lincoln and Anne Rutledge, played respectively by George A. Billings, Nell Craig and Ruth Clifford, carried the burden of the action, the character of Lincoln alone running through the entire length of the picture, and from the age of twenty-one to his assassination the role is played by Mr. Billings.

But the bits are all important, each one absolutely essential to the whole, for they are all historical characters.

PIPE ORGAN COMPLETED IN NEW CONCORD THEATRE

William Klassesette Here to Take Charge of the Music in New Movie House.

Theatre goes in Concord are delighted now that the pipe organ has been installed in the newly completed Concord Theatre, giving to movie fans something which they have missed heretofore.

Although the theatre was completed last week and was run during that time, the organ was not ready to be played and during the first week only the piano attachment to the organ was used—this being used as an accompaniment to the orchestras which were secured for the opening dates.

There were so many attachments to be soldered together and so many connections which had to be joined that the workmen putting it up were unable to complete it on time. However, practically all the work has been finished and the organ is now being used.

To play the organ, a Europe-Jones organ built by the Wurlitzer people, the management has secured William Klassesette, of Atlanta and Charlotte, to take over the music.

Mr. Klassesette, who is only about 20 years of age, seems to be quiet and diffident. He did not relish the idea of talking about himself but later told something of how he came to take up pipe organ. He was rather fascinated by the organ when he was working in South Carolina and learned enough to play hymns and easy pieces. He then came to Charlotte, where he took up the work of an organist in earnest. He studied from organists in both the Imperial Theatre and the Alhambra.

He said that he liked Concord and was going to stay here if he could keep the job. Mr. Jack Meriwether, manager of the theatre, in this connection declared that he was very pleased with Klassesette's work. He added that Klassesette was the youngest organist in any North Carolina theatre.

Both Mr. Meriwether and Mr. Klassesette were enthusiastic over the organ. It had, they stated, one of the best tones they had heard anywhere. Some of the stops were particularly good.

The organ is a $10,000 affair and is not surpassed, they declare, by any in the state although there are several larger.

Vaudeville Next Week at New Concord Theatre.

The manager of the Concord Theatre announces that he has booked the Campbell Sisters, a high class Keith vaudeville act, to play at this theatre commencing next Monday for the entire week.

The Campbell Sisters need no recommendation to the lovers of clean high class vaudeville and Manager Meriwether says that this act is the same that played all the big Keith theatres throughout the country. They come to Concord with the highest praise from critics everywhere.

The act consists of singing, and musical numbers combined with a snappy line of comedy all through.

The Campbell Sisters will appear at one matinee and two night shows.
