NEW CONCORD THEATRE IS LEASED BY WARNER BROS.

Motion Picture Company Also Purchases Charlotte Theatre and Leases Playhouse in Lexington.

Announcement was made from New York City yesterday of the completion of a deal by which Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc. secured a lease on the New Concord Theatre, the New York Company taking over the lease formerly held by the late H. B. Varner. The deal also secures for the New York company possession of the Broadway Theatre in Charlotte and a lease on the Lexington Theatre in Lexington.

It is learned on good authority here that in granting the lease on the theatre building to Warner Brothers the owner, J. A. Cannon, asked that Miller Merriwether, present manager, be retained. This was agreed to by the company taking over the theatre, it is also learned.

In addition to the theatres in this city, Charlotte and Lexington Warner Brothers through the deal secure the lease on the Lincoln Theatre in Winston-Salem, and it is reported that the company also got the lease for the Broadway Theatre in Columbia, S. C.

The purchase of the Broadway and the securing of the leases on the other theatres is taken as an indication that Warner Brothers has determined to challenge the supremacy of the Famous Players-Lasky in the South, and particularly in North Carolina.

The Broadway Theatre is valued at several hundred thousand dollars, the Lincoln Theatre is valued at $100,000, the Lexington Theatre at $250,000 and the Concord Theatre at $75,000.

When shown dispatches from New York telling of the deal made by Warner Brothers for the lease of the local theatre, Mr. Merriwether declined to make comment on the deal. Mr. Cannon, who owns the theatre, is out of the city. Mr. Merriwether said, however, he expects to remain here as manager of the theatre.

Miss Grace Cook and Miss Mable Goldston gave six prizes to their group taking setting up exercises at Central Grammar School May 28th. The ones winning the prizes were: Isabelle Fletcher, Johasie Thompson, Catherine McClellan, Lucille Benfield, Virginia Edison and Searle Barrier.

FINALS FOR TWO SCHOOLS AT MT. PLEASANT HELD

of the program was the literary address by Dr. William H. Frazer, president of Queen's College, who spoke on Monday afternoon. His negro dialect stories were perfect examples of this art.

In the contest for the debater's medal, held Tuesday morning, the award to the best individual speech was made to P. B. Stogner. The subject of the debate was: Resolved, that war is inconsistent with Christianity. Other debaters were G. R. Scott, R. H. Taylor, H. T. LaSalle, W. N. Young and Wyatt McSwain. The negative side of the question was given the decision in the matter of argument.

F. W. Morrison, of Greensboro, spoke at the Alumni Meeting of the Collegiate Institute Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. His subject was the taxation of wealth for education. In the evening, the music department of Mont Amoena in conjunction with the glee club of the institute, gave the Annual Concert.

The contest for the military medal and for the loving cup was held Tuesday afternoon. Company B winning the cup and J. D. Sutcliff taking the medal for the best drilled man. In charge of the Company winning this distinction of being adjudged the best drilled was R. Brown McAllister, Capt.; R. B. Bennett, 1st Lt., and W. T. Mock, 2nd Lt.

and that the arteries have been dilated by the blood stream and have then contracted to squeeze it further along the same number of times. This change in the arteries is one of the causes of the high blood pressure natural to old age, and the further degeneration resulting in spots of softening in the arterial walls gives rise to apoplexy and aneurysm.

Another common affliction, especially in men, is irritability and weakness of the bladder. The kidneys also suffer, and Bright's disease is common, though more properly it belongs to the decade between fifty and sixty. Cancer is more frequently seen in the decades between fifty and seventy and becomes rare in very old age. The treatment differs little from that in earlier life, except that the frail body requires more gentle handling and smaller doses of medicine.

Some Plain Talk

Rock Hill Herald.

In his address to the Methodist Church Thursday night Rev. Floyd Rogers, of Charlotte, stated in no uncertain terms his opinion of men who would throw the cloak of the church about their shoulders and then deliberately patronize bootlegging channels. The preacher said he knew some of his own congregation that indulged in such actions.

But Charlotte is not alone in this category. Rock Hill must be classed in this undesirable position. Very likely every church in Rock Hill is affected. It may be that the pastors are not as well acquainted with their members as Mr. Rogers is with his but the facts are there nevertheless.

Old men naturally resent the implication that they are entering into second childhood; yet, medically speaking, the characterization is often apt.

Like children, the aged are especially susceptible to cold, and among the most dangerous of their diseases are those of the respiratory passages. Broncho-pneumonia, or capillary bronchitis, is the enemy of the child and of his grandparent alike. Pneumonia indeed is one of the most frequent causes of death in the aged, and it has to be looked for and guarded against whenever an aged person is down with some other illness or meets with a serious accident of any kind such as a broken leg. Again, the child's digestive organs are easily upset by improper food, and the old man's too. The old man finds that articles of diet that he formerly ate with impunity causes a looseness of the bowels that may seriously tax his strength.

The aged are not wont to suffer with acute rheumatism, but their aches and pains are numerous and by no means imaginary. Neuralgia is not uncommon in advanced life, but is seldom so acute as in middle life; it is not one of the diseases peculiar to old age. Diseases of the heart and of the arteries are very common. Indeed, some stiffening or hardening of the arteries is to be expected and is at the bottom of a good many of the troubles of old age. That the heart and the arteries should show signs of wear is not to be wondered at when we remember that the heart of a man of seventy has pumped blood into his arteries at least 2,555,000,000 times.

Beware of Fake Bull Weevil Remedies.

Bruce Mabey, in The Progressive Farmer.

However, when the weevils begin to get active on young cotton this spring, we may expect that many things of doubtful value will be offered for sale. I want to remind cotton growers and business men of North Carolina that the United States Department of Agriculture and the extension workers recommend only calcium arsenate applied in the dust form with approved machines and according to the well known directions. It will be wise to consult with the county agent when some doubtful remedy is offered for sale.

What an African diver thought was the ghost of an ancient warrior off the coast of Tunis, is believed to be the bronze prow-figure of a galley containing treasure, sunk presumably some 2,000 years ago.

ROTARY MEETING

Traveling Bag Presented to Dr. S. W. Rankin.—Shop Talk by L. D. Coltrane.

At their regular meeting at the Y. Wednesday members of the Concord Rotary Club heard a fine shop talk by L. D. Coltrane, presented a traveling bag to Dr. S. W. Rankin and discussed several business matters that were presented to them.

The shop talk had to deal with the manner in which a telephone company is operated, and the speaker also pointed out some of the difficulties a telephone company has to face.

The meeting yesterday was the last one Dr. Rankin will attend as he plans to leave soon for New York, where he will spend some time. The bag was presented on behalf of the club by F. C. Niblock and Dr. Rankin responded in a very happy manner to the presentation speech. Dr. Rankin is one of the charter members of the club and served as president of the club last year.

Such popularity must be deserved

AMONG the many factors contributing to Mr. Belasco's success is his knack of anticipating changes in popular taste. And this knack is just as important in other fields. For example, Chesterfield was first made in anticipation of a change in cigarette taste. The change came... how completely Chesterfield met the new demand is proved today by its unprecedented and sustained popularity.
