

THE CHAUTAUQUA HERE BEGAN TODAY IN TENT NEAR CENTRAL SCHOOL

Jugo-Slav Tamburica Orchestra, Opened This Afternoon and Will Appear Again This Evening.

LECTURE TONIGHT BY DR. HILTON JONES

Intensive Campaign Today Resulted in Many Tickets Being Sold.—Sale of Season Tickets Ends Today.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Concord's Redpath Chautauqua season began in the big tent on Central Grammar School grounds.

Despite the lethargy which was so characteristic of the early days of season tickets to the Chautauqua the Women's Club members are confident today that the quota allotted for pre-performance sale would be disposed by tonight.

The lecture this evening, according to advance dope, is well worth the price. Dr. Jones being a chemist of note and bringing a message which is not only entertaining but also very instructive.

The Jugo-Slav Tamburica Orchestra is a unique musical organization, in which the tamburica has a premier place.

H. L. Rockwood, platform manager, who arrived in Concord Wednesday, declared this morning that in his opinion the lecture this evening will be well worth the price of the ticket.

FRED J. KRACKE IS SUED FOR BIG SUM

Suit Against Him Is Said to Be Sequel to Robbery of Jewels From Mrs. Irene Schoelkopf in 1923.

New York, June 4.—The Evening World says today that a sequel to the robbery of $285,000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Irene Schoelkopf of Buffalo, January 1, 1923, when she was lured to a New Year's party in the New York hotel has come to light with the service of papers here on Frederick J. Kracke, an appraiser of the port of New York.

Clarence E. Dill is named as co-defendant with Kracke in the suit, which was filed in the Supreme Court of Erie County. The plaintiff alleges he paid the defendant $25,000 on his representation that Mrs. Schoelkopf was said to have been implicated in the robbery by a confession which the defendant alleged to have been made by Frank Carman, and that publicity of the case against Carman would do her harm.

Which The Paper Has Arranged to Present at the Concord Theatre Here Next Week.

NAMES RECEIVED UNTIL SATURDAY Fill Out the Application Blank Printed in Every Issue and Send in Your Photograph.

Already applications and photographs are pouring into The Tribune Movie Editor from some of the hundreds of beautiful girls that Concord is graced with, for the opportunity to play the title role in the two reel comedy drama entitled "Concord's Hero," which The Daily Tribune has arranged to have filmed in Concord next week.

At a great expense The Tribune has arranged for a motion picture unit, direct from the land of the silver screen, Hollywood, to come to Concord and produce a picture and at the same time show the people of this city just how a "movie" is made.

J. Cunningham, of the Interstate Film Producers of Hollywood, Cal., arrived in the city today and is completing arrangements for the filming of the comedy, which will be personally directed by Don O. Newland, Assistant Director of the city looking for "localities" to be used in the picture was enthusiastic over the scenic possibilities in and around Concord.

"Great," he declared, "Concord has scenic beauty that equals the far famed beauty of California. We have the equipment, Concord has the desired locations for our 'exterior' scenes, you give us the film folk, and we will turn out a two-reeler that Concord will be proud of."

"Concord's Hero" will be a modern and up to date comedy in every respect, being produced along the same lines as the well known Mack Sennett comedies through the direction of which Mr. Newland has made a reputation for himself.

In a few days, Director Ben O. Newland, who will have charge of the filming of The Tribune's comedy-drama, "Concord's Hero," will arrive in the city accompanied by electrical and studio crews with a battery of studio lights that exceed 250,000 candle power of light, and all the necessary "props" that a producing unit carries, and the work of filming the two-reeler will begin.

To the movie fans of Concord that have never had an opportunity to journey to that magic land of the silver screen this will indeed be the chance of a lifetime, for Director Newland will set up a pocket edition of a Hollywood Studio, and every person who so desires will have the opportunity of seeing the making of every "interior" and "exterior" scene that goes to make up "Concord's Hero."

Girls get busy, fill out the application that appears in this issue of the paper, and mail, send, or bring to The Tribune Movie Editor at once. Now is your opportunity to fulfill that desire, that every girl has hidden deep down in her heart, to be able to some day see herself starring in the movies.

The Tribune will keep open house for the names and photographs of all who desire to apply for the leading role until Saturday, so don't delay, send in your application and photograph at once.

SIMPLE RITES SAID OVER THE REMAINS OF T. R. MARSHALL

Humble As He Was In Life So Was Former Vice President In Death.—Funeral Held This Morning.

SIMPLE SERVICE ASKED BY WIDOW

Scottish Rite Masons Had Charge of Services and Only Closest Friends and Relatives Attended.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 4 (By the Associated Press).—Humble as he was in life, so was Thomas R. Marshall today in death.

The Scottish Rite Masons, of which Mr. Marshall was an honored member, will conduct funeral ceremonies which will be attended only by members of the order, immediate relatives and members of the Marshall family.

The funeral will be held in the receiving vault and held until Mrs. Marshall determines upon its final resting place.

No pomp nor pageantry will mark the obsequies, Mrs. Marshall having expressed the wish that the passing be attended by the simplicity so characteristic of her husband.

Laid to Rest.

Indianapolis, June 4.—Thomas Riley Marshall was laid to rest here today. Such simple obsequies as might be tendered by his family were accorded the man who served the nation as vice president during the World War, and who had served his native state of Indiana as its twenty-seventh governor.

A tribute was paid by Rev. Matthew Smith, Mr. Marshall's warm friend and pastor, Scottish Rite services for a departed brother were read, and they the body was taken to Crown Hill cemetery, where it will remain in a receiving vault until Mrs. Marshall decides upon its final resting place.

Rev. Mr. Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, which was the worshiping place of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, spoke of Mr. Marshall as a Christian and of his kindness.

Important to Ex-Soldiers.

Charlotte, June 4.—J. S. Pittman, manager of the Regional Office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau here announces the receipt of a telegram from General Frank T. Hines, Director of the Bureau, Washington, D. C., calling attention to the fact that, in order to effect reinstatement under Section 304 of the World War Veterans' Act, remittance and necessary proof must be made on or before June 7, in all cases where insurance has lapsed two years or more.

Mr. Pittman states that this refers specifically to ex-service persons who may be suffering with service connected disability. The existing laws make it possible for any ex-service man in normal health, subject, of course, to evidence of insurability satisfactory to the Government, to reinstate all or any portion of his original war risk insurance, provided action is taken prior to July 2, 1926.

All persons interested, especially those affected by Section 304 of the Act, should communicate immediately with the nearest U. S. Veterans' Bureau office for particulars.

LITTLE PROSPECT IS SEEN FOR MODERATE WEATHER THIS WEEK

Weather Man Predicts High Temperatures Will Continue For the Next 48 Hours, At Least.

HEAT CAUSED MANY DEATHS

Practically All of the Country Is Feeling Effects of the Heat Wave at the Same Time.

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Ill., June 4.—Little hope for cooler weather was held out today by the weather bureau to a nation sweltering in many places from the greatest heat in many years.

Continuance of high temperatures prevailed from the Rockies to the Atlantic Ocean for several days was forecast by weather observers for at least 48 hours longer at many points. The Middle Atlantic States where the heat has been the most intense the last day or two and the Southern States in particular were due to have a heat wave with them as more or less unrelenting.

Another Death in New York.

New York, June 4.—One dead and six prostrations were the toll of the heat wave for the first few hours this morning as New York sweltered through its fourth consecutive day of stifling weather.

Beginning at sunrise the temperature mounted steadily while a hazelike humidity blanketed the city. At 11 a. m. the thermometer stood at 84.

JUNE FIRST COTTON REPORT.

Condition of the Cotton Crop in North Carolina is 74 Per Cent.

Raleigh, June 4.—First report on cotton prospects for this season was made public today by the United States Department of Agriculture. The report shows that on May 25th, the condition of cotton was higher than on that date in any year since 1918, the average condition of cotton in the United States being reported at 76.6 percent although the ten year average for the same date has been only 72 percent. The prospect are poorer than usual only in Texas, North Carolina and Virginia. Practically everywhere else the crop has secured a good start on well-prepared soil.

The fields are mostly clean and are in an unusually good state of cultivation and growers are inclined to be optimistic. The doubtful features of the situation are the large number of boll weevils reported as appearing in the southeastern states and the lack of subsoil moisture in much of Texas. These factors, unless helped by favorable weather, may materially change the outlook later in the season.

North Carolina Crop.

The condition of cotton in North Carolina June 1st was 74 percent of normal as compared with 71 percent at this time last year and a ten year average condition on June 1st of 76 percent. Only three states in the cotton belt showed a lower average than North Carolina. Those were Virginia 72, South Carolina 72, and Texas 70 percent.

The most favorable spring preparation and planting season that the state has perhaps ever experienced. Farmers were ready to plant, but feared that it might be too early for later growth of crops. While the rainfall has been insufficient throughout most of the cotton counties, the temperature also has been too low for the development of the cotton plant growth.

Later weather which accounts in a large measure for the small size of plants and irregular stands as much as the unfavorable May weather. Much replanting has occurred.

Late plantings will undoubtedly result in poor yields, but there is not nearly as much replanting as was done last year. It is well known that a cool May, such as we have had, results in a good development of the root system, while the tops seem to stand still. This stunting effect tends to early fruitfulness which is an advantage under boll weevil conditions. However, it is really too early to tell much about the outcome of the crop.

The average date of planting cotton in North Carolina this year was about April 27th, which was about the same as last year. Cotton was up to a poor stand about May 20th, but owing to the poor growth of plants, farmers have been afraid to chop it out to a stand, consequently only about 12 percent of the crop has been chopped to date. Little chopping will be done until warmer weather insures favorable growth of the remaining plants.

According to the growers' reports, 90 percent of the cotton acreage was fertilized this year with an average application per acre of 450 pounds. The average value per ton of the fertilizer used was about $30.50.
