THE BERLIN PAPERS DENOUNCE ALLIED DISARMAMENT NOTE

All Except Communist Organ.—Says Time Required to Draft Note Shows Its Weak Foundation.

GERMANY MUST OBEY THE PACT

Say the Allied Nations.—Sweeping Demands for Disarmament Are Made in the Allied Note.

Berlin, June 6.—All Berlin newspapers except the Rote Fahne, communist organ, denounced the demands of the allied disarmament note. They agree in declaring that the length of time required to draft the note shows "upon what weak foundations it rests."

Paris Papers Say Little. Paris, June 6. (By the Associated Press).—Although printing a considerable amount of German comment on the allied disarmament note, the Paris morning papers have as yet little comment to make themselves.

The note is generally described as drafted in most conciliatory terms, and as allowing the German government to hasten the evacuation of the Cologne zone "if only it is prepared to show good will."

German President Comments. Berlin, June 6. (By the Associated Press).—President Schacht, of the Reichsbank, commenting upon the allied disarmament note today said: "Our nerves have just about reached the cracking point, and unless allied and associated powers listen to reason, and abandon the policy of political hocking, the German boiler may blow up."

Germany's failure to carry out the disarmament requirements of the Versailles treaty, were outlined in detail in the note the allied powers have presented to the German government.

Germany must comply with an extensive list of rectifications and demands before the disarmament obligations of the peace treaty are considered fulfilled, justifying commencement of evacuation with the first, or Cologne, zone of occupation in accordance with the Versailles pact and the withdrawal of the allied control commission.

The chief of these sweeping demands includes radical modification of the Reichswahr's general staff, reduction of the country's military forces to 100,000 men and suppression of short term enlistments. The military character of the security police must be abolished and the force itself reduced from 180,000 to 150,000.

Wholesale destruction of industrial plants of the Krupp and a dozen other big concerns, which in their present state are held responsible for the production of war material is demanded.

After referring to previous communications and the report of the control commission which established Germany's short comings, the note states the allied governments "consider it of capital importance to place in the foreground of their argument that the defaults unless promptly rectified would in the aggregate enable the German government eventually to reconstitute an army modelled on the principles of a nation in arms.

"This would be directly counter to the treaty of peace," continues the note, "under which German army was to be used exclusively for the maintenance of internal order and for the control of the German frontier. It is this circumstance which, while it demonstrates the importance of each individual default so serious a menace to peace."

"It should be clearly realized that the breaches of the treaty thus specified constitute the most serious, but not the only evidence of Germany's non-fulfillment of this essential portion of the peace treaty."

After referring to the accompanying memoranda, of defaults and requirements, the note says: "The allied governments are convinced it merely requires good will on the part of the German government to see that the rectification of the defaults are carried out in a relatively short period. In fact, it now rests with the German government itself to create conditions under which evacuation can speedily be effected."

Name of Cast For "Concord's Hero" to Be Announced Next Monday

Mr. Newland will arrive in the city today and will be followed tomorrow by the rest of his crew including the cameraman, Howard Prager. Monday morning will indeed be a busy one on the stage of the Concord Theatre changing it into a miniature of a Hollywood studio.

Often movie fans have seen speeding autos crash—the smoke—then the "survivors" in the croup and have naturally wondered how it was done. Well, on Wednesday afternoon they will have the chance to see that, for Mr. Newland will "shoot" the wreck scene on the corner of one of the downtown streets. There will be thrills aplenty at this time and some surprises, too.

Mr. Cunningham stated today that in addition to the abundance of beautiful girls in Concord he has found that there are many beautiful locations, just as attractive as the scenery in California and both combined will make The Tribune's "Concord Hero" above the average in two-reel comedies.

As the plot and the story is to be somewhat of a surprise, the editor is pledged to keep the secret for a few days at least, but he assures the fans of Concord that it will be highly interesting and original and all can be assured that they will be interested every minute.

INTER-CITY KIWANIS MEETING HERE LAST NIGHT GREAT SUCCESS

About 100 Kiwanians From Salisbury, Statesville and Lexington, Swoop Down On Concord.

EVENT OF GREAT ENJOYMENT

Good Fellowship and Good Comradeship Prevail.—One of Best Meetings Ever Held of Its Kind.

Good fellowship and good comradeship, accentuated by a general feeling of good humor and joviality, marked the first Inter-City meeting of Kiwanis ever held in Concord Friday night at the Y Gymnasium.

Kiwanians, one hundred strong, descended on the local club from Salisbury, Statesville and Lexington, bringing with them that over-abundance of pep and enthusiasm which is so characteristic of members of this organization.

The meeting was generally credited, after the close of the evening's program, as being one of the best of its kind ever held.

Special efforts had been made to make the gymnasium attractive for the occasion. Tracy Spencer and Brevard Harris taking over this part of the work, ably assisted by a number of the wives of Kiwanis members.

The program was opened with an invocation by Kiwanian Ralph Gibson and was followed by an address of welcome by Mayor Clarence Barrier, of Concord.

The Lexington Quartet, so advertised previous to the program, grew to a quintet Friday night and was heartily enjoyed by all.

Owing to the fact that Dr. J. R. McGregor, of Lexington, was unable to be present, Don Walser, president of the club, made an enthusiastic talk on helping the under-privileged children, a work which has been sponsored by Kiwanis International for the past several years.

The speaker declared his belief that when an inventory is made of a man's life, the amount of money he has made during this life will not be considered, but only the things that he has done to help humanity. The helping of these little ones who do not have opportunities that rightfully belong to them, he declared, is one of the biggest and best things that any organization can go into.

Zeb V. Long, solicitor for this judicial district, was the speaker for Statesville. He was in his usual fine form, and delighted his hearers with his eloquence, and the theme of his talk, which was the spirit that is being manifested in this day and time by such great organizations as Kiwanis, Rotary and the other civic clubs that are growing each day.

This is the time, he declared, which must have been in the vision of Kipling, when he wrote his L'Envoi:

"And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame. But each for the joy of working, and each, in his separate sphere, shall draw the Thing as he sees it, for the God of Things as They Are."

Toward the close of the meeting Z. V. Long, of Statesville, was presented with a "water service" consisting of a gallon jug, a half gallon jug, a pint flask, a tumbler and a fannel. He accepted the prize in a very pretty speech.

A feature of the stunt program was the reading of the message from Coal Glen by Will Foll, who took J. W. Cunningham's place in appealing for funds for the sufferers. A complete broadcasting set had been set up in the Y building and an receiving set was placed
