"ONE YEAR TO LIVE" WITH BIG CAST SOON

Alleen Pringle, Moreno, Dorothy Mack- all in Film of Paris Gay Life. "One Year to Live," M. C. Levee's First National production which will open at the Concord theater Monday is a story dealing with a girl who is told that she has only one year to live and proceeds to live it as recklessly as she knows how. The expected thing would be that the essential and most poignant parts of that one year are left to the imagination.

No such thing in "One Year to Live." Director Cummings has retained every portion of the John Hunter story which newspaper reporters would refer to as "stark realism."

Alleen Pringle, as Elise Duchanier, is shown debating with herself whether she shall die without having her high and fast living life. When she finally decides what she does decide, the camera trails her.

When Antonio Moreno, in the role of Tom Kendrick, refuses to accept the love of Lolette, a celebrated Parisian dancer played by Rosemary Theby, it is shown why. The fact that she loves Brunel, interpreted by Joseph Kilgour, is conveyed delicately of course, but without mincing of words.

Let him who wants pure and unadulterated description and coherence in his entertainment look to "One Year to Live" as a brilliant example. In it is embodied frankness of expression.

Second Day Chautauqua Program Interesting. Friday's Chautauqua program proved delightful to the large number of persons who attended the show in the tent on Central Grammar school grounds. The Faubel entertainers were well received in their novelty numbers in the afternoon and Laurant and company was a source of most amusement last night.

The feature of today's program is the play, "Give and Take," tonight which is described as an "uproarious comedy" in which are intermingled "fun, laughter and romance." The cast is said to be unusually good, insuring an excellent entertainment.

Monday's program is as follows: Afternoon: Grand Concert—Chicago Lyric Singers. Night: Concert—Chicago Lyric Singers. Lecture: "Pathways to Power"—William Rainey Bennett.

Judge Landis Will Be in Charlotte June 22nd. Durham, June 5.—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, will be the guest of the Virginia league at Norfolk, Va., June 20. President W. G. Branham, of the league, announced here today. Mr. Landis will visit Greensboro as the guest of the Piedmont league June 22. Charlotte of the South Atlantic association, on June 22, and Columbia, of the same league on June 24. Mr. Branham added.

TODAY'S BASEBALL CONTEST WITH PINEVILLE
The Gibson Ginghamites Meeting Pineville's Strong Team Today.
Gibson's Ginghamites, local sluggers de luxe, have primed themselves for today's contest with Pineville. It is well that they have done so, too, since the visitors are rated among the best of independent teams in this section. That their rating is not wrong is proved by the fact that they have not lost a single game this season and they have played some of the strongest in this neck of the woods.

Perhaps the most interesting item from a local standpoint is the fact that Simmons, for several years one of Wake Forest's star twirlers and a mainstay in the lineup, has been secured to hurl for the home nine. Unless there is a hitch, which looks quite unlikely, the former Demon Deacon should hold the Pineville batters at bay.

Homer Fink, so named on account of the large number of homers he knocks, is confident that the left field fence will see several of his balls travel over it for circuit swats. Homer's batting average was somewhat lowered last Saturday because of the fact that he only made one home run. He says that he will make up for past discrepancies today.

Another former Wake Forest star, Ellis, who played second base last week, will be in the lineup. He will take a new place as shortstop. Bassinger, Homer Fink's rival in the batting realm, will play his usual game at third base. Other members of the team are: Wood, first base; Andrew, second base; Haney, catcher; McLean, left field; Smith, center field and McInnis, who won the game last week when he poled one over the ballings, doing the work as pinch hitter.

The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

ALLISON BUILDING IS SOLD FRIDAY AFTERNOON
H. W. Calloway and Associates Are the Purchasers—Plans Made for Remodeling.
Announcement was made today of the sale of the Allison building at the corner of Corbin and Union streets, the deal taking place Friday afternoon between H. W. Calloway and associates and the two present owners. The reported price for the lot and building is around $50,000.

Connected with Mr. Calloway in the purchase of the property were Dr. J. A. Patterson, Ernest Hicks and J. B. Linker. Plans are now being made for repairing the building and for making it more attractive to renters. The work can not be commenced, however, before the first of July.

It was stated that even before the transfer was completed, negotiations were begun with the prospective owners for renting the room formerly occupied by the express company. Pender's, a chain grocery company, is understood as having made the bid for the vacant space. The property, owned by John P. Allison and Mrs. Paul Mallard, of Texas, is one of the oldest in the city, having been built in 1858 and then being rebuilt in 1904. It is considered as having one of the best locations in Concord.

The Gift of a Building.
Charlotte Observer.
The Cannon Mills, at Kannapolis, like all textile plants in this part of the South, has been quite well equipped with churches and schools and young men's and young women's institutions, but it has found that circumstances justify newer and better things, so it is to stage a formal opening of a new Young Men's Christian Association building on the 10th of the present month. It is to be known as the Cannon Memorial, and formal presentation to the association will be made by Hon. David H. Blair, in behalf of the donors. It is a very handsome building and in architecture and appointments is the equal of the best in many of the larger cities. Gifts of this character are common with the North Carolina mill people and attest the general liberality in providing for the welfare of the workers.

Post and Flag's Cotton Letter.
New York, June 5.—Although under some pressure from realizing and from selling by speculative operators feeling for the top of the advance the market has given a very good account of itself on the whole, though hardly as yet possessing the degree of resistance necessary to withstand without yielding any sudden aggressive selling that develops at times as for example during the last few minutes of trading yesterday.

Both the spot situation and the technical position leave little to be desired from the standpoint of strength and it will be a good many weeks yet before shorts can hope for any material assistance from selling against the crop while on the other hand the scanty stocks of goods imply a continuous if only gradual growth demand, against which mills hold inadequate supplies unless those are to be used up to the last bale.

Cotton from the next crop will not move in any volume before October and a much more general and drastic curtailment will have to be adopted if mills are to get through to them without slipping into an uncomfortable not to say dangerous condition as to supply. In actual trade circles it is held that the process of discounting a superabundant crop has been carried to extreme length and that nothing short of a miracle will serve to pull the chests out of the fire. Advances from this level are chiefly contingent on how far the covering movement goes but if the present position is to be reversed prices will go at least temporarily far above anything the actual trade can afford to pay.

Bradstreet's Trade Review.
New York, June 5.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:
High summer temperatures have variously affected crops, trade and industry. In the west, these have been accompanied by rains, beneficial to crops, especially corn, and a stimulation to buying of light summer goods has followed. In the central and lower Mississippi Valley and southern Texas, however, where rain was needed, the high temperatures alone have dulled trade and prevented best crop development. In the country at large, high temperatures have tended to slow down industry and temporarily retard buying. Taken as a whole the arrival of reasonable weather has probably helped more than anything else in the final distribution and all in trade with jobbers. Wash dress fabrics certainly seemed to have definitely helped. Weekly bank clearings $9,406,570.000.

"Give and Take," Sparkling Comedy, a Chautauqua Feature

"Give and Take," uproarious comedy success by Aaron Hoffman, which recently had an immensely popular New York run, will be one of the big features of the coming Redpath Chautauqua. The story of the play centers around a wealthy California fruit grower, who has spent thirty years of his life in developing a business for his son, who, when given the reins, attempts to run the business on the "industrial democracy" plan. Most amusing and unusual situations, together with a delightful love story, characterize this irresistible play, which will be presented by a cast of New York actors.
