Tagging Trims Graduating Gown

Tagging may be old-fashioned, but it is pretty and effective, nevertheless. It is used to trim this graduating frock of delicate apple green canton crepe. Inverted box pleats at the waist line give skirt fullness.

In China it is the rule of good society that widows do not remarry. They are not forbidden to do so but are thought more highly of if they don't. In Iceland the native's dinner usually consists of dried fish and butter.

INFANT ABANDONED AT BATHING PAVILION

Daintily Dressed Two-Months-Old Girl Found in Pastebord Box.

Greensboro, June 8.—A baby girl, about two months old, daintily dressed, was found on the steps of the pavilion at Thomas swimming pool on the outskirts of the city this morning, its cries attracting the keeper of the grounds. It was in a pastebord box, with two bottles of milk and a fine wardrobe. A woman's handkerchief was in the box and a half dollar. The child was taken to the North Carolina Children's Home here and it was so good looking that two women offered to adopt it four hours after it was found.

Another One at Winston-Salem.

Winston-Salem, June 8.—A baby girl, about one week old, was left on the door step at the home of C. S. Richardson last night at a late hour by unidentified parties. Mr. Richardson was awakened by the sound of an automobile being hurriedly cranked in front of his home and upon going to the door he found the baby wrapped in a bundle of blankets on the door step.

When Mr. Richardson opened the front door the car was just going out of sight and he could not identify it. The little girl was wearing a thin gown, and wrapped in two blankets. A home will be found for the little one.

HOME DEMONSTRATION COLUMN

Conducted By MISS MATTIE LEE COOLEY

Two Messages For You From Mrs. McKimmon.

The hot days are coming and every one will be longing for a vacation. Why not take it profitably and delightfully by attending one or both of the pleasurable events planned by Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, state agent in charge of home demonstration work for North Carolina?

Rural Mothers to Attend College. Splendid short course and club encampments have been arranged for club boys and girls in North Carolina by the agricultural extension specialists of State College. But now the mother is to be recognized and will have a short course strictly of her own. It will be held at the college in Raleigh during the summer school and will last from June 15th to 20th. The school will be under the direction of Mrs. McKimmon. She invites every adult home demonstration club member to attend. Nor is the invitation limited to club members alone, as this course is planned for all the rural women of North Carolina.

Mrs. McKimmon says that the short course will cover in advanced way many of the things now being taught by home agents. Instruction will be given in foods and nutrition, in clothing, and in interior decoration of the home, poultry and gardening, with extra lectures on wise buying and the clothing budget. The college has turned over to the women its newest, newest dormitory, where every one can be made comfortable and renew her girlhood days with friends and acquaintances from other parts of the state. "No woman can take more than two courses," Mrs. McKimmon says, "and I am asking those who plan to come to decide which course or courses they desire to take and to write me at once so that schedules may be arranged."

Come to the Farm Convention in July.

The State Convention of North Carolina farmers and farm women will be held at Raleigh at the State College, July 28, 29 and 30.

The central theme of the convention will be the more profitable utilization of our agricultural resources. Speakers of national importance will be brought there to lead in the discussions.

Secretary of Agriculture, William M. Jardine, and Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, have been invited to address the convention. Joint meetings of both men and women will be held on Tuesday morning, Tuesday night, Wednesday morning, Wednesday night, and Thursday morning. The three afternoons will be devoted to group or sectional meetings. The college officials are arranging for a number of demonstrations, for a trip about the city of Raleigh, and for an entertainment program during leisure hours.

Meals will be served in the college dining hall for 25 cents each and lodging will be free as usual. Those taking advantage of this offer, however, must bring the necessary toilet articles and blankets.

DOUBLE PARKING CAUSES ACCIDENT THIS MORNING

Wade Biggers Ran Over Six-Year-Old Victor Allison—The Child Was Not Seriously Injured. An accident which narrowly escaped being serious and possibly fatal occurred this morning shortly before 11 o'clock in front of the Times-Tribune office when Wade E. Biggers, an employee of the Ideal Lunch Room, ran over little Victor Allison, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Allison, of Spring Street.

The child was not seriously injured, hospital authorities declaring that apparently there was no fracture of the knee which was badly skinned and bruised. He also had a small bruise on his head. At noon he had been removed from the hospital where he was treated immediately after the accident, to his home and it was stated at the house that "he was getting along all right."

Directly responsible for the accident, according to spectators and according to Biggers, was the pernicious habit which has grown in recent months of parking double on the entire length of Union Street in the business district. It is not uncommon at the present time, persons said in discussing the accident, for three cars to be parked abreast, leaving passageway for only one or a tight squeeze for two. At the time Biggers struck the child, an ice cream truck was double parked on one side of the street at Cline's Drug Store and another truck was double parked in front of the Bell and Harris Undertaking Parlor. One child ran across the street while Biggers was still some distance away and he slowed his speed. Just as he was directly in front of the Times-Tribune office, a second child darted out behind the truck and despite the fact that Biggers cut sharply to the left, he hit it with his right wheel.

Biggers was of the opinion that he did not run over the child. He stated that he thought that when he hit Victor, he was knocked to one side, avoiding a serious accident. The car was stopped almost directly after Victor was struck.

MURDERER LOEB SHOWS SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT

Physicians Have Not Yet Passed Finally On Sanity. Joliet, Ill., June 8.—Quiet for the last 24 hours and apparently somewhat improved, Richard Loeb, life prisoner here with Nathan Leopold, was still under the close observation of physicians today as a result of his mental breakdown last week.

Physicians have not yet passed final judgment on Loeb's sanity, but it is probable that his breakdown is similar to that of many other prisoners placed in sudden confinement. Judge Webb Scores Shooting Prisoners. Charlotte, June 8.—Judge James L. Webb made a vigorous attack today in Superior court on officers shooting fugitives suspected of violating the law. His remarks proved a sensation at the courthouse, where Loeb's discussion recently was aroused by the shooting to death of Stephen S. Holt, Smithfield attorney by police detective Wyatt, of Raleigh.

Judge Webb deplored the practice of officers shooting at fleeing prisoners, or suspected persons.

J. Albert Cassey, Baltimore, will be made supreme dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose at its convention in Baltimore the week of June 21. He has been a theater usher, a city fireman, a printer and is now wealthy and a supervisor of public charity in his home city.

CRIME IN LOUISIANA PUZZLES AUTHORITIES

Professor of State University is Found Murdered But No Clue to Assailant Found. Baton Rouge, La., June 8.—With every clue apparently exhausted, the authorities investigating the killing here yesterday with an axe of Oscar B. Turner, instructor at Louisiana State university, today admittedly were considering the possibility that the crime may remain unsolved.

Continuation of the coroner's inquest which had been in session most of today was fruitless. Eight students, among them two Chinese, were summoned and took the stand but their testimony failed to disclose any new facts concerning the case. Robbery, a possible case of jealousy, and old enemy and a student either inflamed with hatred against the dead instructor or caught rifling a desk from which examination papers were missing were the only motives police had to go on and all led to nothing. One student is under suspicion, officers said tonight, but beyond that they refuse to talk. It is known, however, that members of the student body openly have discussed the suspicion which is directed against this man.

By a strange twist of chance the killing was committed in a building rich with the legend of the old university. The agronomy building, in which Mr. Turner was found dying, was built in 1835 as a government arsenal and bears the popular reputation of being "haunted." With a drizzling rain falling today and massive oaks dripping with moisture, flanking it on all sides, the old structure seemed a fitting stage for a crime as brutal as the slaying committed there yesterday.

ACCEPT LOVE LETTER AS MARRIAGE PROOF

This Method Taken to Legitimate Child of Abandoned Girl. Edinburgh, June 8.—In one of the most unusual cases which has come before the Scottish courts in years, a love letter has been accepted as a marriage certificate by a judge in order to give the young mother the name of her fiancé, who has vanished and to legitimate the child.

The girl, Margaret M. Morrison, 20, declares that her fiancé, William Evans, 22, had promised to marry her before he started for America "to earn his fortune." But he didn't return and his letters ceased.

The chance preservation of a love letter led Lord Ashmore, the judge, to state that it showed the defendant had promised marriage and that he would issue a decree of declaration of marriage.

In nearly every large town in Persia there is, at least one newspaper which is owned and run entirely by women.

Pythian Grand Lodge to Convene Tonight.

Winston-Salem, June 8.—The business houses are gaily decorated and everything is in readiness for the royal entertainment of the two hundred or more members of the North Carolina Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, which will hold a three-day session here commencing Tuesday evening, when a general reception will be held. A parade Wednesday morning and a Dekie ceremonial Thursday will be among the outstanding features of the program arranged for the annual gathering.
