

Canton Captured By The Attacking Forces

Forces Under Bolshevik Officers Take City and Inflict Casualties on Soldiers and Civilians.

2,000 TROOPS ARE LANDED AT ONCE

They Cut Off River Facilities of Defending Troops.—No Consideration Shown by the Victors.

Canton, June 13 (By the Associated Press).—The attacking Kwangtung and Cantonese forces under bolshevik officers, after a fierce attack on the defending Yunnanese forces today forced them to surrender Canton and imposed extreme cruelties on the soldiers and civilian population as well.

The attacking forces landed 2,000 soldiers at Tungshan and from that point they attacked, leaving defending forces without river transport facilities, and therefore unable to launch counter attack.

After landing the Kwangtung troops gave the defending forces no consideration, although the defending troops had voluntarily given up their arms. The soldiers then began looting the city. This was not confined to army forces, but extended to home of non-combatant citizens. Revolting scenes followed in all parts of the city, many of which were witnessed by Europeans from the foreign quarters. Innocent persons were stoned and beaten by mobs.

Now she is being held as a check forger. She was neatly dressed, in man's clothing, with her hair cut short, when arrested.

"It saves me from being annoyed by other men," she explained. "And I find I could make two or three times as much money dressed as a man."

SHEPHERD IS LOSER ON POINT AT TRIAL

Fails to Have Stricken From Records Testimony Presented at Trial Friday.

Chicago, June 13.—Defense of Wm. D. Shepherd, on trial for the murder of Wm. N. McClintock, his foster son, lost another hard fought battle today.

W. E. Stewart, chief of defense counsel, sought to have erased from the record the testimony yesterday of Estol Gelling, Shepherd's "sunshine girl" and a quotation from a letter he had written to the admitting financial insolvency and an intention to "close my office here and drift away from it all."

Judge T. J. Lynch agreed with Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, that while the letter was highly prejudicial against Shepherd, it was pertinent in that it confessed in his own handwriting that he was bankrupt and his outlook was hopeless one month before McClintock died and left him an estate of more than a million.

It was agreed that only a portion of the letter which identified it as a "love letter" should not be entered. Jerome Martillo of Indianapolis, testified that in Texas nearly 20 years ago he had heard Shepherd remark to his brother "never mind about Willie, he will come out of this with his pockets full."

The accused man at that time was building a summer home for Mrs. Emma McClintock, mother of "Billie."

Louis Sbarbaro, civil service employee, and uncle of John Sbarbaro, testified that nine or ten years ago Shepherd frequently visited his place and he displayed an interest in learning the part of an oyster that contained poison.

High Spots in Senator Underwood's Tax Speech.

"If I had the power to write the tax law, I would go back to the tax of 1916 where the highest bracket of the surtax was 13 per cent."

"The question before us is whether this nation is stronger with a great store of accumulated wealth or without it."

"The power to tax is just as potent a factor to use in the destruction of private property as the red flag or the lighted torch."

"We have levied our taxes so high that we have chased much of the capital of the country into hiding and have thereby reduced our revenue."

"Under the law of 1916 (2 per cent. normal tax and 13 per cent. surtax) nearly 30 per cent. of the revenue was derived from incomes of over $100,000 and in 1921 (8 per cent. normal and 50 per cent. maximum surtax) only four and one-half per cent. came from that source."
