The Two-Piece Knit Suit Tops the Heights of Chic

As summer sets in and quelling feet convey the idle stroller up and down "The Avenue," who is truly feminine keeps one eye on passersby and (figuratively speaking) the other on the glassed-in wonders displayed by the shops that line America's most fashionable thoroughfare.

A pageant of chic on the sidewalks and in the gleaming motora—a tableau of style in the alluring windows—what a lesson for the guidance of the observant One-Who-Would-Be-Smart!

It becomes at once apparent that were one to make a composite picture of those who promenade, one would find the silhouette of the hour that of the slim two-piece suit, and the fabric that makes today's Fashion—a knitted texture, perhaps a fine, close sweater-stitch, a French spun jersey or a light and cool balbrigan.

So very smart is this knitted two-piece suit, with its youthful pullover that features plain buttoning at the neckline and its slim and simple skirt—it has become the dominant style for summertime wardrobes.

WOMAN HITS CAR IN FRONT SENDING IT INTO DITCH

Chevrolet of Miss Irene McConnell Damaged by Woman Who Flees After Accident

Miss Irene McConnell, in driving toward Charlotte this morning, had her Chevrolet car badly damaged when a woman giving her name as Jewett Burnelle bumped into the rear of the car, sending it flying off the road and into the nearby field and ditch.

Neither Miss McConnell nor Mrs. Sally Lafferty, Miss Cornelia Lafferty and Mrs. Bessie McConnell, passengers in the car at the time, were injured otherwise than receiving a severe fright. They were brought back to Concord after the accident by persons who stopped to view the wreck.

According to the story told by Mrs. McConnell, the four of them had started to Charlotte and were near the John L. Query farm when they came upon painters engaged in re-marking the white line in the middle of the road. The customary little flags had been placed on the road to prevent persons from driving over the line.

Soon after they started around the curve, the woman, Jewett Burnelle, drove behind them and started honking her horn for them to speed up, Mrs. McConnell said. They were on the right side of the road and did not care to go faster and so paid no attention to her repeated blowing. When the end of the painting was reached, Miss Burnelle attempted to pass them and as she did so the front bumper of her Jewett touring car sent the Chevrolet spinning off the roadside.

Two men who were approaching saw the accident and when they saw that Miss Burnelle had not stopped, they gave chase and caught her, forcing her to return around and go back to the scene of the accident. She declared that she did not know she had hit the Chevrolet.

After some moments of conversation, it was decided that she drive back to the road where she was to confer further with Miss McConnell as to the settlement for the damages. Getting in her car with a man who had driven up in the meantime, she started in the direction of Concord. She did not stop here, however, despite the fact that the injured party had her automobile number.

A call was immediately sent out from local police station, Salisbury to stop her if she should come there and an effort was made to trace her in any other nearby towns.

Post and Flag Cotton Letter

New York, June 18.—The market continues to show a very firm tone, though the opinion is expressed in some quarters that the market is perhaps discounting a little too hastily and fully a possible drop in June condition rather than a gain. Unless, however, there are good general rains in the southwest in the course of the next week or so the situation could result in such a drop in condition for that state as would mean a sharp reduction for the bulk as a whole. The worst of it is that this is the time for favorable reports and the period when damage may properly be expected is just arriving.

Sentiment appears to be undergoing a change though demand from speculative sources is still chiefly to cover shorts and very little for long account. The feeling is that the long interests are largely in the hands of the foreign trade who also have control of the major portion of the visible supply which they are not likely to relinquish readily and only in case of a very marked improvement in the nupply outlook which is a doubtful matter during the next 60 days when deterioration instead of improvement is usually the order of the day.

In a weather market well committed to the side price movements have about the same regularity as those of a weather. It looks, however, that events are so shaping themselves as to bring satisfactory results to those who had the courage to take a contract during the recent period of easy markets resulting from pressure of speculative short sales.

JOE STACK'S LIFE HANGS IN BALANCE

Negro Charged With Serious Crime in Salisbury Is Speechless and Takes Little Food

Speechless from the self-inflicted bullet wound in the right temple, Joe Stack, negro, charged with attempt to criminally assault a white woman at her home just east of the city last Saturday morning, continues to mark time as he lies on a cot in one of the inner corridors of the Mecklenburg county jail at Charlotte, where he was taken by Sheriff Krider and others Saturday night. His action being taken out of an abundance of precaution.

Sheriff Krider, County Health Officer Dr. C. W. Armstrong, Dr. R. J. Plyler and a representative of The Post, motored to Charlotte yesterday afternoon, the sheriff and doctors going down to get first hand information as to how the wounded negro was getting along. His condition shows little if any improvement.

According to prison attendants he has not spoken a word since he was placed in the Charlotte jail and has taken very little nourishment, only a little milk and sipping his first water yesterday afternoon. Every effort of the doctors to have him talk yesterday was fruitless. He lies stretched out on his cot apparently in a dazed condition and does not notice anything to any marked extent. It was the belief of the physicians, after nearly an hour with him, that he may possibly be conscious but that the bullet wound may have rendered him speechless. At the best he is in a bad way and news of his death at any time would occasion no surprise.

B. Y. P. U. Romance Culminates Happily

Salisbury, June 18.—Among the hundreds of boys and girls gathered here from all parts of the state for the B. Y. P. U. convention, no doubt many romances have had a beginning this week. But one at least had a happy culmination, Jesse Tarlton, of Union county, a member of this year's senior class at Wake Forest College and active in many of the activities of the college, and Miss Hattin Bost, Murfreesboro, foster-daughter of Rev. H. G. Bryant and a former Meredith girl, were married in Charlotte Wednesday afternoon. The young couple have been sweethearts for some time but there had been barriers in the way of their marriage. They were all re-moved yesterday when Mrs. Tarlton left a note in her room where she was stopping in Spencer to her father telling him that she had gone to Charlotte to be married. A telegram to Rev. Mr. Bryant later confirmed the romance.

Shipping Strike Spreads to Hong Kong
