LOCAL MENTION

During the month of May there were 132 births and 53 deaths in the county of Rowan.

Mrs. Jesse Johnson is confined to her home on East Depot street by illness. Her condition today is improved.

Ed Joyner, George Peck, Billy Caldwell and Harold Aycock are spending the summer at Davis Springs Hotel, Hiddenite. They are members of the hotel orchestra.

Mrs. Harry Swink was taken to the Concord Hospital Thursday afternoon and was operated on this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Her condition was declared as being favorable.

Belk's fourteenth birthday event was started this morning. The doors being opened at 8:30 o'clock. Large numbers of persons attended the sale which is to be continued for fourteen days.

George Peck and E. B. Joyner, who have been playing in the orchestra at Hiddenite, spent yesterday and part of today in Concord. Their engagement to play at Hiddenite extends during the entire summer season.

Instead of the usual Saturday night moving pictures at the Y this week, the program will be held tonight on the lawn of the Association building. In addition to the movies, the weekly current event contest will be held.

Children's Day will be observed at Howells Baptist Church Sunday, June 21st. The first service will begin at 10:30 and at 1 o'clock an address will be made by Dr. J. R. Pentuff, pastor of McGill Street Baptist Church.

Coal is about 25 cents cheaper per ton this year than it was last year, a local dealer stated Thursday. The news should be interesting to householders who are preparing for the snow and sleet of next winter now while the weather is so hot.

Thursday was one of the hottest days of the summer, everybody on the streets declared as they perspiring progressed from one place to another. Although the thermometer did not register above 92 in the shade, the humidity was so great that the day was unpleasantly warm.

Nine court cases were scheduled for trial this afternoon in recorder's court, according to Chief Talbirt. Listed among the offences were two cases of speeding, two for larceny, one for forcible trespass, two for assault with a deadly weapon, one for simple assault and one for operating a car without license.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Wauchope spent Thursday night in Concord at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gibson Sherrill and left this morning for their home in Whiteville. After the burial of their son, Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Wauchope visited for some time in Cornelius and then visited in Blowing Rock.

The license bureau at the Chamber of Commerce had yesterday the busiest day it has had since the beginning of the sale of 1925-1926 licenses. A total of 99 tags were disposed of with a total of fees paid in amounting to $1609. The prospects for the day as indicated by early sales this morning were that today would be one of the busiest yet.

Art Leutz, curator of the town time-piece, dropped in The Tribune office Thursday to bring the glad tidings that once again the clock in the court house tower was running correctly and was as one with every western Union clock in the city. For some days the divergence between the town clock and the other clocks in the city had been very great.

Contrary to the rather widespread opinion which has been formed here recently, the Y. M. C. A. pool and physical department will not be closed during the time the building is being repaired, it was stated this morning by J. W. Denny. His work, he said, would continue much as usual and the repairs on the pool would not be made until late in the fall.

R. R. Brafford, of Pikeville, was a visitor in the city Thursday afternoon, stopping over for a short while en route from his brother's home in Belmont. Mr. Brafford was formerly a resident of the Brown Mill section and is now living with his three boys, each of whom have a farm at Pikeville. His two other sons, he said, were living rather far from home, one residing in Canada and the other in Mexico.

Dr. S. W. Rankin, who has been in Washington since the first of the month where he is taking a course in the diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat at the Episcopal hospital, will return tonight to spend the week-end with his family here. Dr. Rankin's course will require eighteen months for completion and after it is finished, he expects to settle in the city with his brother, Dr. R. B. Rankin.

Local baseball fans are looking forward with much interest to the game Saturday afternoon here between the Gibson team and Dad Prim's outfit from Gastonia. (The same batteries will be used this time that were used in last Saturday's game. Simmons is to pitch for the locals and Donaldson will haul for the visitors. Both teams are primed to win and it looks like a good game is in store for spectators.)

Persons returning from Salisbury Thursday declared that Salisbury experienced one of the worst storms in its history during the early part of the afternoon. The rain was said to have poured in torrents for over an hour and a half, and the wind was so strong that numerous trees and electric and telephone poles were blown down. There were two storms, one directly after the other, with only a few moments intermission.

And that reminds me of a story. A new feature writer said the other day, "You don't look like a newspaper man." I didn't think she knew me well enough to talk that way except behind my back.

"You are not cynical," she added. Which made it worse. "Listen," I shouted, "I have been writing for the papers since the war."

So, just to show her, I sat down and in less than two hours listed what the newspapers have taught me:

1. The managing editor is always right, especially when you know he is wrong.
2. The composing room really is telling the truth when it says you can't get nine columns of stuff in one column space.
3. There are type lice.
4. If you spend your last twenty cents for cats, you will find a banquet assignment waiting when you get back to the office.
5. Very few advertisers will quit the paper even if you do chuck up your job.
6. A raise is more rare than all the days in June.
7. The boss throws nickels around as if they were dollars.
8. You could make twice as much money in some other business, but twice as much money wouldn't give you half as much fun.
9. The average reporter doesn't know very much more about newspapers than the city editor.
10. The average subscriber couldn't run the paper much better than it is being run.
11. Let's go fishing.

Black Snake Pulls Frock at Funeral.

Albemarle, June 18.—Last Thursday afternoon at a funeral in Fairview cemetery, a black snake about 3 1/2 feet long crawled from the hood of a touring car and tried to bite one of the men in the crowd near by. A shovel was secured and used as a defense and the snake was killed before the interment was made.

It is not known from whence the snake came, nor how long it had been in the hood of the car. It made its appearance about the time the occupants of the car had started to the grave. Had it happened a few minutes sooner some one might have been hurt in the stampede.

Sleeping Sickness Hits Young Woman at Catawba.

Catawba, June 18.—The condition of Miss Vernie Fox, who has been sleeping practically all of the time for the past 10 days, is reported to be slightly better. When awoke Miss Fox is cheerful and doesn't seem to be suffering but when she goes to sleep she can't be awakened.

DAMAGE IS DONE BY WIND AT SALISBURY

Houses Unroofed, Trees Twisted Off and Automobiles Damaged—Two Persons Injured.

Salisbury, June 15.—The last of three heavy showers of rain here this afternoon was accompanied by a strong wind which cut a path two blocks wide in the southern section of the city, unroofing houses, twisting off trees and damaging automobiles. The roof of the St. Paul's Church was crushed by a large tree.

John M. Thompson, of Lexington, was carried to the Salisbury Hospital with bruises sustained while in the car of Paul Webb, of Shelby, on North Main street this afternoon. No one else was hurt.

J. Wm. Sherrill had a hole knocked in his head and was otherwise painfully injured this afternoon when struck by a belt at the Klumac Mill where he was employed.

Capital punishment in North Carolina is mentioned in the Constitution, which names four offenses, including murder, burglary, arson and attacking a woman; adding: "And these only may be punishable with death, if the General Assembly shall so enact."
