

CAROLINA PEOPLE BY THE HUNDREDS NOW POURING IN PRAISE FOR KARNAK

From All Parts Of Carolinas Remarkable Results After Taking Sensational Medicine Are Being Reported Daily.

IT HAS BECOME TALK OF THE ENTIRE CITY

"I Wouldn't Exchange The Good This Karnak Has Done Me For The Highest Priced Automobile In Greensboro," Declares John W. Mitchell.

The praise heaped upon Karnak, the sensational medicine that has caused such intense interest in Concord since its introduction here a few weeks ago, grows greater and greater every day.

From all parts of town men and women are reporting the most remarkable results in restored health, strength and energy after taking the amazing medicine, and the demand at the Pearl Drug Company continues to grow by leaps and bounds. Karnak has become the talk of the entire city, and in every neighborhood will be found some one who has a remarkable story to tell about their experience.

Such statements as the following from John W. Mitchell, prominent resident of 624 Arlington St., Greensboro, N. C., who declares that he wouldn't take the prices of the best automobile in Greensboro today for the remarkable good Karnak has done him, is but typical of the high endorsement being accorded this medicine on every hand.

"I'll tell you, this Karnak is simply wonderful," says Mr. Mitchell. "Why, I wouldn't exchange the good this medicine has done me for the highest priced automobile in Greensboro today. There is nothing too good that can be said about Karnak."

"No, sir, I hadn't been able to do a day's work for more than a year before I got Karnak, but today I have put in a good day's painting about the house, which is something I couldn't even think of doing before I got this remarkable medicine. That's what three bottles of Karnak has done for me."

"For four or five years my stomach has been in mighty bad condition, and my health just got so bad that something more than a year ago I had to give up my work as a salesman and retire from business altogether.

"I just felt that I was down and out for good. Every particle of food I ate felt like lead in the pit of my stomach, and after meals I would feel so drowsy and bloated that I simply felt dead on my feet. I had a chronic bronchial cough, too, and only those who have suffered like I did know how wretched it really makes one feel.

"Well, sir, I hadn't been taking Karnak more than two days before I knew I had at last found the right medicine. It wasn't long before I was eating like a man should eat, and now I am digesting all my food perfectly and am entirely rid of that indigestion and heavy, depressing feeling after meals.

"That chronic bronchial cough has disappeared just about completely, my strength has increased by leaps and bounds, and at the rate I am going, why, in two more weeks I will have so much surplus energy that I will have to get back in active business again.

"It's amazing to me how anything could do what Karnak has done in my case. It's some medicine, and if anybody wants to know about it, just tell 'em to see me."

Karnak is sold in Concord exclusively by the Pearl Drug Co.; in Kannapolis by the F. L. Smith Drug Co.; and by the leading druggist in every town.

LEADED GASOLINE.

Youths Companion:
A few weeks ago there was an important conference of physicians, chemists and other men of science at Washington to determine whether or not "leaded" gasoline—which means gasoline containing tetraethyl lead—is so poisonous a compound as to endanger the public health.

Our readers will probably remember that the newspapers, several months ago, reported that some of the employees in one of the plants of the Standard Oil Company had died under distressing conditions as a result of exposure to lead fumes during experiments with a new form of gasoline. That was the tetraethyl, or, as it is called for short, the ethyl gasoline, a recent chemical discovery, which, its manufacturers assert, is so much cleaner and more efficient in combustion that it will entirely supersede ordinary gasoline as an engine fuel. Under the supervision of the New Jersey Board of Health certain changes were made in the methods of manufacturing the compound, and we have heard of no further fatalities; but the incident aroused so much legitimate apprehension that the government has undertaken to get the best scientific opinion concerning the possibility of making and using the new fuel safely.

The conference we speak of did not come to a positive conclusion. It found that learned and experienced chemists do not agree upon the subject. Accordingly it referred the controversy to the Surgeon General and an investigating commission to be by him appointed. No one disputes the facts in the case, which are that much of the lead in the gasoline comes out of the exhaust pipe as a fine impalpable dust, which, if breathed into the lungs in sufficient quantity, is capable of setting up lead-poisoning in the body. And any physician will tell you that lead-poisoning is a very serious matter, capable of affecting the health in many ways and sometimes of causing death.

The question is whether the lead dust would be produced in sufficient quantity and under such conditions as really to become a danger to the public health. Some chemists are sure that it would and that the use of ethyl gasoline ought to be forbidden by law. Others are equally sure that it would not, and that with proper precautions there would be no danger to the workmen who make ethyl gasoline or to the automobilists who use it. From the experiments that have been made and the discussions that are now going forward we hope that the investigators can arrive at a conclusion that will command public confidence, for the matter is of importance not only to the workman and the motorist but to everyone who must breathe the air into which the exhaust fumes of the new fuel will be discharged.

ADVERTISING THE SOUTH.

Chattanooga News:
Newspapers of the South are loyal to their homeland, one of the loveliest on earth. They have undertaken to "sell" it to the world. And that ought to be a grateful task. In their great southern publicity campaign in which the publisher's association is entering it will be possible to adhere strictly to the truth-in-advertising principle. To tell the world about the south involves a simple yet marvelous story.

So replete is the catalogue of the south's superior advantages that her own people, from sheer familiarity with them, are sometimes forgetful of them. Occasionally they manifest more enthusiasm for some freak of another community which possesses the novelty of being less well known. So magnificent a country as the south, however, cannot be hid permanently under a bushel. Instead it is becoming as a city on a hill. A systematic campaign of advertising the south in its process of being launched by the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association. In that enterprise the newspapers will be manifesting more enthusiasm for some freak of another community which possesses the novelty of being less well known. So magnificent a country as the south, however, cannot be hid permanently under a bushel. Instead it is becoming as a city on a hill.

As already hinted, advertising the advantages of the south requires no stretch of the imagination. They are many and easily discovered. Most of us are familiar with them when we stop to think about it. As basic sources of wealth, we have soil, climate, water power, rail and water transportation and thousands of miles of coast line; we produce cotton and nearly every other crop that grows, and we have coal, iron, copper, marble and timber.

The foregoing are only a few outstanding examples of what the south possesses in abundance. There is a bewildering variety of others of almost equal importance and abundance, which cannot even be mentioned here. And the south's development is only just fairly begun. Co-incident with the rapid installation of her water power, her industry is getting into its proper stride. Capital from other sections is pouring in to find ready opportunities for profitable investment.

There is no provincialism in this crusade of advertisement of the south. It is not conceived in selfishness or the disparagement of other communities. It simply undertakes to set forth facts which have been withheld too long already. The world needs to know about the south quite as much as the south needs the world. Publication of the truth will be helpful all around. It is a work which invites wholesome co-operation.

The Typhoid Fever Menace.

Gastonia Gazette.

We do not know when the campaign against typhoid fever in the county is to begin, but it ought to be underway right now.

There is more typhoid fever in the county than has been known to exist for years. There have been reported already two or three deaths from typhoid.

These cases may have come into the county where vaccination was not practiced, or they may have been contracted in the county, because there has not been a wholesale inoculation of the county for several years.

Nothing like the widespread publicity is given the event when it is not put on before the campaign starts the county is posted and placarded, and every man, woman or child is informed that the typhoid campaign is on. Clinics are held at various points in the county, for the doctors have to go to the patients. In a matter like this about one-fourth the population will freely and voluntarily go out of their way for vaccination.

This work ought to receive the heartiest support and co-operation from the public of Gaston county.

Some years ago when Dr. Mangum was in the county, people flocked to the vaccinating centers by the hundreds, and Gaston was freed from the typhoid fever plague for several years.

Let's get down to work in earnest this summer and eliminate any further danger of typhoid fever in the county.

The State Department of Labor and Printing, established by the General Assembly of 1887, is one of the oldest State departments apart from those established by the constitution. The duties of the Department of Labor and Printing are: Collection, collation and publication of industrial statistics; supervision of the public printing; mine inspection and free employment.

Up to 1870 tobacco grown in North Carolina moved to market largely through the earlier established Virginia markets of Petersburg, Clarksville, Danville and other centers. The growers would prize the tobacco into stout hogsheads and roll these hogsheads many miles to the distant markets.

What one Woman learned 35 Years ago

Years ago when the first spoonful of Calumet Baking Powder was used, one housewife learned the secret of success on bake-day. She found that what she had thought bad luck in the past was really the fault of inferior leaveners.

Over a third of a century has passed since that housewife experienced the perfect results that came from using

CALUMET THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Today millions upon millions have realized the same satisfaction that goes with using a perfect baking powder.

Calumet has more friends than any of the other brands on the market today—women who after one trial found that for uniform, wholesome bakings it has no equal.

Don't forget that a few cents worth of unreliable baking powder can ruin several dollars worth of other ingredients used in baking. Use the best and know what the results will be.
