Training School Wins Another.
The heavy hitting St. Johns team visited the Training School last Saturday afternoon and were defeated. Two weeks ago, the same team defeated the school boys by the score of 13 3, pounding out 21 hits, several of them for extra bases. In last Saturday's game the sluggers were held in check by Scarborough's masterly swirling, getting only eight widely scattered hits. Scarborough struck out 13 batters and was especially strong in the pinches.

At the end of the ninth inning the score was tied at 2 all; and after finishing their half of the tenth inning without scoring, the St. John team refused to play it out and left the field. As the sun was still shining and there was no other reason for calling the game, they were compelled, under the official rules, to forfeit the game by the score of 9 to 0.

The local boys played a fine game in the field, good fielding on several occasions preventing the visitors from scoring. The score by innings was:

KIWANIS MEMBERSHIP OPPORTUNITY FOR SERVICE
Address of George H. Ross to Five Thousand Kiwanians at St. Paul.
"It is generally admitted that the success of Kiwanis International lies in its local clubs," George H. Ross, of Toronto, Canada, past president of Kiwanis International, told five thousand Kiwanians at the ninth annual convention of the service organization being held at Saint Paul, Minn., this week.

"It is for this reason that all clubs must be made up of men of undoubted integrity, men who stand high in their own communities," he advised the delegates representing 1,890 clubs widespread over the North American continent.

Describing Kiwanis membership as an opportunity for service in a worth-while way, the convention speaker outlined the many activities and interests that a club has in any locality. "Find a club where membership is representative of the business, professional and agricultural life of the community, and you will find a club of which Kiwanis can be proud," he remarked.

"A decade or more ago it became apparent that the centuries-old doctrine of co-operation was disappearing in the deluge of modern improvements and conveniences which render the city man practically independent of his neighbor. The threatened disappearance of the old-time community spirit resulted in the birth of various service clubs, of which Kiwanis is proud to be a senior member."

Speaking of the many clubs in the United States and Canada, Mr. Ross likened them to show-rooms and workshops of the world. "The world looks into these clubs and sees a vast army of forward looking men pledged to carry out to successful conclusions many activities for civic betterment," he said.

"Let us always think of our members in terms of men being the one regenerative force that can do for this old world of ours the many things so near to our hearts. The world is rich in splendid men, those who would welcome an opportunity for such service as Kiwanis offers."

The past International president also urged that member be selected who consider it the joy of life to serve others.

BUSINESS AND THE OUTLOOK.

Philadelphia Record.
Midsummer is not the time for unusual industrial activity. When it does exist, as with some of the plants of the American Bridge Company running double turns in order to turn out the structural steel required for the great Philadelphia-Camden bridge, it is for a special reason and not because of general trade conditions. As the bulletin of the National Bank of Commerce, New York, puts it, the course of business from now until the end of the year will be determined primarily by crops and agricultural prices. Aside from the unknown factors all signs are favorable, and if crop yields are reasonably good and farm prices profitable, business will be better during the last half of 1925 than it has been during the first six months of the year. The seasonal slowing down in trade and industry is not expected to be greater than normal.

This view coincides with the opinion of Dr. Lewis H. Haney, director of the Bureau of Research of New York University, who predicts an early stabilization of business in his monthly analysis and forecast. The downward readjustment has been in process since February, and this moderate recession, he says, will continue until August. It is true that spotty conditions still prevail in business, but a marked gain over conditions a year ago is emphasized in the weekly trade review. Bradstreet's says: "The quieting down process in trade and industry does not seem to progress at the speed noted, especially in industry, in the second quarter of 1924, the result being that current statistics of trade volume and industrial movement tend to make better comparisons with a year ago than they did a while ago, although the quieting down from April and May comes in for notice."

The great basic industry of iron and steel has kept a pretty level keel in comparison with the downward slide of last year. Business for June will exceed slightly that of May and will be much greater than the corresponding month a year ago. Production at the rate of 70 per cent. of capacity persists in the independent plants, with tonnage output somewhat curtailed in sheets and plate on account of the heat. The plate mills have smaller demands, the absence of light car business being marked and oil storage tanks averaging only 5000 tons monthly in the first five months of the present year, as contrasted with the banner year of 1923, when this business averaged nearly 25,000 tons a month.

In tubular material the demand has been heavier during the past two weeks than it was earlier in the year. Fabricated steel business continues active, and the automobile trade absorbs a good line, but in conservative buying. Steel prices, however, are not regarded as entirely satisfactory to the mills. The changes that have taken place within the past 60 days have been in the softening direction.

A total of 45,381,000 acres has been planted in cotton in the current year, the largest acreage ever planted in this country, according to the estimates compiled by the The Commercial and Financial Chronicle. The total represents a gain of 2,740,000 acres, or 6 per cent., compared with last year's revised figures. With reference to the outlook for the crop The Chronicle says that "everything will depend, as in previous years, on the weather conditions from now on. And on that point one man's opinion or guess is as good as another's." This view finds reflection in the erratic cotton market quotations.

The textile markets have reacted to the stimulating effect of recent high temperatures on retail sales of seasonable goods. As a result, sentiment in the trade is reported better and lately there is less talk of curtailment. Wool buyers in the Middle West have raised their bids, "which" grown in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania asking 52 cents in many cases. In some parts of this territory the fleeces have all been sold in the West the buying is said to be keener, with prices above the parity of the Eastern markets. A sale will be held at Merton, Tex., today with 1,000,000 pound to be offered. The situation in the woolen mills is said to be improving.

WHY WORRY WITH A DISORDERED STOMACH
Nature Has Supplied the Ingredients.—HERB JUICE is Based on Nature's Own Cure.—It Makes Good Health Possible.

"HERB JUICE!" When I saw that name in the paper little did I think that it was going to prove to be the very medicine to give me such quick relief, but that's just what it did, and I want to give this public statement in order that others may know more about this wonderful remedy," said Mrs. Mollie Kiziah, of 64 Peachtree Street, Concord, N. C. Continuing her statement to the HERB JUICE man, Mrs. Kiziah says: "The saying that one never knows how to appreciate anything until it is gone is absolutely true. Such was my experience when I lost good health, but in HERB JUICE I am thankful to say I regained my health and today am feeling much improved. "I had a constant sufferer for a number of years with stomach trouble; my symptoms were the usual ones—gas pains, heartburn, bloating and heaving after eating and constant nausea which made me extremely nervous. Every time I read the paper I saw something in it about HERB JUICE. This caused me to make up my mind to try it, and like many others according to their own statements, I found what I was looking for—Relief. Since I have taken several bottles I feel as well as I ever did. The gas pains have stopped, and I am not bothered with bloating and heaving after eating. I was before taking this wonderful remedy. My stomach is now in good shape and I can eat the food I want and do not suffer one bit from gas pains or indigestion. HERB JUICE is what I need, and I must honestly say that it is responsible for the good health I am enjoying today."

slowly. A better general market is reported for hides, while the leather business continues to move along conservative lines.

The grain markets had a weak start last Monday, with general liquidation of long holdings. At reduced wheat prices milling demands appeared. The week closed with deferred deliveries of wheat on a new high on the present movement, at the top showing 8 1-8 cents over the low on Tuesday, but profit-taking at the close put wheat 1 1-4 at 1 5-8 cent lower and corn 1-2 at 1 5-8 cents lower.

Maine Requires Many One-Teacher Schools.
During the past year 193 small rural schools in Maine were consolidated, and the two and three teacher school is now common. About 25 junior high schools have been organized in small towns. Most of the State, however, is forest, with widely scattered settlements, and because of these conditions it will be necessary to continue indefinitely a large number of one-teacher schools. About $400,000 was spent last year for transportation of pupils. With better paid and better trained teachers and more satisfactory buildings, equipment, and transportation, the rural schools are improving. A course of study fitted to the needs of these schools is now in preparation.

Tourists Prefer Cary-Apex Route.
Raleigh News and Observer.

A higher percentage of out-of-the-State cars traveled the road between Cary and Apex than in any other section of the State during the monthly traffic test which was conducted early in June by the State Highway Commission, according to figures on the test which were made public here yesterday. Figures show that out of 620 cars which passed the test point on the Cary-Apex road between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. on the day of the test, 105 were "foreign" cars. Larger numbers of out-of-the-State cars were noted around Asheville and Charlotte but percentage was smaller.

Saves Same Woman Twice From Drowning.
Charlotte, June 22.—Two years ago A. I. Boatwright, a traveling salesman, reached the Catawba river bathing beach near here in time to save Miss Catherine Williams, of Charlotte from drowning. Yesterday, Boatwright again was passing the river beach and heard a woman scream for aid. He jumped into the river swam to her and succeeded in rescuing her. Then he discovered that again he had saved Miss Williams from drowning.
