Wool Fringe On This Shawl

HERE is a frock of black crepe-embroidered with conventional designs in bright-colored wools that is worn with a cape of the same material, trimmed in wool. The frock is a straightline model, with a round neckline and no sleeves, and the skirt may be worn with the point at the front or the back, to suit the fancy of the wearer.

Entertain at Bridge. Mrs. George Allen and Mrs. Brice Wilford entertained at bridge Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Allen in Kannapolis for Mrs. Ralph Wilson, a recent bride, and Mrs. Floyd Brown, of Petersburg, Va., guest of Mrs. Susie Orr. High score prize was won by Miss Mary Flowe and low score prize by Mrs. Ed. Lady. Attractive gifts were presented to each honoree. After play an elaborate salad course was served.

WEEVIL INFESTATION GROWING, SAY AGENTS

Report Made By Representatives of Eastern Chamber of Commerce. Kinston, June 26.—Boll weevils can be found in almost any field around Greenville or Farmville now. There is heavy infestation in some fields near Dunn. Weevils have been found in all fields examined around Benson. The infestation is heavy in the Goldsboro-Mount Olive district, in some instances 90 per cent of the forms in fields there have been punctured. A few of the insects have been found near Washington, none near Kinston. Infestation is increasing in the LaGrange section Weevils have been found in many fields around Ayden. Some have been discovered in the Smithfield area. This summary of the boll weevil situation in Eastern Carolina was announced today by the sectional Chamber of Commerce, based on reports from its field agents at the end of the first week of the 1925 section wide campaign against the pest.

Memorial Coins Nullify Slanders of a Bitter Era.

Atlanta, Ga., June 26.—A special call to the people of Georgia to rally to the sale of Confederate memorial coins now under way was made by Preston S. Arkwright, state chairman on Jefferson Davis' birthday. "These memorial coins have an even greater significance to the South than the Southern Memorial day," declared Mr. Arkwright. "I recently looked up the history of our memorial day observance and found that it began in Columbus, Georgia, and that its author was a Mrs. Williams. In her original call, Mrs. Williams stated that it seemed fairly certain that the Southern soldiers would probably never be honored by any except the Southern people themselves. "And now sixty years later," said Mr. Arkwright, "the government of the United States is joining with us in honoring that same Southern soldier. For many years we have waited patiently while the halls of Congress resounded with many slanderous speeches with the words 'traitor' and 'rebel' uttered against the South. "But the creation of these coins retracts those slanders. General Robert E. Lee, himself, died without even being recognized as a citizen of this nation and now this memorial coin honors Lee and Jackson and the men who followed them. "By buying these memorial coins we are honoring them for what they were denied. It takes two to make a contract. The federal government has done their part by having the coins minted for so gracious a cause. We must buy them and thus honor the greatest band of soldiers that ever lived. They were voluntary soldiers, without a navy or an established government. "The people just don't understand, and when they do see the significance of the minting and the buying of these coins it will be considered a disgrace when they cannot show that they have one always in their pocket. "All the people of the world cannot see the monument, although they will come here by the hundreds of thousands, but by having these coins they may carry them around, remembering always the traditions of Lee and Jackson. "The patent of the navel orange tree stands at the head of scenic Magnolia Avenue, Riverside, California. It is protected by an iron grill; in summer awnings protect it from the full glare of the sun; in winter a smudge pot stands beside it to guard against chill.

Children's Shows Discontinued.

The management of the Concord Theatre announces that owing to the hot weather the special Saturday morning children's shows will be discontinued for the present. These Saturday morning shows for children have proven quite popular but the extreme hot weather does not permit the theater to put these shows on, especially in view of the fact that the small sum of five cents admission is charged. Manager Meriwether announces that these children's shows will be resumed some time in September.
