

Three Starving Men Collapse in Street.
New York, June 27.—Three men suffering from starvation collapsed in downtown streets within the past 24 hours. Two were removed to hospitals. The third revived and a policeman passed the hat and raised a collection for him.

Jamee Lee, 55, who said he was a Virginian used to beg, collapsed on the city hall steps. A few hours later Gustave Olson, of Plainfield, N. J., collapsed in the same manner.

Joseph Penoski, a longshoreman from Chicago, the other starvation victim, smiled feebly after a collection was turned over to him, and remarked:

"New York is not such a bad town after all."

DEATH HERE SATURDAY OF WILLIAM O. PORTER

Death Caused by Ptomaine Poison Which He Suffered for About Twelve Days.

William O. Porter died Saturday night at 7 o'clock at his home on Freeze Street of ptomaine poison after an illness of twelve days, his condition having been critical for several days. However, it was not generally known that he was seriously ill and the news of his death came as a shock to his many friends in this city and county.

Mr. Porter was 46 years of age, having been born in Stanly county on July 25, 1878. He had lived on Freeze Street for about 30 years, coming to this city with his parents while still a youth. He was married several years ago to Miss Beulah Phillips.

The deceased had been an active member of the McGill Street Baptist Church for a number of years and funeral services were held in the church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Pentuff. Interment was made in Oakwood cemetery.

Surviving are one brother, Watt Porter, of Concord; and two sisters, Mrs. N. M. Byrd, and Mrs. Will Swarengen, both of Albemarle.

CHARLES F. WALTERS DIED HERE SATURDAY

Had Been Ill Three Weeks and Death Was Not Unexpected—Funeral Services Yesterday.

Charles F. Walters, well known citizen of Concord, died at his home here Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, following an illness of three weeks. His condition had been serious for several days.

Mr. Walters was 86 years of age, having been born in Cabarrus county on November 7, 1839, a son of the late Charles Walters. He had spent his entire life in this city and county and was widely and favorably known. His wife, who was Miss Bettie Poole, died several years ago. He was a brave Confederate soldier. Young Saunders will have something to tell his college chums when he returns to Duke this fall, if he continues to smash the old apple like he did today. The youngster collected a triple and two singles for the four times he faced the Gaston pitchers.

Even the fans got dizzy watching the merry-go-round. The Lowells possibly could have held the locals to a lower score, although, once the storm broke, there is nothing left to do but pick up the debris. The game was virtually lost in the first four innings and as the locals continued to ease across a few more runs on Costner there was little use to change pitchers. So Costner took the punishment and he was all but exhausted. He lobbed them across and withal he was

Some day I am going to have a woman director. And most of the cast of my pictures will be women, too, with the exception, of course, of a leading man and maybe a male villain.

"I think that from the women-only theatres will develop a new type of plays. The comedies, especially, I intend shall have a subtle and feminine appeal which will be entirely 'over the heads' of the men."

Constance Talmadge says she's going to build a theatre for women only. "There is a real need for a women-only theatre," she avows. "As it is, men drag their wives and sweethearts to theatres in order to see slapstick comedy, in which women are not at all interested."

Get a Good Start.
A good breathing exercise taken in the morning before an open window will give you a good start to the day. Standing with feet together and hands stretched above head, bend back slowly, waist, expelling all air from lungs. Next come forward, inhaling, and bring arms down in a wide circle to your sides. Repeat a dozen or more times, as you see fit.

LOWELL OVERWHELMED BY LOCAL SLUGGERS

Kannapolis Hit Everything Two Lowell Pitchers Threw Over Plate for a Grand Rally.—Visitors Have Terrible Day in the Field.

BY JAZZY MOORE
Kannapolis, June 27.—Kannapolis got off to a flying start today when they slaughtered Dad Prim's highly tutored Lowell aggregation 13 to 7, scoring every inning but the fifth on hits and errors.

Two home runs were pored during the contest on in Lowell's behalf, embarrassment, one by Johnson, and one by Baumgardner. Morris, a right-hander, who was recently obtained by Prim, started the game and was wild and ineffective. Costner relieved him, but the game was virtually lost and he was allowed to stay in for the remainder of the celebration. Slim Henderson pitched effectively for the locals, tightening up when the Primers were on bases.

The Lowells appeared hopeless in a game in which everything seemed to go wrong. Pitching was weak, defensive support was wabby, and the offensive strength was submerged. It was a track meet. The Lindsey forces ran around the bases and the Lowell players scampered hither and yon.

Fink Stars.
The home team outclassed the visitors in virtually every department and contributed enough sparkling plays to make the game interesting for the Lowell club offered no refreshing features.

Homer Fink, Kannapolis' pride, alone gave exhibitions that were worth the 35 cents paid for a grandstand seat. In the third inning he made a good catch of Bell's drive and in the same session made a running, leaping catch that combined all the elements of sensationalism and drew rounds of spirited applause from the large crowd that turned out to see a six-reeler game. Young Saunders will have something to tell his college chums when he returns to Duke this fall, if he continues to smash the old apple like he did today. HENRY HODGE, INJURED BY EXPLOSION, IS DEAD

Was Mangled and Burned When Crown Sheet of Boiler Bolw Out—Second Victim.

Salisbury, June 28.—Henry Hodge, student of the A. and E. College, died this afternoon at the Salisbury Hospital from injuries he received Saturday afternoon when a boiler crown sheet of a threshing machine outfit blew out on the Lisk farm, sixteen miles east of Salisbury.

Young Hodge is a son of L. C. Hodge, living near Richfield. He was engaged in cutting wood near the boiler when the accident occurred and was blown 75 steps. He suffered a broken arm and badly lacerated head and his body was blistered by steam from the boiler.

Charlie Morgan, who was killed instantly at the same explosion, was buried this afternoon at Corinth Church, Morgan township.

Other men who were injured at the same time are reported as getting on well and no further deaths are expected. T. W. Summersett, county coroner, investigated the accident and found an inquest unnecessary. He learned that the boiler had been in operation about twenty years and the accident was probably due to the action of rust on the crown sheet.

A jury summoned by Coroner Summersett this afternoon ordered Frances Williams, a negro woman about twenty years old, held without bail to answer the charge of killing her infant. An infant was found in a sanitary closet in the rear lot of the girl's home in East Spencer with its head crushed. The girl's mother is being held as an accessory but will be allowed the privilege of bond.
