KANNAPOLIS TAKES ON STRONG TEAM TOMORROW

Charlotte All-Stars Clash With Lindsay's Team for Second Game of the Season.

Charlotte All-Stars baseball team, after the successful start last Saturday, will take on the Charlotte All-stars tomorrow afternoon for the second contest of the season, the time of the game being 3:30 o'clock.

The Charlotte aggregation is reported as being unusually strong and it is likely that the game will be a closely contested one.

Of interest locally is the fact that Holsinger, University pitcher last year, will probably be on hand to do the twirling. It is not secured, Champion, who is also a first rate pitcher, will occupy the box.

The lineup for the game is as follows: Saunders, third base; Lapsley, first base; Lee, right field; Fink, centerfield; Wood, left field; Lindsay, second base; Johnson, shortstop; McLean, catcher; Holsinger or Champion, pitchers; and Helms, utility.

On Saturday, July 4th, two games will be played with Rockingham at the Cabarrus park. One will be in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

Lightning Forever Unleashing Stupendous Store of Power.

(By the Associated Press)

London, June 27.—Scarcely a second passes year in and year out, winter and summer, when there are not at least 100 lightning flashes somewhere in the world, according to the recently issued Blue Book of the meteorological office of the British government service.

During a year, says the book, the world experiences 16,000,000 thunder storms, or an average of 44,000 a day. The amount of energy released by these flashes is too stupendous for the human mind to grasp, the book points out.

It is suggested by the meteorologists that the water power of the earth, which has already been harnessed, be used as a measure. Figuring on that basis, it is estimated that double that amount is represented by one flash of lightning, consequently in any given second there is released from the clouds more energy than the world's water power stations yield in six months.

True Story for August, a Macfadden publication has among other stories "When a Girl Trifles," a true account of a girl who wanted a good time and thought she was having one.

"The Test of a Woman" is the other woman's story. "Why I Killed Richard Wainwright," here a mother bares her soul feeling it less disgraceful that her daughter be known as a child of a murderer than an illegitimate offspring.

"Behind the Bars," has for its locale Montevideo, picturesque houses with their iron rejas at every window, and the prominent part they played in the life of Senora Donosa.

"Love's Turmoil" is the story of a young girl who thought she had met the right man and allowed him to bully her into running away with him though she scarcely knew him.

Bible Reading Marathons. It took 69 1-2 hours for 130 members of the First Methodist Church at Yucalpa, Calif., to read aloud through the Bible in relays.

Progress through the Old Testament was slow but they made up time in the New Testament. The Rev. E. D. Raley, who sponsored the affair, hopes that it will "foster love for the Scriptures and revive the custom of reading of the Bible aloud in the home."

Not long ago 33 members of the Harlan, Ky., Baptist Church, working in relays, read the New Testament through without stop in 18 hours and 30 minutes.

Similarly, 200 members of a congregation at Penn Yan, N. Y., went through the Old Testament in 18 hours.

GIBSON PLAYS CHARLOTTE TEAM HERE SATURDAY

To Have Almost Same Team That Performed Against Southside Mills Last Week.

Practically the same team that played against Southside Mills last Saturday will represent Gibson Mill this week when the locals meet the strong Tabernacle team from Charlotte.

The fans chief interest will probably be in watching Watts and Harrill, both of whom starred here last week.

Harrill is from State College and from the looks of things will be the premier first baseman in college ball next year.

He is fast and sure and, although he didn't do it last week, it is said that he can hit. Persons who had deplored the fact that Lapsley, former Gibson first baseman, had gone to Kannapolis, were astonished when Harrill beat any playing that Lapsley had done before.

Watts, of Cross Roads, is notorious as a slugger. He wasn't up to par last Saturday until he came up in the ninth and slammed the ball over the fence for the winning run.

Other members of the team who are well known to local fans are Basinger, who will shift to third this week; Haynes, Gibson's diminutive catcher; Andrews, right field; Simmons, the Wake Forest pitcher, and Smith, centerfield. Haynes, who played well at shortstop last week, will again take this position and Young will get a tryout at second base.

Prices in Bygone Days.

The department of agriculture is preparing a chart showing the price range in food products during the last 100 years.

Occasionally the compilers run across some very interesting figures of prices in bygone days. For instance, in 1860 a merchant of Perry county, Ohio, purchased from a farmer 35 dozen eggs at three cents a dozen, and sold to him two gallons of whiskey at 25 cents a gallon.

In 1848 Hugh Manney, of Lake county, Miss., sold 98 pounds of raw cotton at eight and a half cents a pound. Corn sold for 30 cents a bushel in Minnesota in 1860 and wheat sold for 75.

In 1846 ham sold in Chester county, Illinois, for seven cents a pound and beef sold for two and a half cents. Two years later two pounds of chewing tobacco sold in Charles county, Maryland, for 30 cents.

Corn sold in 1834 in Cleveland, Ohio, for from 15 to 20 cents a bushel, and wheat from 50 to 60 cents a bushel. At the same time cows in Morgan county, Illinois, were selling for from $10 to $20 apiece, while live hogs sold for two cents a pound.
