BUSINESS AND THE OUTLOOK.

Philadelphia Record. Building conditions, bank clearings, freight car loadings, commercial credits and improvement in most lines of agriculture are some of the angles by which one may measure the trend and progress of business in this big country of ours.

And, speaking of bigness, how impressive it is to read that the total value of all manufactured articles in 1923 was $90,103,001,000, according to the figures from the census bureau.

It estimates that the industries of the country cannot operate at full capacity for more than eight and one-half months of the year unless there is a corresponding gain beyond any consumptive needs which have yet appeared. The ratio of 1923 output to capacity was 71.8 per cent.

Whatever other lines of activity may do in the way of seasonal quieting, the building industry shows few signs of slackening. Thus, with returns from 158 cities in for June, total permits for that month reached $326,004,088, or only four-tenths of 1 per cent. under May and 27.4 per cent. over June, last year.

Only New England and the central west-ern cities showed declines in June from May. For the six months the total value of permits reached $1,800,855,234 this year, a gain of 7 per cent. over the corresponding period in 1924, which in turn was 7 per cent. above the first half of 1923.

Some slowing up in output and sales of automobiles was observed in the last week, and in the industry as a whole the rate of production is now from 10 to 15 per cent. below the average early in June. Conditions are still better than normal for this time of year, and optimism at the factories is unabated.

The United States Steel Corporation's finished obligations decreased by 330,342 tons during June, decreases in each of the three preceding months having been close to 400,000 tons. The smaller decrease in June is attributable chiefly, and perhaps wholly, to smaller shipments, which fell off a few per cent from May.

Steel ingot production in June, according to the official report just issued, was approximately 2,270,050 gross tons, representing an average of 123,348 tons per working day. The production was equal to 71.0 per cent. of the assumed capacity, which is commonly taken at 3,198,000 tons per annum. The price situation in steel products remains practically unchanged, with but little slipping along the line.

In the textiles silk continues in great demand. In spite of the immense quantities of rayon being used, imports and consumption of raw silk are on the road to a record this year. The imports for the six months ending June, as computed by the Silk Association of America, reached 222,935 bales, or at the rate of 445,870 bales a year, which exceeds the record of imports of 1922 by almost 14 per cent.

Consumption in the six months totaled 240,452 bales, which will put mill activity at a new high.

Reports from dry goods centers indicated that a fair business was being transacted in print cloths. Sales of this type of goods at Fall River during the past week were estimated at approximately 100,000 pieces. Trade authorities are generally cheerful and predict a moderate expansion in the demand for the finished product in the event that raw cotton remains stabilized around present prices.

Wool prices in the coming London sales will probably point the way for domestic buying.

Last week's government's forecast of an enormous corn crop, in excess of 3,000,000,000 bushels, or 650,000 bushels more than last year, was hardly up to the rosy expectations of the trade.

Wheat and other grain prospects were in line with general expectations.
