IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

MOST OF THE MACCABEES REMAINED DOWN GEORGIA

They Did Not Come to Charlotte 3,000 Strong, as Reported, But They Came, Charlotte Observer.

What was the Maccabees? That's what everybody else was asking yesterday. The Maccabees were scheduled to take Charlotte like Cornwallis couldn't, Monday night, July 13—3,000 husky sons and daughters of Georgia.

A motor caravan of a thousand of motor cars and trucks was to have formed their mode of travel and the said vehicles were to have crunched through the streets of Charlotte and worn out the hard-surfaced roads of North Carolina. Exhibitions, contests, games, all kinds of whooping-it-up were to have been their methods of telling the world that the Maccabees were here. Never again would Charlotte entertain such a riotous crowd. Hold your breath.

They were here. But they were not here 3,000 strong, traveling in hundreds of motor cars; but, figuratively speaking, just about 150, or maybe less were in the bunch. Their caravan supported not more than 30 cars, those who saw it reported. Instead of the big pre-announced blizzard, they quietly slipped into the city about 10 o'clock Monday night and pitched themselves on the soft beds of the local hotels, and when the light of Tuesday morning came, like the Arabs and their caravans, they softly slipped away and were again on their journey.

So that's the story of the Maccabees. Mr. Gleason, who was in charge, reported to local officials that the idea was something of a "hop," mainly caused by the severe weather down Georgia way and the fact that now is the time the watermelons are ripening.

FAMOUS EDUCATOR TO SPEAK IN CONCORD FRIDAY NIGHT

Dr. L. G. Painter to Make Address on "An Evening of Dialect," For Benefit of Library.

A lecture which is expected to attract a large audience will be delivered Friday night at the roof garden of Central Methodist Church when Dr. L. G. Painter, head of the English department of the Mississippi College for Women at Columbus, Miss., will give his address on "An Evening of Dialect."

Although Dr. Painter's appearance in Concord is purely complimentary, an admission will be charged which will be used for the purpose of purchasing books for the library.

Dr. Painter is one of the foremost educators in the South. Since the death of Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, he is ranked at the top in his studies of dialect. He is greatly in demand as a lecturer, having appeared in numerous cities all over the country.

Dr. J. C. Rowan is largely responsible for Dr. Painter's visit. He will be a guest at the Rowan home on Spring Street on Friday night of Saturday. He leaves for Winthrop College, where he begins a series of lectures Saturday night.

Dr. Painter was educated in Harvard but as head of the English department at Columbus he has become famous over the entire country. His offer to speak for the library was accepted and it was decided to charge 50 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. High school boys and girls will be classed in the lecture as children and will be admitted for 10 cents.

A large part of the lecture will probably be humorous since Dr. Painter gives interpretations of negro dialect together with other southern dialects.

CEMENT DRIVE ORDERED FOR OAKWOOD CEMETERY

Some Cement Walks Also To Be Laid in the Cemetery Under Order of the Commission.

Under an order of the commission which has charge of Oakwood cemetery, part of the main drive into the cemetery grounds is to be paved, and in addition a number of walks are to be cemented.

J. A. Walker, local contractor, has been awarded the contract for the work, and the plans to have the job completed in the near future.

It is probable that other drives in the cemetery grounds will be paved in the future, it is reported.

Mrs. Annie P. Crawford Buried at Greensboro

Greensboro, July 12.—Mrs. Annie Pullen Crawford, aged 73, widow of Rev. L. W. Crawford, Methodist minister, was buried here Sunday afternoon following services in West Market Street Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. J. F. Kirk. Her late husband was once pastor of the church. She had also lived, as a minister's wife, at Salisbury, Fayetteville, New Bern and Reidsville.

At the age of 70, she was a summer school student at Columbia University for five years, and became nationally known for that reason.

Homecoming at Olin August 2nd

Spencer, July 14.—Arrangements are well underway for a big homecoming, dinner and speaking at Olin, Iredell county, Sunday, August 2nd. It is expected that hundreds of former residents of that place and vicinity will be on hand. The program in charge of W. L. Holland of Olin, provides for a number of speakers including W. C. Peimister, of Newton; John B. Stierell, of Concord; D. F. Giles, of Marion; and others. A public dinner will be a feature of the day and this will be sufficient to draw thousands to Olin for the occasion.

YOUNG AND CLEMMER HEAD GIBSON MILL HITTERS

Basinger Is Third and Leads Batters Who Have Played During Entire Season—Team Hits .361.

Batting averages compiled by The Tribune for the Gibson Mill team give Young, pinch hitter and second baseman for the Gingham Makers, an easy lead over his teammates. Young has played in only one full game, a part of a ninth-inning, and went in as pinch hitter in a pinch. The former season, he faced the pitcher seven times and knocked the ball out safely all but once. Two of his safe blows were for home runs. The one time he did not register a hit, he sent a long fly into right field which was caught by the caretaker of that garden.

Young showed that he was too slow to play second base in the game against Kannapolis last Thursday. Manager Sid Basinger was considering letting him go. It was rumored that Sid would keep him in the outfield on account of his hitting ability. He was not in the lineup Saturday at Kannapolis when hitters were badly needed, however.

Clemmer, who has caught in the last two contests for the team, is second with three safe blows, one of which was the home run which put Concord in the lead last Saturday for a while.

Basinger leads the batters who have played with Gibson during the entire season. He has been up 57 times and has connected for hits on 21 of these occasions for an average of .368. His hitting has fallen off slightly in the last three contests, having been able to secure only three safeties in fourteen tries.

Smith follows closely with an average of .339 and Andrews is fifth hitter with .333. Other batters follow in this order: Belk, Westledge, Haney, Holbittel, Haynes, Wattle, Simmons and Harrill.

Wattle has made in his two hits a home run and a triple which have both accounted for runs. Harrill has connected his inability to hit into inability to walk and despite the fact that he has only one hit to his credit, he has scored three runs in the last three games.

The entire team has been to the bat 291 times and has made 85 hits for an average of .291.

Individual hitting is as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Average. Young .368, Clemmer .339, Basinger .333, Smith .333, Andrews .333, Belk .333, Westledge .333, Haney .333, Holbittel .333, Haynes .333, Wattle .333, Simmons .333, Harrill .333.

THANKS LEGION HERE FOR ENDOWMENT FUND MONEY

National Treasurer of Legion Sends Letter of Thanks to Adjutant of Local Post.

Van Walter, adjutant of the Fred Y. McConnell Post of the American Legion, has received the following letter from Robert H. Tyndale, national treasurer of the Legion, thanking the post for its work in the recent endowment fund drive:

My dear Mr. Walters: I wish to acknowledge the receipt of your remittance of $1198.20 and subscriptions of $2036.20 to the American Legion Endowment Fund.

We certainly appreciate the fine action taken by the Legionnaires and citizens of Concord. It is another indication that the cause is just, and that Legionnaires everywhere and the public generally, will respond generously to this most worthy effort.

Please be assured of the very deep appreciation of each one at the National Headquarters, for the generous support your Post has given.

Very truly yours, ROBERT H. TYNDALE.

Motor Road Scraper Purchased by the City

A motor road scraper has been purchased by the city of Concord and has been in operation since Monday.

The scraper can be manned by one person and will be used on the dirt streets of the city. The scraper is expected to greatly facilitate the work of keeping the dirt roads of the city in good condition.

Must Have State Tags After Today

After today automobiles not bearing 1925-26 numbers will very likely be stopped by officers and the drivers will be required to explain. R. A. Dougherty, commissioner of revenue, announced several days ago that the state would not extend the time limit longer than July 15th.

Nothing Serious

"Nothing serious. He says she is beautiful and she is denying it."

COTTON GROWERS INTERESTED IN YIELD AND MARKETING

An Analysis Given of the Factors That Enter Into Economical Yield—Per Acre by Mr. Mask.

(BY H. H. B. MASK)

The successful cotton grower today is not only interested in influences on increasing the yield per acre, but he is also interested in influencing the price per pound or increasing his bargaining power in the market.

Just how can the farmer economically influence the yield per acre?

- 1. Careful selection and improvement of the soil.
2. Thorough preparation of the soil.
3. Proper application of fertilizers.
4. Careful selection and improvement of seed.
5. Proper cultural methods.
6. Use disease and insect control measures.
7. Utilize to the fullest extent machinery and horsepower in all operations.
8. Secure satisfactory production credit.

The application of the above means and methods will greatly increase the yield per acre as well as the quality.

But the farmer today cannot afford to stop here. He must use his influence on price as well as yield.

The farmer is a merchant. He uses his soil, other investment, season, fertilizer and labor as a means of purchasing his goods.

Like the merchant, he must try to get at satisfactory price for his goods. Here are some of the means and methods he must use to influence price:

- 1. Co-operate with other growers—do not compete.
2. Organize or assemble a large volume of the cotton.
3. Protect the cotton. Warehouse and country damage.
4. Grade and classify the cotton.
5. Finance and accounting.
6. Merchandising the cotton—selling on consignment at the point of consumption and not production.
7. Distributing the cotton (transportation).
8. Salvaging the "city crop"—(samples).

The North Carolina Growers' Association is applying the above means and methods to influence the price or increase the bargaining power of the farmer in the market.

Mr. Farmer, how long will you continue to increase production without giving attention to influencing the price?

REQUEST JUDGE TO LEAVE OFF PRAYERS

Scopes' Attorneys File Objection to the Practice—Is Signal For Uproar.

Dayton, Tenn., July 14.—A petition calling on Judge Raulston to discontinue his practice of opening morning sessions of the court with prayer, was presented by defense counsel immediately after Judge Raulston returned to the court room this afternoon after preparing his decision on the defense motion to quash.

Judge Raulston referred the petition to the Dayton Ministerial Association, asking that it choose the preacher who should render the morning prayer.

The petition was signed by Dr. Charles Francis Potter and others.

A sharp clash of counsel occurred when Attorney General Stewart objected to the reading of the petition by Arthur Garfield Hays. Mr. Stewart retorted sharply when his objection was interrupted by defense counsel.

"Will you please keep your mouth shut?" the state attorney cried across to opposing counsel. An uproar resulted.

The spectators applauded when Judge Raulston referred the petition to the ministerial association.
