PRESCRIBING OF LIQUOR
EVEN CASUALLY, ILLEGAL

Judge Henry A. Grady Issues Warning
In Court at Durham

Durham, July 21.—Doctors who prescribe whiskey for their patients, whether formally or informally, are violating the law of the state and ought to be prosecuted, Judge Henry A. Grady, sitting at the present session of the Durham County Superior Court, criminal session, stated today. The judge backed up his statement with a suggestion that the grand jury be recalled to take up the case of a Durham doctor, who, testifying as a witness for a woman charged with transporting liquor, stated he had advised the woman to take castor oil in a little whiskey.

Mrs. Gladys Dixon Roberts was charged with transporting liquor in that she carried a small amount of liquor, less than a pint, from her room in a rooming house, to the room of the proprietor of the house, who was ill in bed, and gave the second woman some. The doctor testified he had advised the sick woman to use the whiskey in taking the medicine. Mrs. Roberts was found guilty by Judge Grady and placed under suspended sentence of twelve months in the workhouse after being taxed with the costs in the case.

Only a rather urgent appeal upon the part of the solicitor himself saved the doctor facing possible indictment by the grand jury.

Greensboro Bank Wants New 17-Story Building

Greensboro, July 21.—Plans for erection of a seventeen-story bank and hotel building here received impetus today when stockholders of the Greensboro Bank and Trust Company met to act upon recommendations of the directors of the institution that the capital stock of the institution be increased from $400,000 to $800,000. The bank plans to erect the skyscraper for its home and upper floors, as well as part of the ground floor would be used for the hotel. The building would be one of the two tallest in North Carolina, the other, 27 stories, being the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance building here.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Comparison of last year's internal revenue collections with the previous year's seems to bear out Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's dictum that low taxes bring in relatively more money—sometimes actually more than high taxes.

THE present law under which federal taxes are being collected has worked out exactly like that.

When passed, it was estimated the rate reductions it contained would cut revenues down 400 millions instead the country, cheered by the lightening of its tax load, immediately got so much busier that revenues haven't fallen nearly that much—only about half.

As a prophet, Secretary Mellon is all right—in part. He said taxes could be cut considerably and revenues would be reduced only slightly, if at all. And so it proved.

But the tax cuts meant the kind Mellon wanted. He wanted it made so as to lighten the load on the rich. They were the ones, he said, who had accumulated capital to be waked up and set to work.

Congress, however, insisted on making the cut in the little fellows' favor.

And lo, and behold, it appears that Secretary Mellon's rule applies to the little fellows anyway, whether or not some subsequent experiment may prove it to apply also to the whales.

NOW taxes are to be reduced some more when Congress meets next. Again Secretary Mellon will be on hand with his argument that tax cuts don't necessarily mean less money for the government—they may mean more.

He will say last year's experience demonstrates it. He'll be quite right. So it goes. But he'll say something else, that hasn't been demonstrated yet. He'll say the country will get most good out of cutting "super" and "sur" taxes down.

Of this we can't be so sure. It hasn't been tried.

Cutting away the little ones has, and it worked fine.

SEE RARE PHENOMENON
IN SKIES AT PRESENT

Venus, Mercury, and Mars Visible to Naked Eye Just After Sunset, Raleigh News and Observer.

During the past week three of the planets, Venus, Mercury, and Mars have appeared very close together in the west and the night sky about a half-hour after sunset. This is a phenomenon rarely seen and the attention of boys' scouts and camp fire girls has been especially directed to it, while others interested in the skies are also engaged in studying it.

Just above the horizon and opposite Venus in the East appears the wonderful bright star, Jupiter, the largest of all the planets, which in form our Solar System, "rules" between those toward the South may be seen the Planet Saturn, which if viewed through the telescope or "telescope" would appear surrounded by a broad ring or band of light. Near this Planet to the left in the constellation of the Scorpion will be seen during the entire summer the red star Antares. Much has been written in the papers recently about this star on account of its size and distance from the earth.

A little to the North may be seen the big upper pointer leading to the North Star, and a line from the handle of the dipper an equal distance to the South toward the beautiful star Acturus.

Observation of Planets mentioned, should be made this week as on Wednesday night the new moon will appear quite near the Planet Venus, diminishing or obscuring a certain extent the Planets named.

ENDORSES EVERETT AS SUCCESSOR TO McLEAN

C. W. Roberts, of Automobile Trade Association, Urges Support of Secretary of State.

Charlotte, July 21.—Determination in favor of W. N. Everett, secretary of state, to succeed Angus W. McLean as governor of North Carolina, was made here today in an address by C. W. Roberts, secretary of the North Carolina Automobile Trade Association.

The secretary of the association urged members of the association to undertake immediately a campaign to obtain legislative action remedying the present conditions affecting the automotive industry.

While commending Governor McLean as a "great governor, a wonderful business man," Mr. Roberts declared that there are few men now available for the governorship that the automotive trade could support.

"In my opinion," he added, however,

"none is so well qualified and so capable of filling the position as the Honorable W. N. Everett."

Post and Flag's Cotton Letter

New York, July 21.—The market has been listless as generally before a bureau and the tone has been rather heavy with the feeling that the report is likely to show a material decline from the last figures and that the losses in Texas can probably be regarded as largely offset by improved conditions in other sections of the belt. Business has consisted chiefly of evening up accounts with no disposition to make fresh commitments to either side until the report is out of the way.

The absence of any real complaint regarding wheat damages is attracting considerable attention though in some quarters it is felt that it is too early to feel any real security on that score as it is not until the first part of August that weevil damage becomes prominent and it is perfectly certain that the weevil is present in large numbers in sections where in later years he has done the most damage. Present indications are that the report is more likely to show a heavy loss in the trade of Texas than on any good break either before or after the report, those who will later need cotton to use will do well to start buying even though their purchases may need to be averaged to some extent.

POST AND FLAG'S

Those Worthless Dogs

Montpe Enquirer: Raleigh, N. C., July 21.—Wynne, Jr., six weeks old was bitten by a dog that showed no signs of rabies and consequently the child was not given the Pasteur treatment. His death is imminent.

Within the past year several persons here in Union county have been bitten by worthless dogs, and these people underwent the painful rabies' treatment. Numerous dogs and other animals have died or been killed because of hydrophobia. These also had been bitten by worthless dogs.

Charlotte Meeting Asks National Parents

Charlotte, July 20.—A large and representative audience, after hearing Judge T. D. Bryson, of Bryson City, tonight enforced the Appalachian National Park for western North Carolina and called on the Legislature and Congress to support it. The resolution was offered by Francis Garrison, of the Charlotte bar. Strong addresses were made by Congressman Bulwinkle, John G. Carpenter, Solicitor of the fourteenth judicial district, and others.

THINKS McLEAN NOT TO REPLY TO MORRISON

Governor Avoids Controversy Since Taking Office—Spends While in Washington.

Raleigh, July 20.—Governor McLean is spending a few days in Washington and therefore did not return to his office Monday.

The impression about the capital is that his excellency will make no reference to former Governor Morrison's letter to the state press Sunday morning. While several parts of Mr. Morrison's protests were aimed directly at his successor, Governor McLean is not expected to enter a controversy following his well established principle in taking over the governorship. He has rarely seen any good in controversy and scrupulously avoids them. Nevertheless his friends think he would do well to assert himself of any change of unloading more than Mr. Morrison's share of the deficit on the former governor.

Holy Cross College, Worcester, has always been noted for its baseball teams, which have furnished more than one star player to the major leagues. Probably the strongest nine that ever wore the college colors was that of 1919, which went through a scheduled of more than 30 games with only one defeat.
