CHARLOTTE GETS MAIN OFFICE FOR PROHIBITION UNIT

Plan to Become Effective About September 1st.—Some District Changes. Washington, July 25.—Defeated in his work to set a reorganized machine at work August 1st to enforce prohibition, Assistant Secretary Andrews, the treasury's prohibition field marshal, took a fresh start today in developing a program with which he hopes he can dry-up the country's wet spots.

September 1st has now been fixed tentatively as the date on which the revamped enforcement organization can be set in motion, and it will start with a division of the country into district along different lines than were at first contemplated. Announcement of the changes in boundaries of six districts and the transfer of headquarters of two other regional areas was made.

It also was announced that all of the unclassified employees of the field service will automatically be out of their jobs not later than October 15th. Some of them probably will be reemployed but their places will be measured by their selection for these places under the reorganization.

Accompanying Mr. Andrews' announcement was a formal statement by Acting Secretary Winston giving specific details of the delay in building the new enforcement structure.

A TWO MILLION DOLLAR HOTEL FOR HENDERSONVILLE

J. P. Stoltz, of Miami, to Build It.—Work Soon to Be Commenced. Hendersonville, July 25.—J. P. Stoltz, owner of the Elwood Hotel in Miami, Fla., and prominent Florida and New York hotel man, tonight announced his intention of erecting a hotel here similar to his Miami hotel, costing approximately $2,000,000.

Mr. Stoltz made his announcement at a banquet given by the local Chamber of Commerce.

He also announced that he would construct what he described as one of the largest broadcasting stations in the United States.

Work on the projects will start with the least practical delay, he said.

It Gives Him Courage. When Mr. Coolidge ascended to the presidency an admirer sent him a letter that the chief executive yet treasures to such an extent that he carries it about with him wherever he goes. When tried in mind or body, the President will often take out the missive and read it over with apparent refreshment. It is a simple little note, but the President seems to enjoy it as he reads: "I congratulate you on being President, and hope you work hard and get promoted."

It saves no money to laugh at other people's expense.

GETTING SCHOOL HOUSES READY FOR NEXT TERMS

Repairs, Improvements and Changes Being Made to School Houses of the County.

School plants of the county are being put in readiness now for the 1925-26 term. Some of the school houses are being enlarged, others are being changed and extensive repairs are being made to others.

Prof. J. B. Robertson, superintendent of the county schools, went to the Cruise school in No. 6 township this afternoon to plans for repairs to the building there, and tomorrow he will confer with patrons of the Liberty Ridge school, also in No. 6 township, about changes and repairs to be made to that school house.

Work already has been started on a new room for the Winecreek school, the addition to be completed in time for the opening of the school in the Fall.

During the past week R. V. Blackwelder has been able to raise the Belfont school building which was blown over several weeks ago during a wind storm. Fortunately the building was not badly damaged when blown over and Mr. Blackwelder was able to get it back in its original position with tearing it down and without adding further damage to it. Some repairs, of course, will have to be made to the structure, and this work will be done so the building will be ready for the opening of the next school term.

GIBSON SECURES REVENGE AND BEATS KANNAPOLIS

Saturday's Contest Goes to Locals by a 4-3 Score.—Simmons and Holshouser Star in Box.

Gibson Mill refused to be downed Saturday.

After doing all they could in the first inning to lose the game, the Concord boys got real ashamed of themselves and settled down to work, outplaying the Kannapolis team during the remaining eight innings and winning by a score of 4-3.

There was a grand mixture of snappy baseball and sloppy baseball, both teams contributing boneheads in plentiful numbers and both making up for them partially by brilliant fielding.

There were comic touches also. Clemmer's dash to second base to assist in putting out Wood in the sixth inning was equal to a three ring circus for sheer amusement. Wood and Johnson were second and first bases respectively. Johnson strayed from his bag too far and Clemmer ran out as though to throw it to Harrill. Johnson vacillated and, all the time he was hesitating whether to go back or to try to find safety on further fields, Clemmer kept bearing down on the perplexed lad.

Getting within chasing distance, Clemmer started after him so there was nothing to do but go on to second. This he did and Wood, who during this time had remained near second in a perplexed fashion was forced to try his luck at third base. Clemmer then shot the ball to Belk who put Wood out easily. The players stood round gaping with amazement as Clemmer circled the bases and the stands roared.

The game started off like a nine-inning tragedy for Gibson. Saunders struck but Lee singled. Miller then knocked an easy fly to Watts who proceeded to drop it as badly as possible. Fink was out on a grounder. Wood then hit one to center, who bobbed, allowing Lee to score. The next ball went to Harrill who let it drop in his mit and then drop right out again, scoring Miller. Hodge closed the inning with a grounder to Basinger. Gibson scored in the third when the Kannapolis infield blew up and made three errors, coupled with a walk by Holshouser and a hit batsman. Smith was out when Watts went to first safely on an error by Miller. Simmons struck but Watts advanced to third on a wild throw by Miller. Haynes hit to Saunders, who scored, scoring Watts. Goodson was walked and Basinger was hit by a pitched ball, loading the bases. Belk retired the side with a long fly to centerfield.

The Concord team scored three runs in the fourth when hits were bunched on Holshouser. Clemmer singled and advanced to third on two consecutive wild pitches by Holshouser. Harriss and Smith were out but Watts singled. Simmons then doubled and scored when Haynes hit safely. Goodson struck for the third out but the Concord team had already made three runs which gave them a lead never overcome.

In the sixth, Simmons got in hot water when he was touched for three hits in addition to issuing a walk. Wood was put out going to third as Barnhardt had narrated and although Harrill and Holshouser singled consecutively, only Johnson was able to score.

The pitching of Simmons and Holshouser was well worth going miles to see. Simmons kept his hits well scattered with the exception of the sixth inning. Only one run was earned off his delivery. In the pinches he was cool and collected. Five men were struck out, which is more than Simmons usually fans. Holshouser, on the other hand, was unfortunate in having hits bunched on him. He fanned a total of nine men from Concord.

Haynes and Simmons led in the Concord batting, each securing two hits. Lee was the big noise for Kannapolis, getting two singles and a double.

This victory puts the two teams in a tie in games played. Kannapolis won the first contest here, the teams tied in the second and Gibson's victory Saturday makes honors even. The rubber game is to be played off next Saturday at Concord.

TRIBUNE'S COMICS WELL RECEIVED ON DEBUT

Saturday's Issue Carried "Funnies" For the First Time.—Feature to Be Continued.

For the first time The Concord Daily Tribune Saturday carried a four-page comic section with the regular edition and the debut of the "funnies" was a decided success.

Some of the best known characters in the comic world were shown in The Tribune's comic section, and their actions were especially pleasingly displayed by reason of the fact that the section is printed in four colors, whereas most comics are only in two or three colors.

Children of the city were especially delighted to see many of their "famous" friends in The Tribune and expressed pleasure that hereafter it will not be necessary for them to wait until Sunday morning newspapers are out to get their weekly comics.

The "funnies" will be continued by The Tribune and the same high class, four-colored features carried in the paper Saturday will be offered each week.

Hurley and Sherrill.

Theodore Harris, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harris, of Asheville, formerly of Concord, is a special writer on the Asheville Citizen. Following the recent meeting of the State Press Association at Asheville, Mr. Harris wrote an article entitled, "North Carolina Newspapermen Prospering as State Advances; Ethics of Fourth Estate High." In the course of his article he had the following:

"Two of the figures seen at Southern and North Carolina conventions that may be used in illustration of the point of good fellowship between rivals are James F. Hurley, of Salisbury, and John B. Sherrill, of Concord. For a long time Mr. Hurley was publisher of The Concord Daily Tribune and Mr. Sherrill was his competitor, publishing The Concord Times. They fought hard for business, disagreed on candidates for town offices, matched wits for scoops, bade closely on contracts for job printing and otherwise conducted warfare against each other—but remained warm friends. It was Mr. Hurley who initiated and pushed the campaign of Mr. Sherrill for the Democratic nomination of Labor and Printing 15 years ago. Mr. Hurley's support of his colleague was earnest and persistent. A few years later, when Mr. Hurley got a chance to buy the Salisbury Post, he accepted the opportunity in the knowledge that development of his new property to the standards he had in mind would necessitate his retirement from the Concord field, with concentration at Salisbury. He gave first chance to acquire The Concord Tribune to Mr. Sherrill and the latter bought it.

"The negotiations were conducted pleasantly, despite the years of hard rivalry. The two men, now no longer competitors, are close enough to each other to develop among their readers feelings of amity between Salisbury and Concord, rather than attitudes of jealousy and rivalry. The result is that the two towns are among the most neighborly of the State and the two publishers have never yet found a reason to quarrel, even though they have during late years been bitten by the golf bug and play over the same course."

Woman---the World's Greatest Walker

Thousands of women walk the equivalent of a cross country hike from Seattle to Boston every year without leaving their own homes!

This startling fact has just been determined by a leading college. This institution equipped women with pedometers and discovered that they walk from 2 1/2 to 15 miles each day doing their housework.

It was shown that a woman must travel a great many more miles every year when she is in bondage to a coal stove than when she has a gas range and other modern gas burning equipment in her home.

"A woman," it was said, "is a slave to a coal stove; a gas range is a slave to its owner. Where gas is the fuel there is no lugging of coal or ashes and there is no dirt or other inconvenience."
