Rendleman-Ayres.
Salisbury Post, 29th.
Telegrams received this morning from Mr. and Mrs. John L. Rendleman bring the news that they were married last night in Concord by the Rev. L. A. Thomas, and that they will be at home in about a week.

On Saturday Mrs. Rendleman, who was then Miss Marie Ayres, went to Canton, N. C. to visit a college friend, Mrs. Lawrence Hartshore, and it was while there that she and Mr. Rendleman decided to be married at once. They went to Forest City in search of Dr. W. R. Ware whom they found to be away from home. Then they went to Concord and were married by the Rev. L. A. Thomas, of the Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Rendleman is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ayres, of West Fisher street, a decided brunette in coloring and one of Salisbury's most strikingly beautiful and vivacious young women. She is universally popular. Receiving her education in the Salisbury schools and at N. C. W. Greensboro, she returned to Salisbury and then taught for the past two years in the Gold Hill schools. She is interested in athletics, in music and art.

Mr. Rendleman is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Rendleman, of North Fulton street. He is an alumnus of Roanoke College, Lenoir College and the University of North Carolina law school. For the past three years he has practiced law with his father and brother, the firm of Rendleman and Rendleman, attorneys, being well known in the city and throughout the state. Mr. Rendleman is a most likable young man, numbering his friends by his acquaintances.

On returning to the city Mr. and Mrs. Rendleman will occupy an apartment at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fountain on West Kerr Street until they build their own home.

Daughter Born.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harrison, July 28th, a daughter.

The program will consist of a Spanish dance, monologues, dialogues, drills, choruses, and plenty of string music. The club cordially invited the public to attend. There will be no admission fee.

Son Born to Dr. and Mrs. Wolf.
Announcement has been received in the city of the birth of a son, George Miles, to Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Wolf, of Haynesville, La., on July 16th. Dr. Wolf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wolf of this city.

Thursday Bridge Club Meeting Postponed.
The Thursday Bridge Club, which was to have met this week at the home of Mrs. Parks Lafferty in the country, has been postponed until next week.

The Pacific Christian Advocate, one of the ablest of the Methodist papers bearing the name, ridicules the prospectus of a firm offering speeches and discourses on any subject, while it carefully refers to the "canned" editorials it is compelled to use under the present system of "patent insides" to which the board-controlled Advocates must submit.—Dearborn Independent.

Patient Old China.
New York Daily Mirror.
The Chinese are a patient nation. On Sunday last the Chinese government officially strangled to death a Russian bandit named Korniloff. He had deserved killing, according to man's law, by his banditry, and by the fact that when he was first tried he killed several in his escape from court.

The interesting thing is that Korniloff is the first white man ever officially put to death by the Chinese government. When you consider all the devilry of which white men of different kinds have been guilty in Chinese ports, and elsewhere in China, and when you consider the short shrift that many Chinese have received at the hands of the white men in the white men's countries, you wonder at Chinese patience.

Your Car, a Macfadden publication, in its August number has an interesting article on driving by Alfred Loomis. ## SAFETY BUTTONS ARE OFFERED TO CHILDREN

They Will Be Given Children Who Sign Pledge to Observe 10 Safety Rules—Distribute Cards.

A definite drive to reduce accidents will begin in Greensboro this morning, according to C. T. Matthews, director of the accident prevention department of the Carolina Motor club, who has formulated 10 safety rules for children and offered attractive accident prevention buttons to youngsters who will sign a pledge to observe the rules.

Distribution of a card containing the safety rules, a message to parents asking their co-operation in the accident prevention campaign and the pledge to be signed by the children, will begin today on North Elm and Asheboro streets. The entire city will be covered during the week.

Questions and answers on the pledge card are:

"What should you do before crossing a street? I should stop and look both ways, and when it is safe cross the street quickly.

"Where is the proper place for you or anyone to cross the street? At the crossing where it is least dangerous.

"What should you do, if standing in the middle of the street, you should see an automobile or other vehicle coming in both directions? Stand perfectly still until they have passed.

"What danger is there in stealing a ride on an automobile or other vehicle? There is danger of being injured either by falling off or being run over when I jump off.

"In case a child or anyone is injured by an automobile or other vehicle what is the first thing to do? Call help as quickly as possible.

"If when playing on the street you see an automobile or other vehicle approaching what ought you to do? I should get to a place of safety as quickly as possible.

"When you are playing in the street what should you always keep in mind? That I have chosen a very dangerous place in which to play and that I must be on the constant lookout for automobiles and other vehicles.

"Why should you not play in streets frequently used by automobiles? Because it is too dangerous.

"What should you do when leaving a trolley car to go to the right? I should look to see if any automobiles or other vehicles are coming toward me.

"What should you do when leaving a trolley car to go to the left? I should not pass behind the trolley car until I can see for some distance on the left hand side of the road."

Buttons will be awarded children signing the pledge card and presenting it at the motor club office, 224 East Market street.

Kramer competed for twenty-seven years, twenty-three years as a professional and four years as an amateur. He held the professional championship of America eighteen times, the world's championship once, in 1912, the only year he competed for it, and the amateur title two years.

THE CENTENARY OF BUCKINGHAM PALACE

The Best Known of all the English Royal Residences.

London, July 28.—This month witnesses the centenary of Buckingham Palace, perhaps the best known of all England's royal residences, although it can lay out little claim to the stately traditions that surround Windsor Castle or St. James Palace. Buckingham has only borne its palatial honors since 1825, when George IV. resolved to transform Buckingham House into a palace, and under the somewhat fallacious pretext of repairs, contrived to spend about 2,500,000 of the public money upon the transformation. The First Gentleman of Europe, as splendidly prodigal of bricks and mortar as he was of everything else, entirely rebuilt "Queen's House," as Buckingham House was called after it was settled on Queen Charlotte, and restored to its former name, but with the regal addition.

The ground on which Buckingham Palace stands was once occupied by mulberry gardens originally laid out in furtherance of the scheme of James, I to encourage the silk industry in England. The gardens must eventually have attained to the same eminence as certain fashionable restaurants of the present day. Here Dryden ate tartlets with Mme. Anne Reeve, and Evelyn mentions a party given by Lady Gerard, and adds: "It is now the only place about town for persons of the best quality."

William IV. never liked Buckingham Palace and it was not until 1837, when Queen Victoria removed there from Kensington Palace, that Buckingham became the official home of the sovereign. It was this circumstance which inspired "The Times," possibly for the first and only time in its career, to a conundrum. "Why is Buckingham Palace the cheapest ever built?" asked the great and usually grave newspaper; and replied: "Because it was built for one sovereign and furnished for another."

At the beginning of its career as a royal residence, Buckingham Palace was by no means so well organized as it is today. Division of labor, for instance, was carried to altogether too great extremes. It was the duty of the Lord Steward's department to lay the fires, but they could only be lit by the Lord Chamberlain's department. Then dishes from the royal kitchens had to be carried through endless corridors before they were served, so that they rarely arrived at table in perfect condition.

Most startling of all, it seemed possible for any one to enter the palace. Shortly after Queen Victoria's marriage, a great sensation was caused by a boy named Jones, who claimed to have gained access to the private apartments of the palace, and to have overheard conversations between the Queen and the Prince Consort.

The most interesting event which took place in Buckingham Palace was the drinking of the first cup of tea ever made in England. This took place in 1666, when the place was still Buckingham House. The Duke of Arlington, who then owned the mansion, bought a pound of tea for something like twenty dollars.

Buckingham Palace may be regarded as a lucky home, for during the hundred years it has been a royal residence only one member of the royal family has died there—King Edward VII. Queen Victoria died at Osborne, Prince Albert at Windsor, and both Prince John and the Duke of Clarence at Sandringham.

During the last twenty years a number of alternations have been made to the palace. King Edward made changes which simplified the domestic arrangements and in 1913 King George had the whole of the front, which had become very weather worn, refaced.

In Malay, "twenty men will work a half a day to land six dollars worth of little fish."

ROBINSON'S SALE THIS MORNING IS SUCCESSFUL

Large Number of Women Visit the Store and Purchase Gowns at Reduced Prices.

The sale of silk dresses at Robinson's this morning brought a large crowd of women to the store in search of the bargains as advertised. For a time the store was filled to overflowing with buyers.

Many expressions of approbation were heard in regard to the quality of the goods which were offered at this time. Numerous women purchased dresses at the sale price which was $7.95. The sale is to continue for ten days.

Ernest Robinson, in speaking of the sale, remarked that he was getting rid of all the dresses at less than cost simply because of the fact that he did not wish to carry them over the winter.

LARGE LOVING CUP RECEIVED BY FIREMEN

Concord Department Receives Prize For Best Attendance at Asheville Meeting.

An immense loving cup received by the local fire department as the trophy for the best attendance is now on exhibition in The Times-Tribune window.

It is a beautiful cup, being over two feet in height and mounted on a mahogany pedestal. This is the first year that the Concord Firemen have held this cup. Inscribed on the cup is the following legend: "Presented to Concord Fire Department For Largest Attendance 38th Annual Convention N. C. State Firemen's Association, Asheville, N. C., 1925."

Dance Lovers Magazine in its August issue has a very timely article by Ned Wayburn, "How to Take Care of Your Feet," in which the advisability of wearing the right kind of shoe for your particular type of foot is stressed. Madame Eva Alberti explains how she is "Popularizing Pantomime." It seems that nearly all great dancers are finished pantomimists and their art has been acquired through constant study and much introspection. Helen Macfadden tells "How to Develop Hand-stands and Cart-wheels," and our ever popular comedian, Lew Fields, becomes serious and explains his views in "So This Is Dancing?"

If we had things to do over again, we should probably do them worse.
