KANNAPOLIS DOWNS GIBSON IN LOW-SIDED CONTEST

Track Meet Goes to North Cabarrus Boys When Simmons and Gates Are Batted All Over Field.

The mighty bludgeon wielded by the Kannapolis batters was brought into action Saturday and the up-county boys awaited two Gibson Mill pitchers all over the lot, crushing their hitherto doughy opponents beneath the overwhelming score of 13-1.

From the second inning, huge gobs of gloom settled over supporters of the local team. There was reason for the mourning. Simmons started off a trifle under the weather and fared worse the longer he remained in the box until he had to be removed in the fifth inning after Hodge sent the sphere flying over the fence for a home run which was the third tally of that frame.

Gates hurried masterfully to keep down the Kannapolis but he had to extend himself too vigorously in the early innings he was in the box and was hit all over the lot in the ninth when eight hits and a hit batter gave the visitors seven runs.

While Simmons and Gates were being crushed to the earth, Holshouser was holding Concord batters to as few hits as they have ever made. Harrill made a single in the second and Hatley, a recruit from Albemarle, who played in the University of North Carolina team last year, secured another in the third. Up to the ninth, these two blows were the only ones Gibson had been able to make. With two men out, Clemmer smacked one over the left field fence for the lone tally and he was followed by Harrill, who made a double. Andrews retired the side when he knocked a fly to left field.

The game Saturday was the third in the week for Holshouser. On Tuesday he lost to Raeford although he allowed only three hits. On Wednesday he won from Raeford, again allowing three hits. In Saturday's game he had four hits, which made for him the total of ten hits allowed in three games. He had his opposing batsmen always under control and looked better than ever before.

Simmons seemed still a trifle off color. On Thursday he was batted all over the lot in Charlotte when pitching for the Knitters and was suffering the same fate here until he was removed. This is the first game Simmons is credited with losing since he started pitching for the Gibson Mill team.

Gates, on the other hand, seemed to have the number of the Kannapolis batters from the very beginning. He fanned eight batters of the first fourteen facing him. Evidently he was pitching harder than he was able because he blew up completely in the ninth. Gates belongs to the New York Giants and, until a month ago, was pitching for High Point in the Piedmont League.

Every man on the Kannapolis team made at least one hit and at least one run. McLean led with four, a home run and three singles and Hatley followed him with a triple and two singles. Hodge made two home runs, Johnson made one and Homer Fink was only able to put across two doubles.

Clemmer made the lone tally for Gibson with his homer in the ninth. Harrill led in hitting with a single and a double.

Fielding features were the work of Gates before he took Simmons' place and the work of Hodge at second base. Gates made several flying catches of line drives which could easily have gone for extra bases. Hodge made some brilliant stops which cut Gibson batters out of sure hits.

The box score follows:

APPRECIATES WORK THE NEWSPAPERS ARE DOING

Letter Received by The Tribune From Secretary of Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce.

Editor, Tribune, Concord, N. C.

Dear Sir: The Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce has noted with keen interest the series of advertisements that are being run by your newspaper and other publications in connection with the campaign of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association to sell the South to the people of the South as well as to sell it to residents of other sections.

This effort on the part of the Southern newspapers, there is no gainsaying, will be productive of far reaching results, coming just at a time when the eyes of the country are focused on the Southern states because of the tremendous strides and era of prosperity that section is enjoying.

As an organization interested in every movement that will help make a greater South, and, in turn, a greater nation through a greater South, we would be remiss in our duty if we did not express to you our genuine appreciation of your efforts in co-operating in the campaign that is now being carried on. Therefore, this letter is to convey such an expression of our appreciation.

Wm. T. HITTER, Secretary, P. S. Winston-Salem last year paid $120,000.00 to Uncle Sam for internal revenue and other government tax.

In announcing this free scholarship, Mr. Walter Whatstone, President of the Corporation, gives the following conditions:

- The scholarship is open to any resident of Concord or any of the cities or towns in which the Southern Gas and Power Corporation operates.
- He must meet the University requirements, but may qualify for admission either by graduation from an approved High School or by examination.
- The scholarship is worth $350.00 a year, and will cover tuition charges, laboratory fees, and other incidental University expenses up to that amount.
- The appointment will be for one scholastic year, but the holder will be eligible for reappointment from year to year if he conforms in character, industry and ability with the standards and requirements of the University.
- In order to secure the scholarship, application must be made both for entrance to the University and for the scholarship, on blank forms which will be furnished by the Educational Department of the Southern Gas and Power Corporation, Room 1512, Fox Building, Philadelphia, Pa. Applications will be considered only after the applicants have satisfied the requirements for admission.
- In case of a number of qualified applicants for the scholarship, the choice of candidates will be with the faculty of The Johns Hopkins University.
- Applications should be made at once, as the scholarship is to start with the opening of the University this Fall.

Gas Industry's Enormous Growth.

So great has been the growth in all branches of the gas industry in the United States during the ten years just passed that the various large utility companies are experiencing difficulty in securing properly trained men to fill responsible positions.

The Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, Maryland, one of the world's leaders in scientific and industrial developments, recently recognized this and established a Department of Gas Engineering. This course marks unity with Electrical, Mechanical and Civil engineering in the University studies.

Some idea of the magnitude and solidity of the growth in the gas industry are given by the American Gas Association. The figures, covering the consumption of gas by American industries, are almost startling as a sidelight upon our modern advances in manufacturing methods. In 1910 American industries consumed only 7 1/2 billion cubic feet of gas in all lines of manufacture, while in 1924 they used more than 101 billion cubic feet—an increase of 1200 per cent. in fourteen years. The household consumption has likewise increased.

University Equipment.

The Gas By-Products Laboratory of the University is probably the only complete plant of its kind in America and is available for research work for students desiring to follow Gas Engineering. It includes a 400 pound retort, hydraulic main condensers, tar extractor, scrubbers, purifier, tar and ammonia tanks, and gas holders. Meters, calorimeters, and complete equipment for the examination and analysis of fuel, gas and by-products are available in the laboratories of the department.

Graduate Scholarships.

Where possible, the undergraduates are encouraged to continue their studies in the graduate courses. These courses are planned to develop fitness for independent study and investigation and offer opportunities for research and experimentation in the solution of chemical and physical problems in Gas Engineering. The University itself, to encourage advanced study in research and engineering, offers four graduate scholarships to students in the School of Engineering. These scholarships cover all tuition and laboratory fees. Candidates having their Bachelor Degree and being desirous of pursuing advanced study and research in Gas Engineering have an equal opportunity with advanced students in other departments in the schools of Engineering to secure these scholarships. Applications for these will be received at any time by the University.

Positions for Graduates.

The Department of Gas Engineering at The Johns Hopkins University makes an especial effort to maintain intimate contact with the various gas and fuel industries in and about Baltimore, which has long been a center for advanced developments in this field. Co-operative arrangements permit the use of the facilities of several of these industries for instruction and research. These contacts and the active co-operation of the Southern Gas Association, which initiated the establishment of this course and contributes officially to its support, insure to graduates consideration of their qualifications for filling important positions in the Gas industry.

New Ponzi Venture Checked.

Charles Ponzi's announced intention of going to Florida to earn an "honest living" in the real estate business has been halted, temporarily at least, by Superior Court Judge Sisk, of Boston. He sentenced the noted flim-flammer to from seven to nine years in prison for additional convictions growing out of the frenzied finance frauds of 1920. In doing so the judge referred to Ponzi as "a common thief."

Trustees of Ponzi's estate recently returned $400,000 to some 500 New England dupes who invested with Ponzi. This makes over $1,200,000 that has been paid back to date but, of course, investors lost much more than that.

As a result of a disagreement over a strike, about 200 coal miners in the Drumheller field, in Alberta, have withdrawn from the United Mine Workers and formed their own local union.

LUTHERANS MEET FOR PICNIC HERE WEDNESDAY

Churchmen of Six Counties Will Gather at Fair Ground—Dr. W. H. Greever to Speak to Crowd.

Lutherans from six counties composing the central district of the North Carolina synod will congregate here Wednesday at the fair grounds for what is expected to be one of the largest picnics ever given by this denomination in the state.

The location is ideal and every provision possible for the entertainment of the visitors has been made. The picnic was brought here at the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Kannapolis Y. M. C. A. will open the program with a concert at 10 o'clock. At 11 o'clock a special program of church music will be rendered under the direction of Hugh L. Sloop, of Mooresville, and S. Kay Patterson, of Concord. Miss Louise Taylor, of Statesville, will give a select reading. At 11:30 Dr. W. H. Greever, D. D., of Columbia, S. C., who has recently been offered the presidency of Lenoir-Rhyne College will deliver the principal address of the occasion. Beginning at 11 o'clock a special program for the children will be given in the grove. Mrs. C. O. Lippard, of Landis, is directing this feature. About 20 ladies experienced in children's work will assist with the story telling and games.

At 12:30 o'clock the 300-foot table will be filled with the basket dinner that is expected to equal, if not surpass, anything of its kind ever held in Cabarrus county. The band will furnish music at the dinner hour also.

At 2:30 o'clock an unusual feature in the form of a hillside talk to men will be given by James L. Fisher, cashier of the Salisbury branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company. Athletic contests and stunts will be held at 3 o'clock under the direction of R. W. Graeber, of Statesville. Band music and barnyard golf will fill in the gaps throughout the day.

George Klutz of Concord, is chairman of the grounds committee and has made arrangements for an abundance of ice water and provided many things for the comfort of the crowds. Sixty-five marshals will be on the grounds to assist with the orderly carrying out of the program.

This is the first event of this nature the Lutherans have held in this section, and the attendance is expected to reach 5,000 or more. Nearly one-half of the Lutherans of the state live in the central district.

Remedying the Status Quo.

"Brederin," we must do something to remedy de status quo," said a negro preacher to his congregation.

"Brederin Jones, what an de status quo?" asked a member.

"Dat, my brederin," said the preacher, "am de Latin for de mess we're in."

Rev. J. C. Rowan Preaches in Charlotte.

Christians confess or deny Christ continuously before the world in their manner of living, warned Rev. J. C. Rowan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Concord, preaching at the Second Presbyterian Church here yesterday morning. He was relieving Rev. Dr. A. A. McGeachy, who is spending his annual vacation in Europe this year. Mr. Rowan spoke in deep appreciation of a sermon that Dr. McGeachy preached for his congregation in Concord some time ago.

The visitor based his sermon on Matthew 10:32-33. He urged that Christians carefully consider that those who confess or deny Christ by their words and actions will meet with corresponding treatment by Him when they come to judgment. For their own good as well as for the upbuilding of His kingdom, he appealed that Christians be eager to live such lives as will draw others into the field.

VISITING MINISTERS ARE HEARD WITH INTEREST HERE

Rev. W. C. Alexander at First Presbyterian Church and Dr. J. B. Moose at St. James Lutheran Church.

Quite a number of Concord churchgoers heard able sermons by two visiting ministers yesterday morning. Rev. W. C. Alexander, of Nashville, preaching at the First Presbyterian Church, and Dr. J. B. Moose, of the Chicago Theological Seminary, preaching at St. James Lutheran Church.

Mr. Alexander was formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and for several years he has been coming back to Concord during the summer months to renew friendships and preach to old and new friends. He was heard with unusual interest by a large congregation yesterday.

At St. James Church Dr. Moose was heard by a large congregation on the text: "Choose ye this day whom he would serve; as for me and my house we will serve the Lord." Dr. Moose was associated with the Mt. Pleasant Collegiate Institute for several years, was pastor of several churches in the county during that time and is widely and favorably known throughout the county. His able sermon was heard with great interest.
