TODAY'S EVENTS

Friday, August 7, 1925

Centenary of the birth of Edward G. Andrews, a bishop of the Methodist Church.

Stanley J. Weyman, the celebrated English novelist, celebrates his 70th birthday anniversary today.

Christian Endeavors of North Carolina will assemble at Blue Ridge today for the annual convention of their State organization.

A great army of the Ku Klux Klan is expected to invade Washington today in anticipation of the national parade and demonstration to be held by the organization in the national capital tomorrow.

The annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen will be opened on the Schuylkill River course at Philadelphia today and continued over tomorrow.

38 Farmers in North Carolina Legislature

More than one-fourth of all the members of the North Carolina state legislature are farmers, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, which has been compiling figures of farmer representation in the state legislatures and in Congress.

Of the 50 Senators in the state legislature, 19 are farmers, states the Foundation, and 31 out of the 120 members of the lower house list themselves as agriculturists. A few divide their time between farming and banking, farming and insurance, or some other profession or occupation in addition to their farm interests.

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 5.—The buffalo herd recently shipped from Wright National Park to the Wood Bison reserve in the Far North is reported to be on its way back home.

According to trappers, the animals are making their way through the Northern woods, fording rivers and overcoming other obstacles.

More than 1000 bison were shipped north by rail and barges and were set free on the fringe of the Arctic Circle.

Dr. Chas. Anderson Dies at Statesville

Statesville, Aug. 5.—Rev. Charles Anderson, D. D., widely known Baptist minister, died at his home here tonight at 9:30 o'clock following an illness of several months of high blood pressure and kidney trouble. Funeral services will be conducted from the First Baptist church here Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and the body will be taken to his former home, Nashville, Tenn., for interment.

DOESN'T BELIEVE SHE'D BE UP BUT FOR KARNAK

"Why, But For This Glorious Medicine I Don't See How I Could Be Doing My House Work Today, Much Less Feeling So Splendid," Declares Columbia Woman

"I don't believe I would even be able to be up and doing my housework today if it hadn't been for this glorious medicine, Karnak, much less feeling so splendid," declares Mrs. Daisy Moore, of 128 Sumpter St., Columbia, S. C.

"Oh, how I did suffer with indigestion and gastritis for the past five years," continues Mrs. Moore. "I had just gotten in such a wretched state of health that I didn't know what to do.

"How terrible were the gas pains. This awful gas would simply press up into my chest and around my heart until I felt like I was going to smother. And nights when I lay down I had such fearful pains in my sides and chest that I just couldn't sleep but was miserable the whole night through. I tried so many medicines and treatments without result that I was really alarmed over my condition.

"I noticed where Karnak was helping others and made up my mind to try it, too. And oh, what a blessing four bottles of this wonderful medicine has been to me. I began improving from the very start and have been mending steadily ever since.

"All that awful gas on my stomach and indigestion have gone completely. My, what a wonderful relief it is. The pains have disappeared from my sides and chest and I just eat whatever I want and as much as I want now without it hurting me one moment afterward. And nights I simply sleep like a child.

"It just seems almost like a miracle that four bottles of Karnak could have done what it has for me. I can never praise it enough and I want to help every person I can find out about this wonderful medicine."

Karnak is sold in Concord exclusively at the Pearl Drug Co.; in Kannapolis at the F. L. Smith Drug Co. and by the leading druggist in every town.

He That Laughs Last

Not a century ago an interesting article appearing in The Tribune was to the effect that the whole population of our next door neighbor, Concord, was tickled "pink" over a report that Kannapolis had taken steps toward strengthening the personnel of the team after a nosed 4-3 victory had been administered the Kannapolis by the Concordians, Simmons, ace of pitching aces, was untried and untouched in this victory despite the fact Sid Rasinger and his Embury Ty Cobbe did their best to make Kannapolis winner. Kannapolis were assured that Simmons would be chased to the showers in the initial spasm, this writer continued. But 'twas an off day; Mr. Simmons won out; undying glory was his; the people of that city celebrated. That's what Concord snickered over.

Just one week, seven days, from that memorable date, the tables were turned on Monsieur Simmons. Gates, the whole Piedmont loop, in days gone by, was to redeem his Wake Forest gunner. And he could have had if his teammates had enough pepper to overcome a twelve-run lead. Only three measly four-base licks were collected from his Walter Johnson slants in one inning. The tide was turned, Kannapolis had romped on these big stars of the sandlot by a 13-1 time. That's what Kannapolis has been laughing over the last 120 hours. In every case, "he that laughs last, laughs best."

To Address Baseball Players.

Herman Aronson, of Charlotte, and Troye Johnson, of Bessemer City, will speak Friday evening, August 14th, at a meeting of the Twilight League which will be held at the Cabarrus Y. It was announced Thursday that members of the city team are invited to attend. The program which will be in charge of John S. Carpenter, the toastmaster of this occasion, follows:

IT IS UNANIMOUS FOR MR. DUKE'S ROAD.

Lexington Dispatch.

If James B. Duke has entertained any doubts about how the Piedmont felt toward his original plan to extend his electric railway through it are in a good way to be dispelled, yea demolished without a trace. From Charlotte to Winston-Salem the communities have given voice as of one man in endorsement of the extension now believed to be in the mind of this communities to be most directly affected by the extension of the road, but from other territory nearby that is interested in the general welfare of the section have come enthusiastic comments, as voiced through the press and through endorsements of various organizations.

These other communities know that not all the growth of the Piedmont can be compressed into the strip from Gastonia to Winston-Salem. Other towns and cities are keeping pace in their progress and the call for increased transportation will within a few years be so strong that further extension of the Piedmont and Northern cannot be denied.

Our confident prediction is that if Mr. Duke says the word to go ahead with surveying, grading and building that by the time the road is ready to operate its first car from Gastonia to Winston-Salem there will be enough new industries rising to amply supply the traffic needs of the road. Its building would the thing that would turn the scales of decision with many who are already contemplating the erection of industries in the Piedmont.

When Mr. Duke is ready to receive delegations from the territory embraced in this proposal he might as well secure the biggest hall in the city where he meets them. The committees appointed alone would fill a good size hall. Nearly every man on everyone of those committees, we daresay, would like to go along when the tide of assurance is to be rolled over the builder and philanthropist who holds in his hands so much of the present destiny of this section.

Indecent Magazines.

Winston-Salem Sentinel.

The Sentinel, which has had considerable to say from time to time on the subject of indecent matter in the form of books and magazines, is in hearty agreement with the following from The Raleigh News and Observer: "It is a safe rule for the city authorities and the book stores and news stands to put the ban on all publications and magazines which do not permit to go through the mails." This is in line with what this paper has been advocating. We wonder to what extent such a rule is being observed in North Carolina. Should it not be somebody's particular business in every community to look into the situation?
