Farms for Sale In Montgomery County

I am offering FAIRVIEW FARM, 2 1-2 miles from Mt. Gilead 12 miles from Albemarle, 6 miles from Norwood, 10 miles from Troy, consisting of 385 acres, more or less, on State Highway No. 515 which about divides the farm into two parts with 1 1-2 miles road frontage and adjoins Highway No. 74 on the north.

The peculiar location and natural advantages of this farm is unexcelled in the Piedmont section of the Carolinas and if you are at all interested in a real farm and home site you can not find a better one.

Church and school advantages are all that could be expected. A new consolidated school adjoins this property. R. F. D. mail route by the door at 10:00 a. m. daily Buildings all that could be expected and painted and in good repair. The highway through this farm will be hard surfaced within 5 years. Will sell equipment with farm if wanted.

I also offer another farm 3 miles south of Mr. Gilead, on Highway No. 51 consisting of 235 acres and the highway about equally divides this farm and because of the location and surrounding this farm is very desirable. Sufficient buildings for two farms of about 115 acres each.

This property is free from encumbrance and title beyond question. Terms can be arranged with substantial payment with responsible parties. Possession given on short notice.

LOCAL MENTION

The Y. W. A. of the First Baptist Church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock with Misses Louise and May Medlin.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," CONCORD THEATRE MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Frank Walker, of No. 9 township, was the donor of a basket of very pretty Alberta peaches to the force of the Times-Tribune office today.

According to a deed filed Thursday at the court house J. W. Reading has sold to Ed. Shehand for $2,500 several lots on Harris street, Ward five.

Police officers this morning reported three cases for trial in recorder's court this afternoon. "All of the defendants are charged with abandonment," one police officer said, "this being the first time in my knowledge that such a thing has occurred in our court." Business with the officers has been quiet this week.

The rains which fell in Concord this week were general over this section of the State, according to local persons who have motored to other cities this week.

One man who drove to Asheville said he saw signs of the rain all of the way to the mountain city, and apparently the rainfall was about the same along the route as it was in this county.

Henry Stevens, of Warsaw, spent several hours in Concord Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Stevens came to Concord on professional business, but while here called on several friends and relatives.

He is a candidate for commander of the American Legion in North Carolina and discussed his candidacy with several friends while in Concord.

Prof. J. B. Robertson, superintendent of the county schools, spent Thursday in Hickory on business.

Prof. Robertson went to Hickory to purchase some desks and other equipment for some of the schools of the county, the desks being needed for new school rooms that are being erected in preparation for the opening of the schools in the fall.

A new water hydrant has been installed at the intersection of Union and Marsh streets to replace one torn down several days ago by an automobile.

While the new hydrant was being installed water rushed from the pipes in great volume flooding the streets for several hundred feet and providing an excellent "wading hole" for a number of children.

Eggs are getting scarce on the Concord market and as a result they are getting higher in price.

This is the season of the year when most hens insist on moulting and during this period they lay few eggs.

Until a month ago eggs were plentiful on the local market, but they have increased above 25 per cent in price during the past several weeks.

The Poplar Tent road has been put in fine shape again, the entire road having been dragged this week following the rain.

It was impossible to do much work on the road while it was so dry, but immediately after the rain a scraper was put on the road and the entire stretch from Concord to the home of Shakespeare Harris was dragged.

Pittsburgh gained on New York in the National League Thursday by defeating Brooklyn while Cincinnati was defeating New York.

Boston was defeating St. Louis and Philadelphia was defeating Chicago.

In the American League New York defeated Detroit, Philadelphia and Cleveland split two games.

Washington defeated St. Louis twice and Chicago defeated Boston.

A Briton's Idea.

Editor New York Mirror: I quite agree with Liverpool Lassie's letter, in which she shows the lack of courtesy among our stenographers and factory workers.

As a man I have been more astonished at the boorish behavior of the male sex in the subway, but, after studying conditions closely, I have come to the conclusion that the women are to blame for the fast disappearing respect which they command.

In London, we never dream of keeping our seats while a lady is standing.

When I first came to New York, I tried it a few times, but gave it up, as the lady was invariably beaten to the vacant seat by a man.

Since those days I have remodeled my manners on the New York standard, and only on one occasion have I stood up, and that was for a girl I recognized as English.

In England women retain their sex, but in America the girls are being transformed into a third sex, which has the good qualities of neither and the bad qualities of both.

A DEVONSHIRE MAN.

Today's Religion.

Fall River News.

A good many people will tell you that this is "a Godless age," and that folk nowadays care nothing about religion.

Don't you believe it.

Quite frankly we believe that there is need for more religion today, and we say this without pulling a long face, or believing for a moment that the dear thing that some people think of when the word "religion" is mentioned will ever come back, or that it would do much if any good if it did come back.

But there is much real religion today, and much need for more. The mythical man in the street can be interested in religion; he often is interested in religion. He's not always willing to talk about it although a certain degree of frankness in the discussion of religious problems is one of the signs of the times.

The people need religion today, the church needs real leadership. We believe there is an increase both of real religion and of real religious leadership noticeable. And don't let anybody tell you that the people of today are not interested in religion. The signs to the contrary are all about us.
