Organizing Against Evolution.

Charlotte Observer. Two of the big men in church life were at the Dayton show. One was Dr. Charles Francis Potter, pastor of the West Side Unitarian Church, in New York; the other was likewise a New York pastor—Dr. John Roach Straton, of Calvary Baptist Church. On returning to the home base and speaking of his observations, Doctor Potter envisioned, as a result of the Dayton developments, a nationwide enactment of anti-evolution laws. This is in line with the prediction, or rather the recommendation, of Congressman Upshaw, the anti-evolution leader in his state. And on this proposition Doctor Straton is not only agreed, but he goes a step further. He makes declaration of his purpose to call "a great conference" some time in the Fall, of fundamentalist scientists and theologians to organize a counter movement "against organized materialistic and anti-Christian propaganda which brought about the Dayton trial." He believes Kentucky will be the next state to pass an anti-evolution law. The Southern states will follow in block, that the movement will then reach the West, eventually absorbing the interest of the North and East. By which Doctor Straton means to say that the anti-evolution warfare is not going to stop until it has conquered the nation. It is evident that the Darrow crowd ran up against a larger contract than it had imagined, for the Dayton "exercises" served to develop an aggressive attitude on part of the church people of a kind that had not been imagined possible. Instead of cowering the religious world, it waked it to action.

Dempsey Is Hooted In Los Angeles. Los Angeles, Aug. 10.—Jack Dempsey is no longer popular with the ringworms in Los Angeles, the place he now calls his home town.

The champion took some brutal razing at the opening of the new $1,000,000 Olympic boxing auditorium, when he was introduced, hoots and hisses greeted him. Dempsey looked place and worried, as the shouts came from all parts of the arena: "Bring on Harry Wills! What's the matter, Jack, afraid of the Big Smoke?"

REMEMBER PENNY ADS ARE CASH

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The automobile trade came in for some rather severe criticism at the recent national convention of credit men here. Auto concerns are extending too much credit, to the injury of other business and of great numbers of those it's extended, according to many of the convention delegates.

THE Jones family lives on the average American wage earner's income (Bureau of Labor Statistics figures) of $1513 a year Jones can't save much—certainly not enough to pay cash for an automobile

But he needn't pay cash. He can buy on the installment plan. It looks easy. Jones is sold.

JONES had made due allowance for his installments but not for fuel and oil and extras and repairs. All put together, these items pinch him.

He needs a new suit. His wife needs a new dress. The baby needs new shoes. Well, they can't have 'em—not until the car's paid for.

BY this time the Jones' are distinctly hard up. They have to cut down on food—perhaps cut some of it out entirely—cheaper butter, less milk, no meat some of the time. Their living standard's been lowered—except that they have a car.

THE result, the critical credit men say, is that business isn't as good as it ought to be—except the auto business.

It isn't actually bad in other lines. Building activity and other nice things more or less offset the Jones' financial stringency. Nevertheless, according to credit men, always excepting the automobile credit men, isn't as good as it would be if an over-extension of credit hadn't induced Jones to buy a car he couldn't afford.

DINNER STORIES

Professor: "Jones wasted three hours yesterday." Dean: "How do you know?" Professor: "I watched him." Waiter: "Which side of the table do you prefer to sit on, sir?" Diner: "Neither, I prefer to sit on a chair."

Gloria: "I refused Jack the first time he proposed to me." Ethel: "I suppose you were not sure you loved him?" Gloria: "Oh, yes, I was, but I knew if I accepted him the canoe would tip over."

Professor: "Your dancing is like a summer breeze in December." Pupil: "You flatter me, but please tell me why?" Professor: "So untimely, my dear."

Danger Ahead. "Has your old man found a job yet?" inquired Mrs. Blabbs. "No," replied Mrs. Scribbles, "but if he ain't careful he will." He almost applied at a place yesterday where they was needin' a man."

The Star Witness. "Look here, chief," demanded the captain of the tramp steamer, "what became of that missionary I put ashore here about six months ago?" "I refuse to answer, by advice of counsel," replied the cannibal chief, "but I don't mind telling you that there's nothing in the theory that you can't keep a good man down."

Many a man's reputation depends on what isn't found out about him. Old bachelors always look under "Marriages" for the news of the weak.

Community News. Washington, N. C., News. Its the water over the wheel that makes power—in the community as well as the mill.

If only for selfish reason you should spend your money in Washington. The dollar you spend away is a dollar gone.

The dollar you spend in Washington is a dollar that adds power and production in your home town or city—its a dollar that grinds a better grist of better advantages for you. Self-interest will show you why you receive most for your home dollar.

First. In increase in property values. This not only applies to city real estate but to farming lands in this vicinity. As a town grows and develops farm property increases even in greater values. The history of every town in the nation proves that suburban property and town property increases in proportionate values.

Second: In direct benefits—better schools, churches and public institutions.

Third: In supporting the community that supports you. You can't "have your cake and eat it too" is a true saying. Every man should patronize the institution in which he is financially interested.

There are practically as well as loyal reasons why you should spend your money in Washington. The prosperity of industries, merchants, banks and professional men means your prosperity.
