Figures from the county health office show that a total of 5,150 persons have received treatment for inoculation against typhoid during this summer. It is thought likely that the number this year will exceed those taking treatment last year.

Miss Jessie Combs left this afternoon for Greensboro, where she will spend several days with relatives. Miss Combs is recovering from an attack of appendicitis and she will spend several days in Greensboro recuperating before going on duty again.

Salisbury Post, 14th: Misses Miriam Coltrane and Virginia Reed, of Concord, and Miss Scottie Johnson, of Charlotte, spent last night in the city en route to Camp Keystone. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hurley on West Bank street.

Everything is in readiness for the August term of Cabarrus County Superior Court which will convene here Monday with Judge Lane presiding. Court will be in session three weeks, the first to be devoted to the trial of criminal cases and the last two to the trial of civil cases.

R. L. Burrage has sold to C. E. Burrage for $500 property on Meadow street, according to a deed filed Friday. Another deed records the sale of property in No. 11 township by the Hartsell Mills Co. to the Concord Bonded Warehouse and Realty Co. for $10 and other valuable considerations.

No session of the recorder's court was held Friday as no cases had developed since the session of the court Monday. Police officers, again this morning reported no new cases, the lull which started early in the week having continued through Friday and Friday night.

Joe C. McEachern, of No. 11 township, brought two watermelons to the Times-Tribune office Friday which he presented to the force. One weighed fifty pounds and one was slightly over ten pounds. Needless to say, they were much enjoyed. If any one can beat that, trot our their watermelons.

Baseball fans of Concord have no game here today and a number of them went to Kannapolis to see that team in action. The grandstand at the Gibson Park was demolished by the wind Wednesday night and as it has not been rebuilt the game scheduled for today had to be cancelled. It is not known now whether the grandstand will be rebuilt this year.

Temperatures here dropped about 12 degrees Friday afternoon following a rain which fell for a short time. The rain was accompanied by a high wind which seemed to drive off the humidity which had made temperatures this week very oppressive. At 2 o'clock Friday the mercury was around the 94 degree mark but it dropped to about 82 by 6 o'clock.

Quite a large number of tourists have passed through Concord during the past several days, most of them headed toward the mountains. The highway through Concord, via Albemarle, Wadesboro and other eastern North Carolina cities has been used by many of the tourists who find this route an excellent one to the mountains.

Auto drivers are observing traffic laws at the square in better fashion now. For a time there was some confusion about the new sign, persons showing a desire to drive across the square as soon as the traffic bell started ringing. Police asked that traffic be halted until the bell stops ringing and "GO" is flashed and observance of this rule has eliminated the confusion noted when the sign was first put in operation.

LEXINGTON WILL BE MECCA FOR KLANSMEN

Grand Dragon Henry A. Grady to Make Address Next Wednesday Night. Lexington, Aug. 14.—Lexington will be the mecca for Klansmen from throughout the Central Piedmont territory next Wednesday night, when Judge Henry A. Grady, grand dragon of the Ku Klux, comes here for an address at the Lexington Theatre. Klansmen and Klanswomen from a number of nearby towns and cities are expected to be here to hear Judge Grady.

W. C. White, of the grand dragon's office, at Raleigh, was here this morning making arrangements for this central gathering and arranged to secure the theatre for the address.

Primitive Baptists. There will be preaching at the Primitive Baptist Church Sunday, August 16th, at 11 o'clock and foot washing at 12:30 o'clock.

CHARLOTTE "MASHER" DRAWS ROAD TERM

Earnhardt Sentenced to Six Months For Advances to Young Women—Takes Appeal. Charlotte, Aug. 14.—Charlotte "smashers" will fare badly when brought into city court, Judge Currie estimated Friday morning when he sentenced George Earnhardt to six months on the county roads for alleged remarks addressed to Mrs. W. H. Grantham, 20, pretty Charlotte young woman.

Mrs. Grantham told the court that as she was on her way home Wednesday evening she was accosted by Earnhardt, who drove up to the curb in an automobile and that when she continued on her way he cursed her.

She reported the incident to her husband who later had a fight with Earnhardt over the incident. Grantham getting the worst of the encounter. Earnhardt appealed the case and was released under $400 bond.

SANATORIUM PATIENTS CROWDING INSTITUTION

(Continued from Page One) The children's ward added. Had the first request of something over a million dollars been granted 1,000 cases would have only been cared for and this would have been half of the number of beds Dr. McCain believes the sanatorium should have in view of the number of deaths by tuberculosis each year in the State.

Just across the road from the main building of Sanatorium is a ward for prisoners of the State who have tuberculosis. The Board of Sanatorium has been required to set aside 48 beds for the criminal-tuberculosis cases and also is required to care for these men out of the regular appropriation for maintenance of the institution. No extra funds have been allowed for this purpose and the fact that these beds can not be used for cases coming from the ranks of the citizenry is partly responsible for the crowded conditions now existing which make the new policy necessary.

The plan of the institution, according to its superintendent, is to care for the curable cases. Patients who remain eighteen months or longer without responding to the cure generally are classed as advanced cases not always curable. A much shorter time is necessary at the institution in order to establish the progress the disease has made. In arrested cases, patients have left Sanatorium in less than three months and after that long a stay are able to care for themselves and also to protect the public from any menace which might arise from their presence had they not been taught how to care for themselves. That is, they have been taught the proper precautions to take both to protect themselves and their fellow citizens.

"There should be 2,500 beds in the State for the treatment of tuberculosis patients," declared Dr. McCain in citing some facts concerning the disease and its presence in North Carolina. "There were 2,500 deaths from it last year and there should be one bed for every death. The State has only 848 beds which include a large number of private sanatoriums treating cases from out of the State. We have 300 beds but not all are available as 48 are reserved for prisoners.

"No appropriation for prisoners and we have to take care of them from our regular appropriation. Calgary, a city of 75,000, boasts of seven golf clubs within its boundaries, all with large memberships.

"The plan of the board is for the institution to care for the curable cases at State expense and have counties care for the more advanced cases. We are urging those able to pay to go to private institutions and make room for those unable to pay. A case that stays three years takes the room of 12 cases who could be restored to useful capacity and who if kept away would become incurable."

Mr. McCain stated that the counties pay one dollar a day for those patients sent to Sanatorium who are unable to pay for themselves and those able to pay have a rate of $1.50 a day. Some counties, he added, are now building sanatoriums for tubercular patients, some already have them and some of smaller counties expect to combine and build such institutions. In counties where the State Sanatorium has been caring for the consumptive patients and where there are no county Sanatorium will have to be cared for to the best of the county's ability at the county homes.

Of the 16 patients who have been asked to leave by September first, three are totally dependent on counties and some are being paid for by relatives or friends in whole or in part. The patients who will be affected by the order are reported to have mixed feelings on the subject. Some have accepted the ruling as inevitable when the situation the Board finds itself in is explained and are preparing to leave. Others will leave with great regret because they feel they cannot afford the treatment which the State has given at a minimum cost but which will cost a great deal more elsewhere. Other faces with dismay the prospect of transfer to county homes where adequate provision has not been made for treatment of the disease. A large number are reported indignant that the institution has been required to turn out law abiding citizens who are paying the $1 or $1.50 a day as the case may be, while tubercular patients from state prison are cared for and free of charge. Touching on this last named group, Dr. McCain expressed the opinion that at State Prison in Raleigh there are buildings where all criminal cases could be cared for releasing the beds at Sanatorium for citizens.
