LOCAL MENTION

Two cases of scarlet fever have been reported by the County Health officer, Dr. S. E. Buchanan.

The weekly meeting of the Concord Rotary Club will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock.

Mrs. A. W. Smith is confined to her home on East Depot street on account of illness. Her condition is not serious.

The Carolina Melody Makers will furnish music at the Star Theatre tomorrow (Wednesday) evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

J. C. Wadsworth, Jr., resumed his duties with the Gibson Drug Store Monday after being out several weeks following an operation for appendicitis.

Commodore Williams has been transferred from the Charlotte to the local postal department, where he has taken the city route No. 5, in place of Joe M. Green, who has taken the rural route which was formerly carried by Col. George W. Means.

In the advertisement of the Star Theatre yesterday the title of the big picture to be shown Friday should have been stated as "Wild, Wild Susan," and not simply "Wild Susan." This is a Paramount picture, with Bebe Daniels and Rod La Rocque.

A number of local fishermen hurried to their favorite fishing holes on Monday and today. The cool weather makes the fish bite better, they argue, and they wanted to get in a full day of the sport while conditions were right.

Turk McBee, Jr., the boy wonder xylophonist, who is only 12 years old, will appear at the Concord Theatre again tonight and tomorrow night at 3:30, 7:30 and 9:30. He delighted a large audience last night. Don't fail to hear him.

Another stray dog was killed by police officers this morning. The dog was found wandering about on Meadow street and as it had no vaccine tag, apparently had no home, officers killed it. Other dogs seen wandering about the city without vaccine tags will be killed, officers state.

No session of recorder's court was held Monday afternoon. Several submission cases came up but they were settled without a formal session of court. It was stated at police headquarters this morning that a session of the court will be held tomorrow as several cases are docketed for trial at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wolf will return this evening from Hickory where they spent several days at the Lutheran summer school for Sunday school workers. They will be accompanied by Miss Muriel Wolf, who has been visiting at the home of Congressman Bulwinkle, in Gastonia, for several days.

The cool weather continues, temperatures during Monday being about the same as on Saturday and Sunday. Wraps have been much in evidence here during the past several days, especially early in the morning and after sunset. No decided change in temperature is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Funeral services for Mrs. James C. Smart were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Caddell, on West Depot street. Interment was made in Beulah Presbyterian Church at Locust, the services being conducted by Rev. W. C. Wauchope, formerly pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church here.

Pittsburgh practically eliminated New York from the National League race by winning again Monday in the last game of their series, the former team now having a big lead. In the American League both Washington and Philadelphia were defeated and in the South Atlantic Charlotte's lead was cut to half a game by the Macon team.

Although several reductions have been made in gasoline prices recently, local filling stations seem unable to agree on prices. At some of the local stations the price is 25 cents while others are selling it at 24 1/2 cents, this price including the four cent State road tax. Another reduction was made Monday but it applied only to middle western States.

Western North Carolina has been unusually dry this season, but this fact has not kept hosts of Concord people from visiting Asheville, Black Mountain, Chimney Rock, Blowing Rock and other places in the western part of the State. It is said that a least a hundred Concord and Cabarrus county people went to the "Land of the Sky" Sunday for the day.

The cool weather of the past several days has brought about an increase in golf players at the Cabarrus Country Club. Many members of the club refused to play during the excessively hot weather but they have found temperatures almost ideal during the past several days and have taken advantage of the temporary cool spell to polish up their game for the fall months.
