ASSAILANT OF MRS. SIDES IS TO DIE IN THE CHAIR

Negro Declared Guilty of Assault on Former Cabarrus Woman.

Carthage, Aug. 25.—Thomas Hamilton, or John McMillan, as he is known in some sections, will die in the electric chair on Friday, the second day of October, for his brutal assault upon Mrs. J. W. Sides, of His trial, conviction and sentence amounted little more than half a day in Moore Superior Court, and it took the jury hardly more than five minutes, just enough time to file in and out of the jury box, to decide his guilt.

The sentence was pronounced by Judge McElroy, who is presiding at the term, on the convening of court after lunch hour. The usual ceremony in such cases was followed. Commanded to stand up, the negro was asked if he had anything to say as to why the sentence of death should not be passed upon him. Hamilton, clad in blue overalls, with a slight ash color discernible on his face, muttered incompletely. His exact words will probably never be known, but he is understood to have said, "Yes, sir, I place my trust in the Lord." He will die between the hours of 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. on the designated day.

It was a clear case against the negro. He was positively identified as her assailant by Mrs. Sides, who with Dr. Wyland Blue, Sheriff R. G. Frye and Officer Levitt, were the only witnesses introduced by the State. Officer Levitt told of Hamilton's admission, while he was being brought from Aberdeen to Carthage that he was at the spring where the assault took place; but his final confession, as related by Sheriff Frye, was stricken from the records on the possibility it might have been induced by fright, the sheriff having told Hamilton a big crowd of men were looking for him at Eagle Springs. Dr. Blue told of his examination of Mrs. Sides after the assault.

Hamilton is reported to have admitted his guilt to Mr. Burns. "I have been appointed to defend you," said Mr. Burns, quoted as having said to the negro, "and I would like for you to tell me the truth. Are you guilty or innocent?" The negro hesitated, "I guess I had better come clean," he is said to have replied. "I did it." This admission, if made, was treated as confidential between attorney and client and did not get to the jury.

HUNTER GORDON AND IRENE RICH IN NEW PICTURE

"The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted" Is Story of Home and Politics.

Gennie Wentworth-James popular novel has been picturized by Warner Bros., and "The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted" will begin a two-day run today at the Concord Theatre under the direction of James Flood.

It is a domestic drama which reviewers in other cities have heralded as a sincere and convincing story of a mother's sacrifice for her son.

Huntry Gordon, Irene Rich and John Harron play the leading roles of John Manning, district attorney; his wife and his son Bob. They present happy family picture which is threatened when Judge Bledsoe (Wilfred Lucas) comes to plead that Manning use his influence to save his son, who has been arrested for peddling. Manning refuses; and that night their son Bob, in a party with Diane Bledsoe (Elinor Fair) is forced into recklessness driving by a girl, and a woman passenger is killed.

Unhappy, but firm in his refusal to misuse the power of his office Manning quarrels with his wife who feels no sacrifice too great to save their boy. She goes to her old-time sweetheart, Jerome Wallace (Gayne Whitman) and pleads that he help her. Together they concoct a scheme whereby they will make her husband lose his re-election to office, so that Wallace, who is his opponent, may win and use his power to have Bob freed.

Gibson's batteries will consist of Simmons, Gates and Ferguson, Hollsouser, Sherrill and Culpe are reported as being the Kannapolis hurlers.

In addition to these pitchers, Gibson has the same old squad back with the exception of Haynes, former shortstop, who has been taken by Kannapolis. The local management, however, guarantees that in Jackson, a Badin star who has been playing with the Carolina League, they have a man in every way the equal of Haynes.

Clemmer, the very best catcher outside the big leagues, is "sick in bed" and so he will not be able to participate in the contests. However, a wire has been sent to Casey Morris, former University star, and the local management is confident that he will be here for the contest.

Casey is a wonder as a catcher. He fields perfectly and in addition is a home run slugger of note. With Casey at the bat, Clemmer will probably not be missed.

In order to stir up interest in the series, Parks-Bell Co., is offering a pair of B. F. Reynolds 10 shoes to the man on each team who makes the best batting average in the series.

Sluggers on each team are expected to put their best foot foremost in an effort to secure the boots.

The hearing was scheduled for yesterday but was continued to allow officers to make an investigation. Dilger claims the child with him is his daughter and it is charged in the warrant against him that he mistreated her by making her jump from a high diving stand while she was giving a demonstration.

County Welfare Officer J. H. Brown has been maging an investigation in an effort to get some information about Dilger. He probably will report his findings to the court this afternoon.

CHRISTY BROS. SHOW TO BE IN CONCORD SOON

Will Give an Exhibition Here on Friday, September 18th.

A horse ballet is one of the new presentations with Christy Bros. big five ring trained wild animal show. Three squadrons of high-stepping horses are gracefully put through intricate figures of dance with rhythmic action without the assistance of riders. No stage favorite could convey a keener regard for time and picture effect than these equine dancers. The animals are beautiful specimens of aristocratic breeding, amazingly educated, and go through picturesque movements with a daintiness and precision of step that is thrillingly enjoyable. This feature in its varying entirety is one of the most fascinating equine offerings ever presented under a tent.

Then the new jumping horses are quite a new addition. A trio of highly bred, blushing equines have been taught to make high jumps over obstacles that are really amazing. These steeds are champions in their class and the feats of leaping over the hurdles and other interferences is really astonishing to those who have seen feeble attempts to perform similar feats.

Sixteen high-school horses are also brought forward and they demonstrate in no mean manner how the equine is quite a factor in dancing and fancy stepping. They do all kinds of new stunts and one of the members of the troupe does a one-step that is a revelation in horse training.

The equine features will all be presented by Christy Bros. when they appear in Concord on Friday, September 18th.

The Marylebone Cricket Club of London has long held rank as the leading cricket club of the world. It has a history of over a hundred years. Three different groups were used before the club became settled, in 1814, at the present Lord's ground in St. John's Wood. Lord, who was professional cricket promoter, had run two of the previous grounds, and at each migration took up the original turf and re-laid it on the new site.
