BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY A Love Feast:—Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred therewith.—Proverbs 15:17.

AFTER JAY-WALKERS. Charlotte police officers now are conducting a campaign to educate pedestrians as to the proper way and time to cross streets.

The problem that faces Charlotte faces every other city. It is as hard to educate the pedestrian as it is the auto driver.

BETTER BUSINESS IN TEXTILES. Cotton mill men are more optimistic, although business with them is not all that could be desired.

MUSCLE SHOALS AN ASSET NOW.

The government is using Muscle Shoals now to aid some sections that are suffering from lack of water. Power development at the giant plant has been turned loose to aid industrial plants which have been forced to suspend operations through lack of power.

The government may lease part of the Shoals property at some future day, but it is to be hoped that the power plant will be retained so it can be used to the greatest advantage.

Suspend Operations Two Days Instead of One.—Is Result of the Drought. Charlotte, Aug. 28.—The unprecedented drought is exerting an increasingly important effect toward disorganizing industry in the Carolinas.

Livingston's Cotton Letter.

New York, Aug. 31.—The bearish sentiment which was in evidence on the declines of the last week appeared to have gained strength if any thing over the week-end.

French courts have ruled that editors are compelled to print at full length replies from those who have been attacked in the newspapers.

THE LIMITED MAIL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. "THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, in a dramatization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued "I've been afraid you two boys were both getting stuck on Caroline, Bob," the Widow ventured.

Something Bob managed to smile mechanically and stammer away, more deeply mired in trouble, sicker at heart, than before; assumed that the latest probability that he had unconsciously grown into rivalry for a girl with his best friend.

It could not—must not—be true—that he and Jim were rivals for Caroline; that would be too starkly tragic, too unkind even for the sort of malignant Fate that had harassed him before and now, after a respite of five years, was at work again.

Jim was too quick for her; he caught her hand to his own lips.

He refused to believe it; and he goaded himself to approach with hesitation the door of the little cottage. Nevertheless, something cautioned furtiveness and stealth when he had his hand on the knob; some latent instinct of suspicion, that he was ashamed of but weakly obeyed.

From the hall he could see, without himself being observed, through to the dining room and thence to the kitchen, the doors being open in deference to the humidity of the summer night.

As Caroline set the cake down on the table she noticed with a little gasp of dismay that a portion of the soft floating was cascading over the rim of the plate; it was an emergency that required the quick and deft use of a practised forefinger in order to save the table linen from being messed.

Demonstration in Foresty Work. Mocksville, N. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—An old, run-down farm was recently purchased by the Methodist Children's Home of Winston-Salem.

Handshake Guide to Love.

The handshake is a correct and infallible guide to true love. This is the contention of Dr. David V. Bush, a teacher of applied psychology.

The exponent of applied psychology thinks "probable can be avoided by proper character analysis before the courtship advances too far."
