

Everybody Wins Is Slogan In The Tribune Times Big Subscription Campaign

Big Enough to Interest the Very Biggest Men and Women in Concord and This Territory.

FEW CANDIDATES ONLY UP TO DATE

Make Up Your Mind and Get in the Race at Once. Phone 579 For Further Information.

There are in all probability few business men in this territory who will clear $2110 in the next two months. Certain it is that the average man and the man above the average is not piking up $600 to $1200 a month these days. Yet the Concord Tribune and Times is putting up over $10,000 in cash and motor cars to be given away in a few short weeks to men and women who will make some effort to help themselves.

Big Enough For You. If you were approached with a proposition that stood you to make $1,000 to $2,000 in the next few weeks you would stop short and think wouldn't you? It doesn't make any difference how big you are. The bigger you are the more you will pause. You would hear the proposition. You would consider it. If at all reasonable you would take it. Of course you would.

Right now in these times, when men are thinking of the necessity for getting money, when men are trying hard to increase their incomes, $2,000 is a sum that is to be desired, no matter who you are.

Campaign Just Starting. The Tribune and Times four automobiles and cash prizes. "Everybody Wins" campaign is just starting. It has been slow and it is slow. There ought to be at least as many active candidates as there are prizes.

Not Really Under Way. The Tribune and Times "Everybody Wins" campaign is big enough to interest the very biggest men and women in Concord and this territory. But what has been the result—everyone has been expecting everyone else in and few get in. Every one expects everyone else has a million subscriptions and few actually have anything, so to speak.

Use Your Head. Consider this as you would any business proposition. Outline your course of action—then go out and put it over. Are you big enough? Have you ability enough? Or are you hiding behind the screen of "not time enough"—"too busy on my little job here to make from $1,000 to $2,000 in part time."

Cut out the nomination blank in this issue. Bring it or mail it to the campaign department, room 209 Cabarrus Savings Bank Building. The campaign manager will be there from 9 in the morning until 9 at night to greet you. Call on him. He is here to serve you. If it is not convenient to call, ask that a representative be sent to you. Don't delay—delays are dangerous. Make up your mind. Get in and phone 579 for further information. Surely you must be interested in making more money than the most successful merchant in the city during the same period of time. Now it is up to you entirely.

FAKE STOCKS

Shrewdness and Plausibility of Those Putting Such Stocks on the Market. Raleigh, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The shrewdness and plausibility of the sales argument of concerns putting fake or doubtful stock on the market appears to increase in about the same proportion as does the wariness of small investors in stocks and bonds. North Carolina people, for example, are getting educated to the idea of submitting proposed investments to the judgment of their bankers. And now the sales argument has become plausible enough to fool even those allegedly hard-headed business men, or at least some of them.

The latest proposition that has been deluging the mails of North Carolina investors, as well as those of other states, is the "shrewdest" that has yet come to the attention of I. M. Bailey assistant commissioner and general counsel of the State Corporation Commission, in charge of the capital issues law. Mr. Bailey said today. Mr. Bailey has the work that formerly was known as enforcement of the "blue sky" law. That, and the warning of investors against fake stock selling schemes.

This latest proposition, that of selling "bankers' certificates" on stock of the Ford Motor Company, of Canada, Ltd., has been primarily because the promoters have tied up with a name that inspires the confidence of thousands of small investors. And though the Ford Motor Company has publicly voiced its disapproval of the thing being done by these promoters, there is probably nothing that company can do to stop it, Mr. Bailey said. He emphasized, in discussing the subject, that the Ford Motor Company was in no way responsible for the thing being done, and that the stock, against which these certificates are being sold, is itself, of course, valuable. It's value, however, is about 50 per cent of what it is being sold for, he said.

The plan is simply this, as outlined by Mr. Bailey: These promoters buy the stock—which actually exists, of course—on the market at whatever the market price is, recently around $40 a share. They then issue 100 "bankers' certificates" for some other name is given, frequently—against this one share of stock. These certificates are offered the public at $10 each. Thus, if an investor buys 100 certificates, at a cost of $1,000, he can exchange them for a share of stock—worth around $400. If he purchases less than $1,000 worth of certificates the first time, he is sent a "follow-up" letter in which it is explained that to get his share, it will be necessary to purchase the remainder of 100 certificates.

Notable about the letters is the fact that there is a definite time limit—usually too short to make a careful investigation possible—during which this stock may be purchased at the price offered. The sales letters also limit the amount of certificates that may be purchased by any individual. The letter at least makes the offer as "to you, as an owner of a Ford automobile."

Mr. Bailey has correspondence to show that at least one banker put his okay on the plan, when it was submitted to him by a prospective investor—who later wrote Mr. Bailey. Among those mentioned by Mr. Bailey as operating along this line were the Continental Company, of Jersey City; Marshall and Company, of New York; and the Interstate Fidelity Company, of Jersey City.

STATE SAVED MONEY IN JULY, LATE REPORT SHOWS

Balance of $76,572.35 Shown For the State by Report of Auditor. Raleigh, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The State treasury general fund had a clear balance of $76,572.36 in receipts over disbursements for the month of July, 1925, a statement issued from the governor's office today showed, July was the first month of the fiscal administration of Governor McLean, and the completion of the other two units will be one of the most complete in the South.

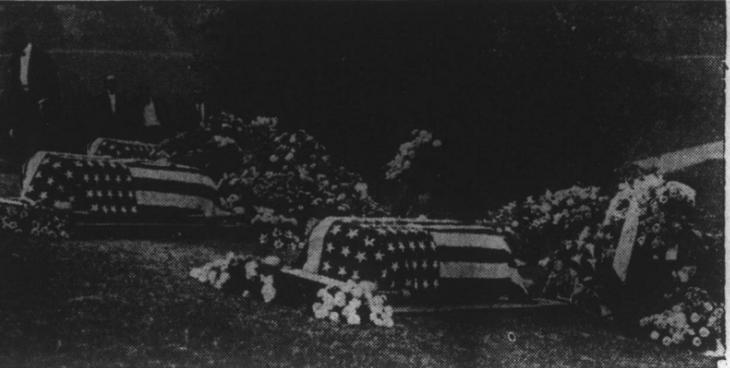

The addition of a number of strong men to the faculty along with internal changes has improved that element of the college. The incoming freshman class is smaller than that of last year, although nearly three hundred men were denied admission on account of lack of room and lack of the facilities for properly handling more than the number admitted. The number of overuppermen returning is the largest ever known, and the percentage is the greatest.

The college is greatly changed with the completion of the first unit of the $600,000 Chambers Building in which unit the administration offices and a great number of the classes are now housed. There are ten offices for the officials of the school, ten for the faculty, twenty class rooms. The building is modern throughout, and with the completion of the other two units will be one of the most complete in the South.

Asheville, Sept. 12.—(AP)—All records for forest fires during the month of August were broken in Western North Carolina last month when 23 fires with a property loss of $72,828 was recorded, according to a partial monthly report today of Thos. Alexander, forest warden for the western district. During August 4,993 acres of timber land were burned over.

12th Hoop in Chicken Coop. High Point, Sept. 12.—Hattie hides her hoops in the chicken coop. So say Plainclothes Officers Winberly and Hancock, who report that Hattie Johnson, negro, has been arrested here, because they found a gallon and a half of liquor hidden in a chicken coop on the woman's premises. The chicken coop, the officers say, is the most unique place in which they have yet found whiskey hidden.

PROFITABLE WOUNDS.

Precautions Taken at the Famous Diamond Mines at Kimberly. London, Sept. 12.—The recent announcement that a leading firm of American bankers has acquired a large financial interest in the so-called diamond syndicate which controls the South African field, has served to call attention to the precautions taken at the famous diamond mines at Kimberly against the risk of workmen stealing the precious stones.

The mines themselves are surrounded by a high stockade. The laborers, native Kafirs, are signed on for a period, during which they are not allowed to leave the compound. Every effort is made to keep them comfortable and amused. Their wages are only about five dollars a week, with four and lodging, but this is rather good pay when it is considered how simple are a native's requirements.

The workers' clothing is searched, especially when double thickness of the cloth makes concealment easy. Their bodies are also examined for any signs of scars or sores, as a Kafir will often cut his flesh open, insert a stone, and allow the flesh to close over it, opening the wound again at his leisure.

One Kafir made several profitable excursions from the mine; each time he left the enclosure he took with him two diamonds the size of small beans, which he had concealed in the crease of flesh between the thumb and first fingers of his hands.

DAVIDSON BEGINS ITS 90TH SESSION

Greatest Number of Men in History of Davidson Enrolled. Davidson, Sept. 11.—Classes began this morning for the 90th session of Davidson College, the greatest number of men in the history of the institution enrolled for what promises to be a banner session. Six hundred and forty seven students had been received in the early registration and though as usual some of these are late in showing up there are many waiting on the waiting list for a chance at entering.

In fact there are a good number of men at Davidson without a room and without being enrolled who await just the chance of getting into the college. Students have been piling in to the school since Monday, though the football squad was here on the first of September. Tuesday and Wednesday were registration days, while chapel Friday morning at 8:30 marked the official opening of the college.

The incoming freshman class is smaller than that of last year, although nearly three hundred men were denied admission on account of lack of room and lack of the facilities for properly handling more than the number admitted. The number of overuppermen returning is the largest ever known, and the percentage is the greatest.

Americans Start Klan in Germany; Traitors to Be Tortured to Death

Berlin, Sept. 12.—Three Americans, two of them described by the police as German-Americans, and the third as a "100 per center" are the leaders in a movement uncovered here today to establish in Germany an order to be known as the "Knights of the Fiery Cross," along lines of the Ku Klux Klan in the United States. Thirty or forty arrests in connection with the discovery of the organization already have been made, and the police say more are to follow. One thousand Germans are participating with the American leaders, whose names the police refuse to disclose.

The purpose of the organization is to unite, irrespective of parties, all men determined "to fight for the liberation of the Fatherland," and by waging war on Jews, to free the country for undesirable. Ceremonies of the Ku Klux Klan are said to have been copied. The in-

CROP OF YEAR 1881 WAS BIG FAILURE

But in the Year 1882 Farmers Made Everything, Says Old Timer of Greenwood. Greenwood, S. C., Sept. 12.—Comparing conditions this year with conditions in 1881, a clamorous dry year for two or three generations, has been quite a favorite pastime this summer but little has been learned about 1882, the banner crop year of the 80's and perhaps the best that ever this immediate section has known.

T. P. Tolbert, who has a vivid recollection of the parched days of 1881 has just as good a recollection of the following year and he talks interestingly of the contrast. "There was no comparison at all," Mr. Tolbert declares. "It was just a wide contrast because practically nothing was made in 1881, while everything was made in abundance in 1882."

Mr. Tolbert recalled that in 1881 he made four bales of cotton and 25 bushels of corn with two mules. He used a ton of fertilizer to make the four bales and all that he got out of the crop was a ticket to the Atlanta exposition field that year. The corn, he states, was all made on bottoms, upland corn being a complete failure.

The next year, Mr. Tolbert remembers, he had a smaller acreage in cotton and he realized 20 bales with three mules. Not a pound of commercial fertilizer was used. And his corn land, upland and bottoms, yielded him 1,000 bushels of corn. Everything grew that year.

Mr. Tolbert also recalls that although it did not rain a drop during the month of August many farmers sowed in their cotton land early in September and showers began to fall and a great out crop was made.

GOVERNOR McLEAN ASKS FOR PRAYERS FOR RAIN

Fire in West Palm Beach, Fla. Sept. 12

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Fire believed to be of incendiary origin is raging in Pleasant City, the black belt of this city, ten houses having been destroyed at 11 o'clock. This is the third fire in the same location in the last several months.

Indians of Glacier National Park raised enough wheat last year to keep two government-built flour mills grinding this grist.

GUNBOATS ORDERED TO NICARAGUA AS SAFETY MEASURE

Disturbed Political Situation in That Country Is Given as Cause For Request for Gunboats.

AMERICANS ARE SAFE IN TOWNS

But It Is Not Known When Crisis May Arise and the Boats Will Be On Hand to Give Protection.

Washington, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The gunboats Tulsa and Denver are proceeding from Panama to the ports of Corinto and Bluefields, Nicaragua, respectively, as a precautionary measure thought necessary by the American legation in Nicaragua due to the disturbed political situation in that country.

No landing operations are in contemplation as no American lives or property have been actually endangered. The situation in Nicaragua is uncertain, however, because of the recent military group in which all but conservative members of the cabinet were ousted from office, and liberal leaders were compelled to flee.

The constitutional government is functioning with the conservative officials only on duty. No fighting or any other disorder has been reported. The American legation has taken the position, however, that it would be desirable to have war ships available at each of the chief ports in the event that the political situation takes a more serious turn.

TWO ASPHYXIATED BY GAS IN A WELL

Used Straw and Kerosene-Soaked Rags in Trying to Set Off Charge. Monroe, Sept. 11.—Thomas Terry, 52, and H. B. Thomas, 31, both white men, were asphyxiated by foul gas in the bottom of a well Terry was digging on the farm of Wiley Green, in Buford township, Union county, this week.

Thomas, a neighbor, had gone into the well to help out Terry, who became sick from the gas, and had climbed up the ladder and almost reached the top, when he fell back striking Terry and knocking him into the water. Both died before they could be brought to the top.

Terry had put in a charge of dynamite Monday in order to blast through the rock struck when the well had been sunk about twenty feet. He used wheat straw and kerosene rags in trying to set off the charge, but had failed. He had left the well until today, going back after he thought there would be no danger of an explosion. The straw and oiled rags were thought to have assisted in forming the foul gas.

THE COTTON MARKET

Easy Liverpool Cables and Reports of Cool Weather in South Affected the Market. New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of two to ten points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of cool weather and showers in the South. There was considerable trade and Liverpool buying, but realizing was heavy in the early trading. December sold off to 23.82, a net decline of about 16 points, later rallying 5 or 6 points from the lowest.

Lower temperatures reported in the South were generally considered favorable, but there was the usual difference of opinion as to the effects of rain. Buying on the decline was promoted by reports of an active demand for cotton goods in the local market. Cotton futures opened steady: October 23.62; December 23.93; January 23.40; March 23.70; May 23.60.

President Coolidge May Select Some Man Who Is Already in the Diplomatic Service. Washington, Sept. 12.—(AP)—President Coolidge's list of available for Ambassador to Japan now includes men already in the diplomatic service, as well as outsiders.

A selection will be made after Mr. Coolidge has conferred with Secretary Kellogg, probably next week.

High Shoes For Women Back in London Style

London, Sept. 12.—High shoes for women, after having been in banishment eleven years, again will be in fashion on the streets of London this winter. The shoes will not be the plain black-and-tan of years ago, but will be of highly colored leathers and snake and crocodile skins, jeweled and other fancy heels will add a piquant touch.

Autumn styles in men's footwear will be of many shades—green, red, blue and brown—to match the clothing. The heels will be higher. CREW TALKS OF MANY TROUBLES

Fear of Sharks One That Faced Crew—Commander Rogers Gives Detailed Account of Experience.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Rested, happy and asleep, America's five heroes of aerial navigation were at Pearl Harbor today recovering from their strenuous cruise in which they were cast about by vagrant winds, in mid-Pacific for nine days on the seaplane PN-9 No. 1. The men were ordered to bed at the hospital last night after their arrival from Lihue aboard a steamer. They were received with open arms by the land populace, headed by Governor Wallace Farrington.

Every member of the crew told a sparkling story of their unprecedented adventure. John Rodgers, commander, dictated a statement detailing the sensations which came to him during the nine day trip, and his associates augmented his story with many details. The statement revealed the innate modesty of every member of the crew. Each declined to take credit for his own daring acts of heroism but all pointed to "Captain John's optimism in the face of disaster and privation as the saving grace of the situation."

"Captain John" in turn poured his compliments on his subordinates. The presence of carrion sharks which trailed in the wake of the drifting seaplane, the ability to hear radio messages telling that the men were believed dead, the inability to dispel these messages of despair, by failure of the radio generators, which prevented broadcasting, all these conditions failed to dim the hopes of reaching land unaided.

Only when they were picked up 15 miles from land by the submarine H-4 were they momentarily disappointed. For after drifting 400 miles they expected to move into land unaided. Story Belonged to Whole World. Lihue, Island of Kauai, Sept. 12.—The decision to have Commander John Rodgers issue an official statement of the events of the flight of the PN-9 No. 1 was made following a conference of the seaplane's crew as Rogers and Lieut. Connell had both been deluged with offers for "exclusive stories."

Five men who had made the flight and had been rescued after floating on the Pacific for more than 9 days, agreed that the story of their experience belongs to the whole world if the world wanted it, and they decided that Commander Rodgers should be their spokesman.

The commander told the story while stretched out on a bed aboard the destroyer MacDonough, en route from Nawilwiwi to Pearl Harbor, relating it to a stenographer whose notes were quickly transcribed and sent out from the radio room. Rogers' narrative was given haltingly at times, just as "the skipper had talked many times during the long nights adrift." He groped for words and ideas. They came hard, but he kept on despite the physician's warning "don't talk too much."

Two of the larger buildings that are going up here are the buildings being erected by the Hickory Chair Company, to cost about $150,000, and the new hotel, which is expected to involve an output of $300,000.
