Mrs. Morgan was well known and generally liked in the community and her death brings sadness to her many friends.

According to ancient Chinese geographers, the Island of Formosa was formed when fire dragons swam out into the China Sen, plowing the bottom until a series of hills were heaved up. This is a highly poetic and yet true description of volcanic action.

Tom Thumb Wedding.

By far the most enjoyable evening's entertainment of the summer was a Tom Thumb Wedding on Thursday evening at the Cannon Y. M. C. A. This was planned and executed under the leadership of Miss Minnie Lee, woman's work secretary, assisted by Mesdames Robert J Saunders, Sam Query, Hugh Parks, and Leon Smith. The ceremony was held in the very spacious lobby of the building. A color scheme of green and white was most effectively carried out, the handsome rugs and furnishings lending themselves adaptably to decoration. In front of the huge fireplace at the west end of the lobby an altar was charmingly improvised. Here Sam Query, Je., took his place as officialing minister and garbed in priestly robes of white and black a real preacher could hardly have mastered more dignity. Sam is barely school age and in memorizing the many syllabled words employed in uniting the happy couple in "the iron bonde of padlock" he showed well defined marks of brilliance.

have devoted more attention to the important task of passing the ring to the growth, of ithe proper moment, than to giving the charming little Dorothy the right corner of his eye, nor did he relax his devotion but attended her constantly during the reception which followed the wedding.

Other members of the wedding party were: George Allen, father of the bride, who gave her in marriage; Tom Walton Allen, Buster Allred, C. B. Wiseman and Billy Peeler, groomsmen; Lucille Harmon, Mary Catherine Benson, Mamie Ingram, Cora Dee Propst, bridesmaids; Pauline, Hargis Beaver, Jane Ellen Allred, Gladys Ingram, Agnes Payne, flower girls; Gather Nolan Coggins, train bearer to the bride; Lillian Kirk Demarcus, who carried the ring; Carolyn Craven, Mildred Oakes, Evelyn Benson, Mary Clair Gillon, and Adelaide Allred, mother of the bride, and "old maid" relatives of the wedded pair.

Mrs. Leon Smith at the piano and Mr. Fred Reuther with violin, provided a splendid program of nuptial music.

Following the ceremony a recep-
