It is impossible for us in cold words to give you any idea of the PIANOS and PLAYERS; how good they are, or, as a matter of fact, anything but a vague description. The prices do not start to convey an idea of the quality or value. Just because the prices are low do not think they are not real good instruments. The prices are low because we want to dispose of every instrument on our floors before starting alterations to take care of our increasing business. It will pay you to call to see and hear them at least. If you are not convinced that every one is a real bargain and worth much more than we are asking do not buy. We are staking our reputation on this sale, and know that new laurels will be added through new customers and friends we will make. Call at once and get the PIANO or PLAYER you have wanted for so long.

WALKER DEFEATS HYLAN

Tammany Man Chose Over Present Mayor By About 100,000 Votes. New York, Sept. 16.—Mayor John F. Hylan, stormy petrel of New York politics for the last seven years, was defeated for re-nomination in today's primaries by State Senator James J. Walker. Tammany's defeat, by a majority of more than 60,000 with about two thirds of the vote counted. He gained steadily all night, the metropolitan newspapers, which supported Mayor Hylan, predicted that Walker's plurality finally would reach 100,000.

Returns from 2,020 election districts out of 2,908 in the city, tabulated at 1:30 a. m., gave State Senator James Walker 165,275 votes against 104,724 for Mayor Hylan.

In the Republican contest only 1,000 districts had been heard from. These gave Frank Waterman 40,154; John J. Lyons, 5,385, and William M. Bennett 1,518.

Hylan's defeat was conceded by John H. McCoey, King's county leader and manager of the Hylan campaign, who also issued a statement asserting that there would be no third ticket.

Governor Smith's old east side district, under the shadow of Brooklyn bridge, gave Senator Walker one of the biggest majorities of any district in the city. The vote was: Walker 302; Hylan 15.

To Quit Politics. "I am getting out of politics with a clean record. I have done my best." The name he used, said he left a party at the Hylan home in Brooklyn, that the mayor appeared to be in a jovial mood.

Governor Smith late tonight made the following statement.

"The Hylan-Hylan campaign of slander and abuse has been answered by the enrolled member of the Democratic party."

The governor later said he was "tickled to death" with Walker's victory. He added that the victory had given comfort and courage to the Democratic party, not only in the city, but up-state.

STUDENTS REGISTER AT CATAWBA COLLEGE

Arrivals Exceed Expectations of the College Officials.

Salisbury, Sept. 15.—Registering of students for Catawba College, which is reopening in Salisbury, which is Monday and the number registering is in excess of the expectations of the college authorities. However, there is room for a few more students and the college is expected to be filled to capacity before the week ends. More than 100 have registered, Tuesday evening at 7:30 the formal reopening of the college will take place, a feature of this program to be an address by Dr. A. T. Allen, state superintendent of public instruction and formerly superintendent of the Salisbury schools.

Mr. Everett Explains

Statesville Daily. Secretary of State Everett admits that the newspapers quoted him correctly when he was represented as saying, anent the Rockingham homicide, that when the public gets Cole's side they will marvel that Cole so long restrained himself. But, says the secretary of state, he was simply commenting on the change in public opinion. That while sentiment was very much against Cole in his home town at first, it has been changed by getting the other side. Mr. Everett disavows any purpose to glorify shooting or to justify the resort to weapons for the settlement of private difficulties.

But Mr. Everett's error was in his failure to put in his first talk the qualification he now adds. Evidently he did not, for he distinctly says he talked as the papers quoted him. While he avers he was talking only about the change in sentiment, and how people see differently when they get all the facts, his saying in effect that the public would owe Cole a vote of thanks when all the facts were known, without adding the saving clause he now adds, left the distinct impression that he felt that Cole was justified. That he so intended or not, and the people who knew that Everett as a friend and kinsman of Cole were confirmed in the feeling that the secretary of state was justifying the killing not only, but that his interview was premeditated propaganda to help Cole. This paper wouldn't do the secretary of state an injustice, but he is to blame for the impression he made, and he is intelligent enough to know that. Under all the circumstances surrounding the case, the very impression would be created that was created. He now sees his error and adds that he doesn't approve that method of settling difficulties. Mr. Everett can say of course that he thought the people would know he would not approve the settlement of grievances by target practice, and he felt it was unnecessary for him to say that. Not under the circumstances. Blood is thicker than water. The distinct feeling was that the secretary of state, a high public official, was trying to justify his kinsman.

Post and Flagg's Cotton Letter.

New York, Sept. 15.—A continuation of both trade and speculative buying forced the market this morning to new high levels for the movement. What minor reactions there were met with a heavy demand on every dip.

The heavy rains in Oklahoma and an increasing number of inquiries reported in the dry goods centers together with a strong spot basis gave the bulls further encouragement. Towards the close, however, the inability of prices to work through the 25-cent level brought out rather heavy profit taking.

Sentiment likewise became a trifle reactionary as there has as yet been no substantial reaction and many feel that the technical position of the market is rather weak and a readjustment is in order.
