Elinor Glyn Shocked by Flappers

Girl of Today Loses Wedded Happiness Through Indiscriminate Petting, Says Authority on Heart Affairs

ELINOR GLYN, bold creator of intimate love novels, is shocked by the modern flapper. The girl of today, she feels, needs a word of warning. In October "Smart Set," in an article headed "Do You Wish to Keep the Man You Love," she delivers that word. We quote some of her, breath-taking statements:—

"Quantities of mental grandmothers are horribly shocked at the modern scantiness of raiment, and deplore that so many useless under-garments have been dispensed with. But they cannot but admit that health is better now, beauty far greater, and general freedom of action advanced. None of the fundamentals have been injured by modern dress.

"What does injure the fundamentals of human character is alcohol, because it hurts the health and unbalances the mind.

"Too much of petting parties and pawing and mauling and going as far as you can in arousing the sex instinct is harmful too, because the sensory nerves gradually become numb with over-use, and are no longer capable of registering pleasure.

"Cheap and vulgar behavior in chasing men, are equally injurious, simply because they do not lead to their own ends. The silliest girl can grasp this—that if you want to get a ball over the net at tennis, you do not deliberately send it into the court. Numbers of men are led to go on with the slipshod, the flimsy—admittedly desirable—game of being the game, lites, though their intention is to lose him. It is as quickly as possible to be able to arouse the sex instinct in a man, but to keep him if she be the modern girl is another matter. It is not the man's side of the matter that she should be interested in, but his. He believes, and she believes, in an inspiration to him, and she will fight his hunting instinct and the difficulty she will find in playing the new part may be of excitement and pleasure to herself."

THREE MEN ARE JAILED ON SAFE ROBBERY CHARGE

One Admits Crime and Says He Did Whole Job Himself.

Salisbury, Sept. 18.—Officers here are holding three young white men for robbing and the men's car and pistol are being held at Statesville where they were arrested last night soon after they are alleged to have hold up Boots Nesbit at a filling station here and robbed the safe. One of the men, Glen Hayes, admitted the hold-up and robbery, according to the officers, and claimed that he did the job by himself.

The men with Hayes gave their names as William Morris and James Lee. They were traveling in a car with an Indiana tag. At the Cutting filling station where the Statesville road leaves town the men held up Nesbit who clerks there and made him open the safe. To keep Nesbit quiet one of the men struck him over the head but the wound inflicted was not very severe. The safe yielded seventeen dollars but the visitors missed quite a sum which Nesbit had on his person.

Soon after the hold-up city and county officers were in behind the bandits in a chase towards Statesville. News was sent ahead and Statesville officers nabbed the men. They will be given a hearing here next week. The men are about twenty years old and say they are from South Bend, Ind. and had been in Atlanta, coming from that place to Salisbury yesterday. Hayes says he is out on parole from an Indiana prison where he was doing time for another hold-up job.

TAXI DRIVER IS FINED FOR SPURNING A TIP

Court Rebukes Him for Hurling Pennies into Patron's Face.

A taxicab chauffeur, whose insult to a patron had given him a 50 per cent tip on a 20 cent meter, so excited the patron's companion, that fair person says, that she left a pocketbook containing $120 in the cab, which is a "tip" of just about 6,000 per cent to her way of figuring, was found guilty of disorderly conduct yesterday in West Side court.

The chauffeur, Benjamin Knaster, 28, No. 502 Brook Ave., the Bronx, was accused by Dr. Joseph Klein, No. 358 Fulton St., Jamaica, Queens, and the physician's companion, Miss Theresa Craig, of Long Beach.

They said that, given 30 cents on a 20-cent meter reading, Knaster became wild with rage and threw five pennies into Dr. Klein's face. This story was believed by Magistrate Simpson, who bitterly assailed taxicab drivers who voice insults when they think the tip is too low.

"A 50 per cent tip is high enough even on a small charge," he said, "and him open the safe. To keep Nesbit quiet one of the men struck him over the head but the wound inflicted was not very severe. The safe yielded seventeen dollars but the visitors missed quite a sum which Nesbit had on his person.

Editor New York Mirror: I am surprised to read of Madeline's letter in which she points out that she can not see why any girl should object to her husband's keeping company with other girls. I am certain that if Madeline had a husband she wouldn't wish to see him going around with other girls. If a man can do that, then a woman can do the same with other men. What then is to become of the home? I am not married, and thus have no husband to protect from designing females, but I certainly would feel mean if I accepted anything in the way of pleasure from a married man.

"But supposing that she has come through the manhandling and the pawing and the mauling and the kissing, with some ideals left, and has succeeded in winning a nice man, how is she going to keep him?"

"There are certain primitive instincts in man which make him subconsciously desire that the woman he loves should be only for his own use. He is quite unaware of this; it is all subconscious, and he may even aver and believe that he favors the modern knock-out punch. But his subconscious mind is not so easily fooled. It is not so easily able to arouse the sex instinct in a man, but to keep him if she be the modern girl is another matter. It is not the man's side of the matter that she should be interested in, but his. He believes, and she believes, in an inspiration to him, and she will fight his hunting instinct and the difficulty she will find in playing the new part may be of excitement and pleasure to herself."

American Earl

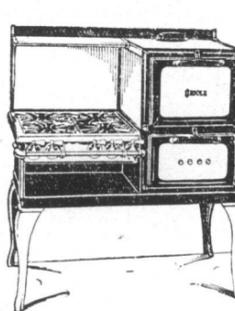

Here is Oliver H. Wallop, big ranch owner near Sheridan, Wyo., who has just received the title of Earl of Fortmouth, through the death of a brother in London. He says he will never sit in the House of Lords, because to do that he would have to renounce his American citizenship.

A pen of hens exposed to ultra from a photograph to soothe the nerves of his patients when extracting troublesome molars. He claims the music is as effective as the ordinary anesthetics.

PAINS ALL OVER

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improvement—Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.

Weathersby, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."

"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall. "I was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship.

"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength.

"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness."
