

SOUTH IS FACTOR IN INTERNATIONAL COMMERCE AT LAST

For This Reason National Foreign Trade Council Will Hold Next Annual Meeting in Charleston.

SOUTH BUILDING UP ITS TRADE

Succeeded West as Most Rapid Section of United States in Originating Its Trade With Foreigners

New York, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The South is succeeding the west as the most rapidly growing section of the United States in originating foreign trade.

The National Foreign Trade Council declared today, announcing that the 130th annual convention will be held at Charleston, S. C.

The convention will last from April 28th through April 30, 1927. It will mark the first important national convention held in that famous city since the Democratic Convention in 1860, which refused to nominate Stephen A. Douglas.

At least 1500 delegates are expected to visit the city and to tour the cotton mill towns, steel plants, and new Southern port developments.

ONE KILLED AND FORTY ARE HURT

Dixie Flyer and Fast Express Train Collide Head-On Near Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 24.—Mrs. H. C. Beyer, of Clouet, Minn., was instantly killed and forty others injured, a number seriously, when northbound Dixie Flyer and the southbound express train on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad crashed head-on near Worley, ten miles south of this city, at 3:45 this afternoon.

Both trains plunged from the track, the Dixie Flyer turning over twice down an embankment on one side of the track and the express train landing upside down on the other side.

J. M. Cooper, of Atlanta, fireman on the northbound train, who jumped before the crash and suffered only minor injuries, told the following story:

"I was cooling, and Hamby, of Smyrna, Ga., was at the throttle. I could not say just how fast we were going, but I think it was pretty fast. We rounded a curve and I heard Hamby cry out, 'Lord of mercy' or something like that. Glancing out of the side of the cab I saw the locomotive of the other train roaring down upon us. I jumped, striking my right hip by the side of the track. I could not venture an opinion as to how it happened, or whose fault it was—it was all over so quickly."

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 24.—Failure of the crew on the southbound train to obey orders to remain at Chickamauga until they met the northbound train was one cause of the collision of the Dixie Flyer and the Dixie Limited near Chickamauga this afternoon, H. H. Traub, assistant to the general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, declared tonight.

"YEAR WITHOUT SUMMER" IS PREDICTED IN 1926-27

Long Range Weather Forecaster Says Others Agree in Forecast.

Wellesley, Mass., Sept. 25.—Long range weather forecasting has advanced to the stage in which specific dates can be assigned to cold waves and other abnormal phenomena months in advance.

Herbert Javrin Browne, meteorologist, of Washington, said today at the twelfth annual business conference at Babson Park.

Mr. Browne pointed out that for the last three years he had been predicting a return of 1816, "the year without a summer," in 1926-27, the crop year of the southern hemisphere, with a grave menace to the grain crops of the entire world.

Although he was met with derision, he said, today eight scientists of international reputation are in accord with his prediction.

Trice Liquor Deal to Make College Funds

Greensboro, Sept. 24.—A man giving his name as Joseph Bradley and his home as Winston-Salem, arrested here with 25 gallons of whiskey, in a nice boy, friends say, and is developing that he was trying a deal in liquor to make money with which to go to college.

He had had luck, being arrested on a street yesterday afternoon before he had sold a drop. Seven five-gallon cans were full of liquor and it had leaked out of the other, the leak putting a motorcycle officer on the trail, having smelled it.

The boy tried to bring his relatives from leaving of the charge, and it is said there is so much money in the Winston-Salem directory, but when he sent a telephone message to Winston-Salem it resulted in a young man coming to see him. He said the liquor car driver was a hard working

Candidates Should Redouble their Efforts and Make This a Real Banner Week

New Candidates Are Being Added Every Day.—Others Are Now Considering Entering.

START NOW AND GET YOUR SHARE

Do Not Listen to Croakers or to Any One Who Is Trying to Discourage You.

It seems that slowly but surely there is a wide awake person here and there who is beginning to realize that there is an opportunity of a life time presented in the $10,000 "Everybody Wins" free prize distribution of The Concord Tribune and Times.

Since the first announcement of candidates those who have been following the list will notice a new name from time to time. Those names represent a few people who have come to the decision to go after the prize of his or her choice instead of sitting back and wishing they could do it.

And we still have evidence every day of others who have said to other people that they were considering entering this campaign. Now, it is well to consider before deciding, but do you not think that ample time has elapsed to enable one to determine that he can win any one of these handsome prizes with some consistent effort?

Time and time again we have called the slow opening of this campaign to the attention of the people of this city and county. That condition still exists but it will not for very much longer.

That means that the one who has ambitions to start first, now, will be the one who are grasping this wonderful advantage at the crucial moment. Do yourself justice, you people who are still of half a mind to get your share of that $10,000 in cash and cash. You can start now and soon be in an enviable position among those who are striving for one of the prizes.

Don't take our word for it. Find out about it for yourself by just a little investigation and actual effort. If you find we are right, then go ahead and win. And we know you will find out that very thing.

Another thing that we have noticed is that the croakers are at work. By croakers we mean those certain few people who always scoff at ambition and discourage constructive endeavor.

There are always some folks who admit they know more about something than they do. They are the ones who are ever offering unasked advice. They are destructive and not constructive forces. They always have their little group of believers but we think that none of the contestants in this campaign are among that number of listeners.

We just wish to call attention to the fact that the winners in this campaign will be those who pay no attention to such croakers, but the ones who know what they are doing and what they are doing it for.

Candidates should put an extra urge behind their efforts to make this week one of real accomplishment in their campaign efforts. We want to impress on each one the importance of these early days of the campaign.

Yours are biggest man and votes are what win the Buick, Studebaker, Hudson, Chevrolet and the big cash prize.

Again to you who are still considering—call today at the campaign headquarters at Room 209 Cabarrus Savings Bank building, or phone 570 and get into this greatest of all offers of his kind ever presented to you.

Your time is worth many dollars to you, worth just what you want to make it worth. We want you to join in this campaign and we know you want your share of the $10,000 which must be awarded.

Colonel Hall Again Questioned By Board

Statement About Shenandoah's Engine Was Assumption and Not Statement of Fact.

ENGINES WORKED FINE AT FIRST

He Thought Perhaps Two of Them Went Dead, Later, During Height of the Storm.

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Re-examined today before the naval court of inquiry Col. C. G. Hall, U. S. Army, who was aboard the Shenandoah on her fatal flight, said his statement yesterday that the failure of two engines of the ship furnished a possible contributing cause to the disaster was more in the nature of an assumption than a statement of fact.

"Do you know at what time the engines failed?" asked Lieut. Commander Rosendahl, senior surviving officer of the airship.

"I do not know," was the reply. "Was it after the uncontrolled rise began showing that we were in the vortex of the storm?" pursued Commander Rosendahl.

"I cannot say," the army officer returned. "I thought all engines were going full speed until the ship was wrecked."

"What is your opinion as to the reliability of the Shenandoah's engines?"

"I believe there have been no more reliable aviation engines developed than those of the Shenandoah."

In his testimony yesterday Col. Hall expressed the opinion that the failure of two of the airship's five engines made more probable the drawing of the big craft into the vortex of the storm which wrecked her after a spectacular flight of 15 minutes. One engine went out because of a cracked cylinder, and the other because of a radiator leakage.

Another Inquiry Into Tobacco Trade Comes After Many Protests

Federal Trade Commission Orders Inquiry After Tobacco Raisers Protest Against Recent Inquiry.

NEW EVIDENCE WILL BE SOUGHT

No Findings Will Be Made Public Until New Inquiry Has Data Prepared For New Congress.

Washington, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A re-investigation of evidence gathered by the Federal Trade Commission in an inquiry today into the tobacco trade has been ordered.

The commission will appoint investigators other than those who assembled its original evidence, as a result of protests made by co-operative marketing associations against the methods followed and the tentative findings.

Decision of the commission following a conference at which Aaron Sapiro, counsel for the National Council of Co-operative Associations, and Earl Davis, attorney for tobacco associations, protested in particular against the course of Earl Haynes, the commission's chief investigator in the inquiry. No statement of findings will be made, Chairman Van Fleet said prior to the final report by the commission to the senate.

The commission's inquiry is in compliance with a resolution introduced by Senator Ernst, republican of Kentucky, ordering a report as to whether the American Tobacco Co. and the British-American Tobacco Co. had boycotted co-operative associations.

Investigators prepared a tentative report in which it was declared that some officers of one of the tobacco associations had organized a corporation which took large profits from re-drying tobacco. It was against this section that the protest was made.

The co-operative council in a statement today declares the "controversy involves President Coolidge's successful campaign to delimit a number of governmental boards and commissions, notably the trade and tariff bodies, by appointing stand pat personnel."

"Our position members of Congress," it said "has intimated that a movement reflects the friendliness of large corporation interests which have been staunch campaign contributors."

"At any rate, the Federal Trade Commission is now in full stand pat coat, just as is the tariff commission."

JONES BROTHERS ARE SENTENCED TO PRISON

Must Serve Two Years at Atlanta For Violating Prohibition Law.

Baltimore, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Overruling a motion for arrest of sentence, Federal Judge Maurice A. Soper passed sentence of imprisonment at the Atlanta federal prison upon Neeheld T. and Winfield Jones, of Atlanta, and Washington, and six of their associates convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

The Jones brothers were given 2 years each, Maurice H. Caro, of Washington 18 months; Isidore Glasgow and Simon Kerner of Baltimore, a year and a day each.

Jose Baker, his brother, Chas. Baker, and Wm. Cohen, who aided the government in the prosecution of the case, were sentenced to a year and a day each.

Largest Cotton Crop. Monroe, Sept. 24.—The Union county cotton crop is estimated conservatively to be the biggest in the history of the county.

This mammoth yield is due to increased acreage, and heavier fertilization. Dry weather has damaged the crop seriously in places, but the weevil is apparently extinct in this section.

Two Boys, Sick of Florida, Steal Car And Start North; Caught at New Bern

New Bern, Sept. 24.—Because they are told simply and frankly, with regrets expressed for what they term their first offense against the law.

They have made favorable impressions on local persons, who are much interested in their story. They state that they left Atlantic City on September 2, hoping for free motor rides all the way to Florida.

In Miami they found work but employment agencies and living expenses kept them strapped. Twice they wired home for money.

"Florida is no place for anybody without a trade or lots of money," they say emphatically. "It certainly isn't what it's cracked up to be. Things cost too much there, and everybody seems self-centered and money-mad."

Becoming unbearably homesick, without means of getting back north, the boys took a Ford coupe from in front of a suburban residence. They managed to start it without a key.

As soon as they scraped together enough money they started for home. On the fourth evening, yesterday, they arrived here broke. Last night they tried in vain to "squeeze" gasoline from the hotel bus. They were seen and the police called. Upon being unable to produce a title card for the Ford, they were led to confess the whole story of the car theft.

FRANCE LAUNCHES DRIVE TO COMBAT TRIBES IN SYRIA

Big Offensive Has Begun Against Rebel Druse Tribesmen of Syria Many Troops Being Employed.

TRIBESMEN FALL BEFORE DRIVE

Many Tribes Have Been Dispersed and It Is Thought Trouble in Mandated Territory Is Over.

Bagdad, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Members of a convoy arriving here from Damascus state that the French have begun a big offensive against the rebel Druse tribesmen of Syria, employing 20,000 troops, forty tanks, thirty-two armored cars, and 144 airplanes.

The rebel Druse tribesmen are reported to be dispersing in all directions and the opinion is generally held that Gen. Gamoline's successful relief of the French garrison at Saida has ended the uprising which ousted French influence in the mandated territory of Syria.

General Sarraill, the high commissioner, yesterday received a number of tribal chiefs who assured him of their fidelity to the French regime.

TRUE BILL RETURNED AGAINST ALVIN MANSSEL

Alleged Criminal Assailant of Woman on Sunset Mountain Will Go to Trial November 2nd.

Asheville, Sept. 24.—Alvin Manssel, 17, negro, who was spirited away from the approach of an angry mob bent on lynching him last Saturday night, following his arrest on a charge of criminally assaulting a white woman on Sunset Mountain a few hours before, will go on trial for his life at a special session of superior court, which convenes here November 2nd with Judge A. M. Stack presiding, it became known today when the grand jury returned a true bill charging a capital offense.

A delay of several days was occasioned in presenting the facts in this case to the grand jury because the condition of the alleged victim of the assault would not permit her to appear before that body for its investigation.

Sheriff E. M. Mitchell appeared to be confident tonight that he has worked up a strong case against Manssel, who will be brought back here for trial from another section of the state where he was taken for safe-keeping after an all night ride by members of the sheriff's party Saturday night to escape the vengeance of a mob of 500 or more persons.
