IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

MUCH COTTON SOLD ON LOCAL MARKET ALREADY

Between 2500 and 1000 Bales Sold Here This Year As Against About 350 Bales Last Year

The cotton crop in Cabarrus county this year may not be as large as it was last year but it is coming to the market faster, according to figures in the office of W. B. Beger, county cotton weigher.

The figures show that so far this year between 1500 and 1000 bales have been sold on the local market, whereas up to the same time last year not more than 350 bales had been sold here.

It was pointed out by Mr. Beger, however, that not more than one-fourth of the cotton sold here so far this year was raised in Cabarrus county. The bulk of the cotton is coming from Stanly, Anson and Montgomery counties. Cabarrus farmers are either slow in getting their cotton picked and ginned or they want to wait to see what the market will do later.

Some very fine cotton has been brought here from Stanly county, it was reported at the office of Mr. Beger, the staple from the adjoining county being longer and perhaps a little stronger than the staple from Cabarrus county.

In this connection, however, it was pointed out that the staple of Cabarrus cotton this year is much stronger than the staple from last year's crop. This is due to the dry season, cotton buyers here point out, as dry season cotton is always stronger than wet season cotton although the staple may be longer in a wet year.

It was stated at the cotton platform that up to the present time last year one big cotton buyer here had purchased less than 60 bales and this year he has purchased about 700 bales, showing the difference in the way the two crops were marketed.

It will not be possible to get accurate ginning figures until G. W. Lee, county cotton census statistician, makes his report. It is estimated by cotton buyers and others who have made inquiry, that ginnings this year in the county are far ahead of last year, although the work has been held back somewhat due to the fact that a number of gins have operated on curtailed schedules due to power shortage.

No one seems to know just what the total cotton yield of the county will be although many persons are of the opinion that it will equal last year's. It is reported from good sources that the average was devoted to cotton this year than last and this may offset any difference in the acre yield.

Cotton is bringing 23 cents a pound on the local market now.

BUSINESS WITH TEXTILE PLANTS HERE IMPROVED

Orders Are Being Received for Goods That Mean Normal Running Hours For Many Local Mills.

Improvement in the textile industry, long promised and long awaiting, seems a reality now, at least for a number of local mills, and it is stated by a reliable source that local plants would be running on normal schedules were it not for the curtailed power program made necessary by the summer drought.

The mills here are forced to stand from Thursday noon until Saturday noon and on Saturday afternoon is always a holiday for the mills, the plants have been closed from Thursday noon until Monday morning. When the curtailed program first became effective local mills as a whole rather welcomed the lay-off for apparently there were plenty of goods on the market and prices were not as high as they should have been.

Apparently there is demand for goods now and at prices which mean a profit to the mills. The fact is a condition long awaited and it is said that some Concord plants are unable to fill all of their orders because they can operate only part of the week. Heretofore, it was reported by one man, night shifts have been working until 5:30 a. m., but during the past week they were asked to stay on the job until 7 a. m., when the day shifts come on.

It is also reported that one local plant may ask its men to work Saturday afternoons and its night men to work from 6 p. m. to midnight, on Saturdays. This same plant, it is also reported, will ask its night shifts to begin work at 12:05 o'clock Monday morning.

When the short power program was first started another mill in the city made an effort to extend its working hours by operating at night, but such a program is in operation now and the day men work until 9 o'clock each night.

The Southern Power Co., which furnishes power to the local plants, was forced to curtail its program when the drought became acute in the western part of the state and in other sections where the company furnishes power. It is not known when the company will be able to offer a normal schedule again for while there has been some rain in the drought area in recent weeks it is said the fall has not been anything like enough to bring water conditions to normalcy.

KLORERO OF KAROLINA KU KLUX IS CONVENEED

Hooded Guards Say the Meeting is Klonovocation of the Grand Officers.

Raleigh, Sept. 24.—North Carolina Klansmen convened in their klorero tonight, and hooded guards at all doors of the city auditorium held the inquisitive back.

The guards, however, say that the meeting tonight is not the real thing, but a klonovocation of the grand officers. Judge Henry A. Grady, biggest of the Tar Heel klansmen, is present. Tomorrow night Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans will speak and the boys in their masks were promising that anybody but klansmen will get into the charmed circle. The women members of the klan will have a meeting also.

The program for tomorrow as announced by the official organ is the following:

The klorero will reconvene at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, the session to comprise reports by the klorero committee, by Grand Klaff E. C. McIlwaine, of Raleigh; the grand klabe, discussions to follow each report. Papers will be read on the duties of the following officers: Exalted cyclops, by the exalted cyclops of the Rocky Mount klan, discussions by the exalted cyclops, Gattetsville klan; klaff by the klaff of Asheville klan, discussion by the exalted cyclops of the Hertford klan; klackard, by the klackard of the Goldsboro klan, discussion by the exalted cyclops of the Greensboro klan; kludd by the kludd of the Mocksville klan, discussion by the exalted cyclops of the Kinston klan; kligraph, by the kligraph of the Durham klan, discussion by the exalted cyclops of the Henderson klan; klakon, by the klakon chief of the Greensboro klan, discussion by the exalted cyclops of the Wallace klan.

During the afternoon reports of the nomination committee, resolutions committee and K-don committees will be presented, the grand dragon of Missouri will explain the K-duo degree, the grand dragon of Alabama will tell of extension work in organized realms, the chief of staff of the realm of South Carolina will tell of its practical working, the grand dragon of the realm of South Carolina will discuss the relationship of local organizations to the realm office, and the imperial commander of the woman's organization will speak.

Meeting again after dinner, the klansmen will stage a parade on Fayetteville street at 7 o'clock. An hour later the Raleigh klan will give an exemplification of the K-duo degree, the grand dragon of the realm of North Carolina will present commissions to klan giants, Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard, and Dr. W. A. Hamlette, editor of the Klorero magazine, will speak. Adjournment will then be ordered.

Tonight the work has consisted principally of welcoming Judge Grady, opened the klorero, according to the guards, at 8 o'clock and Raleigh klansmen did the welcoming. The grand klaff of Salisbury responded to the exalted cyclops, Gattetsville annual address. The grand dragon is the speakingest and writingest klansman in the klorero but no newspaper man could corner him and confure from him any remarks concerning the klonovocation which the klan means to conserve.

MISTRIAL RECORDED IN ASHEVILLE MURDER CASES

Bruce Lane Accused of Slaying Nora Ellis Brown and Throwing Body in the French Broad River.

Asheville, Sept. 24.—Trial of Bruce Lane for the murder of Nora Ellis Brown was abruptly halted late this afternoon when Judge Oglesby interrupted the testimony of Sheriff E. M. Mitchell in regard to alleged attempts to intimidate Ruth Brown, witness for the state, who the officer stated told him that her life had been threatened by friends and relatives of the defendant, and ordered a mistrial recorded.

A complete investigation by the grand jury was directed by Judge Oglesby, who gave instructions to "investigate at once at this term of court, about the particular witness and about other witnesses." The interruption in the trial came at 3:15 o'clock after Ruth Brown had been called out for failure to appear as a witness. Solicitor J. Ed Swain asked that a capias be issued for her and she was taken by the officers later in the afternoon.

Lawrence Stevens, who occupied an adjoining cell to that of Lane, testified that the defendant had told him that he was not guilty of murdering the woman, but that he knew who did it.

A doctor was examining a man who had come to him for the first time. Satisfied at last the doctor looked at him gravely. "You are in a bad shape," he said. "What you need is a sea voyage. Can you manage it?"

"Oh, yes," replied the patient. "I'm second mate on the Anna Marie, just in from Hongkong."

Kerr Street Baptist Church Revival.

Rev. C. K. Turner, from Kannapolis, was with us again Thursday night and he and Mr. Fry sang a duet entitled "There is No Friend Like Jesus," which was enjoyed by everyone. Mr. Fry sang a solo "What Will You Do With Jesus?" There was a large congregation to greet the preacher and singers. Mr. Payne preached a very interesting sermon on the Prodigal Son, as found in the 15th chapter of Luke. He said in part:

"There is no picture in my mind that brings so vividly the great love of God the Father.

First, you will notice the going away. I used to think that the prodigal son was a very low type of humanity, but of late I have had a different feeling about the prodigal son. This boy's father was rich, and I presume was a good business man so I don't think that he would have given half of his living to a trifling boy. Therefore I believe he was a very good boy when he left home. He went over the protest of a loving father. He went into a strange land, he went into a far country. He went all in style, and I believe he would have turned back the morning after his first night from home but he probably said 'I go back now I will be the laughing stock of the town.'

Second: Look with me at his return home. There was quite a difference in his coming back, and his going away. He came back broke. He came back half clothed. He came back alone, no servants, no horses, no chariots. But he came back in his right mind. The devil almost ruins some people before they will quit following him. Listen! He found a waiting father, he found an open door. He found a father with a heart of love, willing to forgive, and anxious to relieve his wants and give him a home with a father's love.

See, tonight at 7:30. This is your last chance to hear Mr. Fry sing as he will leave after tonight, for Forest City to help in a meeting there. Come and bring your friends.

A. T. CAIN, Pastor.

TOURIST CAMP BEING TALKED FOR CONCORD

Lack of Accommodations is Causing City to Lose Money, Declares Mr. Blanks.

The fact that there is now no tourist camp in Concord to accommodate the hordes of motorists which pass through the city Florida bound is the subject of much concern to many people interested in the city's welfare.

It was pointed out by Mr. Blanks, Y. secretary, at the Kiwanis Club luncheon today that the city is losing money which would be flowing into its coffers if there were a camp here in which motorists might rest after a day's travel. The situation is one that demands immediate attention, he asserted.

Mr. Blanks also brought the same idea to the Rotary Club at its regular weekly meeting Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. and it is expected that some action will be taken by this organization at once to secure a suitable camping ground. The Kiwanis also plan to take up the matter at once.

Camps are now being successfully maintained in other cities and there is no reason why Concord should not have one, said Mr. Blanks. Tourist traffic means quick money and under the present conditions, the money is going to other towns and cities.

A camp was maintained in Concord for some time in the rear of the Y. M. C. A. but, owing to complaints, it was discontinued.

SEVRE GAS PAINS CAUSED SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

Bad Case of Stomach Trouble Had About Ruined His Health—HERB JUICE Brought Relief.

"It is indeed a pleasure to make a statement and tell what I think about HERB JUICE. After years of suffering with stomach trouble, caused, I believe through poor digestion and indigestion, I was hardly able to work, as I was so nervous I did not get my rest and sleep, but I am thankful that through the use of HERB JUICE, I overcame this trouble and now I am feeling like a well man again."

The above statement was received by the HERB JUICE representative a few days ago from Mr. Zeb Shoe, employee of the Gibson Mill, who resides at No. 39 Beatty Ford street, Concord, N. C. Continuing he said: "The pains in my stomach were very annoying and I was often nauseated. Constipated most of the time and being in a general run-down condition, I really was not fit to do a day's work. I would only drag through the day, lagging without sufficient strength and energy to do anything. I was looking for something that would give me relief, when HERB JUICE was recommended to me by an intimate friend, who told me how it had benefited him so much. This prompted me to buy a bottle and I have been getting it ever since. It is a great medicine, in fact, the only satisfactory remedy I have ever used. The gas pains and bloating were soon over, began my digestive organs began to function properly and through its natural action I have been entirely relieved of the constipation trouble. I can now sleep well at night, arising in the morning full of pep and feeling I have been gaining in weight and strength ever since I started using HERB JUICE, and I am most grateful to the friend who insisted that I take HERB JUICE, and especially to the medicine itself that made me take a new lease on life."

HERB JUICE is sold in Concord and guaranteed to give satisfaction by Gibson Drug Store.

Here's the way to crank it lady

"NEXT time your starter goes dead and there isn't a man around to crank for you, try this. It isn't hard if the engine is O. K. First be sure you retard the spark. Then pull out the choke wire. Always crank up, with the handle held loose/palm up. If half a turn doesn't start her in the ordinary weather there is something wrong with the spark and you ought to have us look her over next time you're in the garage."
