Huntington, W. Va.—"I was in a very weak and run-down condition—in fact, was in a serious condition," says Mrs. Fannie C. Bloss, of 1964 Madison Avenue, this city.
"In my left side the pain was very severe. It would start in my back and sides. Part of the time I was in bed and when up I didn't feel like doing anything or going anywhere.

"Life wasn't any pleasure. I was very pale. I was nervous and thin, and so tired all the time.
"My druggist told me that Cardui was a good tonic for women and I bought a couple of bottles. I took two bottles, then I noticed an improvement. I kept on and found it was helping me. I have taken nine bottles. I'm stronger now than I have been in a long time."

METHODIST YOUNG PEOPLE WILL MEET

Miss Bess Combs, of St. Joseph, Mo., to Deliver Address at Central Church Tonight.

Miss Bess Combs, who will address the young people of the Salisbury district of the Western North Carolina Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Central Methodist Church, arrived here about 5 o'clock this afternoon. Miss Combs is a native of St. Joseph, Mo., and is going throughout the South making addresses in the interest of the young people's work, being sent out by the Women's Missionary Council of the Southern Methodist Church. Mrs. W. C. Johnston went to Salisbury to meet her and to attend a rally there at three o'clock.

Miss Combs is a forceful speaker and as a returned missionary from China she has a message that will appeal to both young and old alike. Following her message this evening Miss Combs will be tendered a reception in the dining room of the church by the members of the Women's Missionary Society.

All the ladies of the Methodist Church in the city and county are invited to attend the meeting.

ROTARY MEETING

C. W. Byrd and A. S. Webb presented "Best Methods to be Adopted in Advertising Concord."

The publicity committee, composed of C. W. Byrd, chairman, and A. S. Webb, had charge of the program at the weekly meeting of the Concord Rotary Club yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. They spoke on "Best Methods to be Adopted in Advertising Concord."

Mr. Webb in his talk suggested that we should attract to Concord as many tourists as possible and that these tourists should be routed through the business section. Under the present routing many of the visitors pass through Concord without seeing the business section and in many instances without seeing some of the prettiest residential sections.

Mr. Byrd suggested that manufacturing plants have signs advertising their goods, that business houses in the city install electric signs, that the city adopt a slogan indicating something in which it excels, that business men send out folders describing Concord in their letters, that police officers distribute in strangers' cars cards of welcome and invitation to return again, and that the new hotel when completed make special efforts to attract visitors to the city.

WEDDING OF INTEREST IN GREAT FALLS, S. C.

Miss Christine Fowler Becomes Bride of James Sappenfield in Impressive Ceremony.

On Saturday, September 26th, at high noon, a marriage of unusual interest was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Great Falls, S. C., when Miss Christine Fowler became the bride of Dr. James A. Sappenfield.

The church was decorated in pines, golden rod and Southern smilax, and presented a beautiful setting for the ceremony. Before the entrance of the bride party, Miss Francis Hardin, of Chester, played "The Flower Song," and "A Simple Confession" on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Killough White; and Mrs. E. H. Hall sang "Oh Promise Me" and "All For You."

At the opening of Lohengrin's Wedding March the groomsman entered the church, Messrs. Willis Taylor and W. A. McCoy proceeding down opposite aisles to the chancel, followed by Dr. L. W. Forte and Dr. Pressley Thomas. Miss Nadine Hayden of Gastonia, and Miss Sarah Hunt, of Greensboro, followed by Miss Annie Grace Sappenfield, of Concord, and Miss Ruth Flowers, of Darlington, were beautiful in shades of tan and Bachara crepe satin dresses, hats to match, carrying arm bouquets of gladioli, as they entered and grouped themselves around the chancel. Mrs. Townsend Freeman, dame of honor, came next, dressed in henna inland crepe followed by the maid of honor, Miss Grace Fowler, who wore a dress of flat crepe in lipstick red, carrying arm bouquet of roses. Preceding the bride came little Jean Thompson in yellow crepe de chine hat and dress trimmed with pink and blue rosetub trimmings and black ribbon streamers, carrying a basket from which she scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Henry Fowler. She was beautifully attired in a gown of satin and crepe in a shade of Black Prince, with a Pirate hat and accessories to match, and carried an arm bouquet of white lilies. They were met at the chancel by the groom and his brother, Dewey Sappenfield, of Concord, who acted as best man, the marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. A. Neal of the Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. Geo. B. Thompson, of the Presbyterian Church.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride party went to the home of the bride's parents, where a beautifully appointed luncheon was served to them, the immediate friends of the family, and out-of-town guests who included Miss Jenny Hunt, Mrs. J. S. Hunt and Mrs. Hampton Condit of Greensboro, Mrs. A. L. Sappenfield, Roy Sappenfield, Dr. and Mrs. Clifford Klutz, Mrs. E. D. Sherrill and daughter, Annie Edith, of Concord, Mr. O. L. Sappenfield and two children, of Gastonia.

The bride and groom left Great Falls for the mountains of western North Carolina, where they will spend their honeymoon, after which they will be at home at Kannapolis, where Dr. Sappenfield is connected with the F. L. Smith Drug Co.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fowler and has lived in Great Falls for eight years, having come here when her father became mill hands as cotton buyer. She has many friends who regret that her marriage will take her away from Great Falls.

Dr. Sappenfield, who is a son of Mrs. A. L. Sappenfield, of Concord, graduated at the Pharmaceutical College of Atlanta, Ga., lived in Great Falls a year before going to Kannapolis and was very popular in all circles. The esteem in which the young couple is held is shown by the beautiful presents received and the number of social affairs arranged for them before the wedding.

Fowler-Sappenfield Wedding Party Honored.

On the evening of September 25th, Rev. and Mrs. George B. Thompson were at home to the members of the Fowler-Sappenfield bridal party. For the occasion the lawn was prettily decorated with golden rod and Queen Ann lace, and was lighted by yellow and white lights—lights color scheme being carried out through the evening.

Mrs. R. S. Mebane, Jr., Mrs. Marion Roddy and Mrs. J. E. Bailey presided at the punch bowl, and assisted in entertaining the guests. One feature of the evening was the original way in which the bride party found a symbol of their future state. Instead of cutting a wedding cake, a large yellow and white ball was suspended from among the trees with ropes of yellow and white ribbon, and a clapper of yellow in which an electric light was placed. Suspended from the clapper was a shower of tiny yellow balls. Each maid was given the end of a yellow ribbon, each groomsman a white one, and at a given signal all pulled the ribbons, but instead of ringing the bell the shower of balls fell from the clapper, and each ball was found to contain one of the old-time symbols of the future, Miss Ruth Fowler, of Darlington, receiving the ring. At the close of the evening cream and cake were served.

Those present were Misses Christine Fowler and Grace Fowler, of Great Falls; Ruth Fowler, of Darlington; Annie Grace Sappenfield, of Concord; Sarah Hunt, of Greensboro; Francis Hardin, of Chester; J. A. Sappenfield, of Kannapolis; Joseph Hunt, of Greensboro; Dewey Sappenfield, of Concord; W. A. McCoy, Willis Taylor, L. W. Forte and Dr. Pressley Thomas, J. H. Fowler, Prof. and Mrs. E. H. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Killough White, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Neal, of Great Falls.

Concord Thirty-Two Years Ago

Here are more quotations from the scrap book which The Tribune has been presenting to its readers, as follows:

He came in, wiped the perspiration from his brow, and asked for pencil and paper. Korner then wrote: "Unlike many men of my age, I back strap."

"I believe Concord should have a canning factory. In about six weeks fruit will be coming in here and go-abe-ging. There are not many people who are patriotic enough to appreciate the great importance of the roller mill. All the predictions that the Standard made have and are coming true. There a very few merchants that now ship in flour. All this immense sum of money is being kept here. And now I say there is too much money going out of the county for canned corn, tomatoes, apples, peaches and such like. All this could be avoided.

"There should be a mattress factory here. I have been thinking that Mr. Burrage or Mr. Pounds might add this to their plants.

"If all candor there should be a soap factory here. The grease and the LIE will not be to be lost."

"About the only thing we don't need now is a park."

Korner, who expressed his sympathy for the hard-worked man of this chair, went out into the world to observe more.

The Concord Lodge of Knights of Pythias start out with these officers: F. L. Smith, past chancellor. John C. Wadsworth, chancellor commanding. G. L. Patterson, vice chancellor. J. F. Hurley, relate.

A. J. York, master at arms. H. L. Cannon, master at arms. C. L. Smith, keeper of records. J. P. Query, master of finance. George L. Patterson, master of exchequer.

Nine of the baseballists of the town, and some of their friends, went to Mt. Pleasant Saturday evening to meet on the diamond the made-up team of that place.

Upon the whole it was a sorry game, as the score indicates. At first it seemed that our boys were strictly in it, but the Mt. Pleasant boys said they did that just as an encouragement. The game was called at the close of the ninth inning of Concord, at the request of Mr. Pleasant, which was due in favor of Mt. Pleasant, which was satisfied without playing its ninth inning.

There is always something that happens that loses the game to one side—that that something is we have never heard.

Really, if the team comes out here where the sympathy of the ladies and others will be present, the score might be reversed.

To be honest: Our boys got beaten badly.

Ten months ago the wife of Mr. George Smith, of Crab Orchard township in Mecklenburg county, gave birth to twins. A few days ago this lady gave birth to triplets. We are glad to hear that the little children are all doing well.

About this time every four years, the eyes of this part of the country

Our second hand clothes sale has kept up better this summer than any previous summer and we feel that it is largely due to the space which the newspapers of our state so kindly gave us in June, but I fear that our people are forgetting us once more and so we are asking you to remind them once more to send us clothes.

We are simply overwhelmed with boarders this term and are having to buy double decker beds in order to house them. We must provide for each of these boarders for we take only those who need to be self-supporting. It all depends upon the quantity and quality of clothes which you send this winter, and we urge you to send all you possibly can and as often as you possibly can.

are turned with anxious expectancy upon the town of Concord, hard by on the north, the attraction being the post office fight. It is one of the most unique in the history of the government and has made Concord's name famous all over the country.

Just now we have the usual assurance that "the fight will be settled in a few days." In venturing on this piece of news, the Washington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch essay upon a little bit of history which will be of interest at the present time. Miss Dusenbury has held the office for nearly twenty years. She was appointed postmaster at Concord December 26, 1873. The office was raised to the presidential class December 21, 1880 and Miss Dusenbury was appointed then by President Hayes. She was reappointed December 22, 1884, by President Arthur, and again on February 11, 1889, by President Cleveland, and February 5, 1893, President Harrison reappointed her, but the nomination was not confirmed by the senate. Strong efforts were made by Judge Bennett and Mr. Rowland, when they were in Congress to have Miss Dusenbury removed but without avail. It will be noted that Miss Dusenbury has held the office more than eight years by the grace of Mr. Cleveland. . . . The Democrats tried to oust her because she is not a Democrat, not even of a Democratic family. Miss Dusenbury's father was an officer in the United States army, and he died before the civil war commenced.

Just as strong efforts were made to remove Miss Dusenbury during Harrison's administration as before that period. The Republicans wanted her removed because she was not a Republican, just as the Democrats did because she wasn't a Democrat. She now comes under Cleveland's famous "ex" rule, and if she reappoints for it will prove an exception to his own rule.

The Tar Heels gave their show Thursday night. A large crowd was present and financially the performance was a rousing success. The performance in the different stages of the program was genuinely good.

Frank Rogers and G. B. Caldwell, as end men, were so up to their parts that a genuine article of the performance would become green with envy. The other did well. Sam Ervin as a conversationalist, was handsome and dignified.

The circus, whilst full and amusing, was perhaps the poorest thing on the programme.

It was sent out from Washington that Col. Paul B. Means and Harry Martin, a stepson of Senator Vance, were to meet on the field of honor, and was frustrated by the officers in arresting Martin. It is all a hoax and a yard wide lie. It was probably done for a purpose. Time hangs heavily in Washington, that such lies easily start.

A large number of invited guests will remember for a long time to come the elegant reception given Monday evening from 9 to 12 o'clock, at the St. Cloud by Mrs. M. C. Dusenbury, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Gowen Dusenbury. It was one of those entertainments where man felt swelling up from his very soul the expression, "it is good to be here."
