

MONEY

Is Slipping Away From You Every Day

You Stay Out Of The Tribune-Times $10,000 Campaign Start Now to Win a Car or a Share of the Thousands in Cash to be Given Away in a Few Weeks

We are wondering if a sentiment of rather slow times is one of the explanations of why so few people have been attracted to participate in this most generous prize offer of The Tribune and Times, or if those considering entering have been held back by the idea that business will be harder to get than usual. If that is the case, has it ever occurred to you that the contestants are not the ones to suffer from such a condition? Do you not realize that every candidate must meet the same situation and that the prizes will merely be awarded on a less amount of subscription business? The Tribune and Times are the only ones who will feel the effect of either good or slow times in such an undertaking. It is not your funeral. It is your good fortune for it means that the business and support you can command will have just that much better chance of winning one of the big prizes. Let this sink in and decide to get in and go after anywhere from $1,000 to $2,000 in the next few weeks. And on top of this, what better time for you could such a generous offer be made? You might be crying that money is tight and at the same time be overlooking $10,000 in automobiles and cash practically going begging for someone to claim it. Is that consistency? Is that good reasoning? Look at this thing from your own angle, then consider these things brought to your attention. It should decide you to get in now when the campaign presents a genuine opportunity for any ambitious person. Which one of the cars below would you choose as your own. If you have decided go after it. You will find it a simple, pleasurable and profitable few weeks.

This is Alex Johnstone, University of Iowa tackle, who is expected to star on the football field this fall. Johnstone is a millionaire, but gets more enjoyment out of the gridiron pastime than anything else. He's especially capable on the defense.

There's Many a Slip, Etc.

The Pathfinder.
Miss Alice Matlock, of Philadelphia, whose father made millions in ice cream, was engaged to marry a wealthy rubber plantation owner of Singapore. All preparations for the steanship passage to London where the marriage was to take place were made and it only remained for the bride to bid good-bye to some of her friends.

One particular friend of Miss Matlock's was J. Mitchell Henkle, son of a Philadelphia art dealer. The young man must have understood a little of the art of conquest also for a few hours after the meeting Miss Matlock became Mrs. J. Mitchell Henkle's at Elkton, Md. A cablegram broke the sad news to the abandoned fiancee abroad.

Spanking for Girl, 23, Gives Mother Concern.

Editor New York Mirror: I have two daughters, 15 and 23 years of age. The older one is a constant worry to me. She smokes and goes automobile riding until late hours with her friends. I punish the girl for 15 when she does anything which I do not like, and I often feel like spanking the other one, but I fear she is a little too old for corporal punishment. I would appreciate it if some of your readers would advise me if I would be doing right by spanking a girl of 23.

MARY O'BRIEN.

Woman Calls Charleston Disgrace to Civilization.

Editor New York Mirror: I agree with your reader who writes that the Charleston dance is a disgrace to civilization. There should be a law prohibiting the practice of this dance, which is disgusting to a person of refined feelings. How can we expect our young men and girls to grow up as we would wish them when such dances are encouraged? The fashion and manners of the youth of today make me think we are reverting to barbarism.

ELLEN MACKAY.

Thomas was not a primate favorite with his rich uncle. In vain did he try to impress him, but the old man was not easily impressed.

One evening the young man went to his uncle's home for a call, and in the course of conversation asked: "Uncle, don't you think it would be rather foolish for me to marry a girl who was intellectually my inferior?"

"Worse than foolish, Thomas," was the reply. "Worse, than foolish—impossible."
