

PENNY COLUMN

GENERAL GOOD SECOND HAND OIL STOVES FOR SALE CHEAP...

FOR SALE AT A BARGAIN—ONE LATE MODEL SEVEN PASSENGER WILLYS KNIGHT SEDAN...

WANTED—20 LABORERS NEW HOTEL JOB, 5 MONTHS WORK...

FOR RENT—New Five Room Bungalow on Douglas Avenue...

FOR SALE—Five Room House With water and lights on Isabelle Street...

FOR RENT—One Four or Six Room house, P. G. Cook, Phone 328R...

Wanted—Women For Spare Time work. Experience unnecessary...

Salermen: Fast Selling Line Tampa cigars, $40.00 weekly and expenses...

FOR SALE—One No. 1 Second Handed race cart, Ritchie-Caldwell Hardware...

"TWENTY ACRES AND PLENTY" Free book tells truth about Florida land...

FOR RENT—6-Room House on St. Mary street, near the Locke Mill...

Several Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR RENT—5-Room Bungalow With bath, $18.00 per month...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

FOR SALE—140 Acres Near Cox's Mill, 70 and 300 acres West of Kannapolis...

FOR SALE—5-Room House on Simpson street, Large corner lot...

FOR SALE—Good Second Hand Oil Stoves for sale cheap...

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

TRAIN NO. 35 TO MAKE UNCONDITIONAL STOP HERE

Order to Make It a Conditional Stop Was an Error.

The following letter from Mr. R. H. Graham, D. P. A., Southern Railway, explains itself:

The Concord Daily Tribune, Concord, N. C.

My dear Mr. Sherrill: Your letter of the 2nd instant duly received.

The matter of making Concord a conditional stop was in error.

The schedule of the Charlotte Division main line changes was effective Sunday, September 27th, and this is when this arrangement became effective.

The printers in making the time table showed a "C" on the time table instead of an "R" for regular stop and "C" conditional stop.

In checking the time table this error was not caught and, of course, the arrangement went into effect.

I am sure you readily understand how a little oversight like this might happen, and assure you that there was no intention or desire to make any change in this train at Concord or do anything that would inconvenience our patrons.

Orders have been issued making Concord a regular stop same as before and I shall be glad if you will kindly make announcement in your paper about this.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

With kindest regards and best wishes, I beg to remain, Very truly yours, R. H. GRAHAM, Division Passenger Agent.

There has never been much demand from a passenger standpoint to stop train 39 in Concord, as we have three trains passing there about the same time and usually passengers use trains 11 and 33 in preference to 39 because 29 has coaches only and no dining car.

I note what you have to say in regard to mail coming to Concord on No. 39 and Mr. W. M. Cowling, our General Superintendent now has this matter up and just as soon as he can complete his investigation and I can hear from him I shall be glad to communicate further with you about this.

I am very sorry that the mistake happened on train 35 and appreciate very much your writing us about same.

CONCEIT vs. STUPIDITY

Famous Screen Stars Who Rise From Nothing Make a Display of Themselves Once They Achieve the Limelight.

The average screen star is a man or woman who started life with little means and has risen to vast fortune and fame.

Neither would she have any of the celluloid favorites in a strange manner.

The stars don't seem able to keep their head amid it all. Hence "chesty," "bragg," "high hatted," "temperamental" are indoor and outdoor actualities in the cinema.

Tom Meighan, during his days on the stage and his early years in the silent drama, was an earnest, striving, well-bred youth.

Today he has only his "bosses" and a few friends left. Why?

This little incident is explanatory. We saw Tom come on his set at the Famous Players studio one morning and not say good morning to a single person.

That isn't natural, when you are among men and women who work with you side by side for weeks steadily.

The first thing Tom did was to go over to his dressing table and shout to one of the property men: "Bring me another light!"

"Is it too dark?" He was asked, respectfully. "Certainly, it's too dark." The light was brought, but the prop man received no thanks from Tom Meighan.

A strange state of affairs, but characteristic of his star.

A ludicrous "inside" story reveals W. C. Fields, who made his successful debut in D. W. Griffith's picture, "Sally of the Sawdust," in a typical "star" light.

Mr. Fields owes his screen achievement to D. W. Griffith. He had been on the stage and in vaudeville for years, but D. W. Griffith singled him out and gave him his first chance.

What happened? When Fields signed to work in Griffith's last photoplay, "That Royle Girl," he demanded double his original salary.

Furthermore, he viewed the "rush" (the scenes taken on the previous day) in the studio projection room and made requests that certain scenes be re-taken in which he failed to occupy the limelight. Gratitude? Boss! There "ain't no such animal" in the acting profession.

We heard a gorgeous "nifty" about Jack Gilbert and Aileen Pringle at the time they were assigned leading roles in Elinor Glyn's picture, "His Hour." Jack married up to Aileen on the set the first day of shooting.

"Which side of your face photographs the best?" Aileen stared for a minute in surprise. "Then the left."

"That's good," Jack nodded, smiling, because the right is his best side.

Nature, fortunately saved a clash of temperaments on that set! Milton Sills, who insists on being billed as "a portrayal of he-men roles on the screen," despite the fact that repetition weakens any statement, is a notorious "I am" in the studio.

Milton, like Tom Meighan, believes he is paid a big salary because the fans want to see his full face all the time, and he makes it hot for anybody who tries to make him do anything.

To refer to D. W. Griffith again, he wanted a prominent star, who came from Poland originally, to play the leading feminine role in his next picture, "The Sorrows of Satan."

Of course, she would be featured but not starred. Neither would she have the center of the spotlight all the time. Do you think she would consent? Certainly not.

Many and entertaining are the "temperament stories" about these movie players. Only disaster lurks ahead of such antics for there are always newcomers ready, and capable of taking their place.

"Cheesy?" "Fritzy?" High Hat? "Piffle, sheer ignorance and stupidity."

Weekly Cotton Review. New York, Oct. 9.—The government crop report was the feature of the week in the cotton market.

It was preceded by private reports which showed a trend toward increased estimates of the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

CONCEIT vs. STUPIDITY

Famous Screen Stars Who Rise From Nothing Make a Display of Themselves Once They Achieve the Limelight.

The average screen star is a man or woman who started life with little means and has risen to vast fortune and fame.

Neither would she have any of the celluloid favorites in a strange manner.

The stars don't seem able to keep their head amid it all. Hence "chesty," "bragg," "high hatted," "temperamental" are indoor and outdoor actualities in the cinema.

Tom Meighan, during his days on the stage and his early years in the silent drama, was an earnest, striving, well-bred youth.

Today he has only his "bosses" and a few friends left. Why?

This little incident is explanatory. We saw Tom come on his set at the Famous Players studio one morning and not say good morning to a single person.

That isn't natural, when you are among men and women who work with you side by side for weeks steadily.

The first thing Tom did was to go over to his dressing table and shout to one of the property men: "Bring me another light!"

"Is it too dark?" He was asked, respectfully. "Certainly, it's too dark." The light was brought, but the prop man received no thanks from Tom Meighan.

A strange state of affairs, but characteristic of his star.

A ludicrous "inside" story reveals W. C. Fields, who made his successful debut in D. W. Griffith's picture, "Sally of the Sawdust," in a typical "star" light.

Mr. Fields owes his screen achievement to D. W. Griffith. He had been on the stage and in vaudeville for years, but D. W. Griffith singled him out and gave him his first chance.

What happened? When Fields signed to work in Griffith's last photoplay, "That Royle Girl," he demanded double his original salary.

Furthermore, he viewed the "rush" (the scenes taken on the previous day) in the studio projection room and made requests that certain scenes be re-taken in which he failed to occupy the limelight. Gratitude? Boss! There "ain't no such animal" in the acting profession.

We heard a gorgeous "nifty" about Jack Gilbert and Aileen Pringle at the time they were assigned leading roles in Elinor Glyn's picture, "His Hour." Jack married up to Aileen on the set the first day of shooting.

"Which side of your face photographs the best?" Aileen stared for a minute in surprise. "Then the left."

"That's good," Jack nodded, smiling, because the right is his best side.

Nature, fortunately saved a clash of temperaments on that set! Milton Sills, who insists on being billed as "a portrayal of he-men roles on the screen," despite the fact that repetition weakens any statement, is a notorious "I am" in the studio.

Milton, like Tom Meighan, believes he is paid a big salary because the fans want to see his full face all the time, and he makes it hot for anybody who tries to make him do anything.

To refer to D. W. Griffith again, he wanted a prominent star, who came from Poland originally, to play the leading feminine role in his next picture, "The Sorrows of Satan."

Of course, she would be featured but not starred. Neither would she have the center of the spotlight all the time. Do you think she would consent? Certainly not.

Many and entertaining are the "temperament stories" about these movie players. Only disaster lurks ahead of such antics for there are always newcomers ready, and capable of taking their place.

"Cheesy?" "Fritzy?" High Hat? "Piffle, sheer ignorance and stupidity."

Weekly Cotton Review. New York, Oct. 9.—The government crop report was the feature of the week in the cotton market.

It was preceded by private reports which showed a trend toward increased estimates of the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared for an indication of over 14 1-2, or at the outside, 14 1-2 million bales. As a result the government figures pointing to a crop of 14,759,000 bales was followed by heavy general selling and a very severe break in prices.

Smaller crop estimates, based on the yield, but it appeared that few traders were prepared