IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

PAVLEY-ONKRAINSKY BALLET RUSSE HERE

Noted Organization Secured For Performance In City After Brilliant Season in Large Cities.

Andrew Pavley and Serge Onkrainsky, organizers and premier dancers of the ballet which bears their names, have performed individually and in combination in the capitals of Europe and America and they have taken their organization to many of the leading art centers of both continents. Following a brilliant season with the San Carlo Grand Opera Co. in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, the Pavley-Onkrainsky Ballet Russe will appear in Concord on November 24th, with full equipment, including principals, corps de ballet and symphony orchestra. The occasion will be featured by the presentation of a big classical review consisting of some of the new and brilliant ballets and divertissements shown this season in the chief cities of America.

The Ballet Russe was organized in this country ten years ago as an adjunct to the Chicago Opera but proved so eminently superior to anything ever dreamed of as to warrant its organization into a separate and distinct company. As such it has traveled about edifying thousands with its unparalleled display of terpsichorean art. Their extensive tours of North and South America have won them innumerable friends and built up a prestige which is the envy of all similar organizations. The company consists of nearly fifty persons together with two baggage cars of scenery and costumes under the care of experts. The chief costume maker, dressers and stage force travel with the company, also the orchestra conductor. These fifty dancers must be specially costumed for each number and technical staff is required to set up the scenery. Both costumes and scenery have been made from the finest materials and constructed with the greatest care. The costume worn by Pavley in "La Fleur de Mal" for instance, was made in Paris at a cost of $15,000, and is composed of emeralds, diamonds, pearls and rubies.

The bevy of American girls comprising the corps de ballet presents a picture of loveliness and grace not to be matched anywhere, while the principal dancers are those who have been accorded their positions by their ballet masters because of unusual proficiency. All in all, the Ballet Russe is a feast for the eye, be it artistic or otherwise, while the orchestral accompaniment adds further lustre to a brilliant assemblage.

GUILFORD MOORE MAKING GOOD RECORD IN NAVY

Local Boy Praised For Work on Board Ship.—On Rifle Team Which Beats Auckland.

Guilford J. Moore, son of Mrs. Cecil V. Moore, 155 Vance street, who joined the navy on November 26th of last year, is making an enviable record on board the ship "Colorado."

In a letter recently received by Mrs. Moore, information is given to the effect that he is one of the best men on board the ship, and is considered "an asset to his division, to this ship, and to the Navy." It is further stated that he is interested in religious things aboard ship and is a proponent of any forward movement on the ship.

Before joining the navy last year, Mr. Moore was a member of Company E of this city and as a member of the organization, did some outstanding work. He was selected on the squad to represent North Carolina militia at Camp Perry in Ohio and led the North Carolina delegation in shooting the match there.

Since entering the navy, Moore has done some excellent work, having been selected as one of the ten men to represent it in a rifle match in Auckland, where the United States team defeated the Australian team. He was one of the highest scorers in the day's event.

The letter to Mrs. Moore relative to her son, is as follows:

San Pedro, California, October 10, 1925.

Mrs. Cecil V. Moore, Concord, North Carolina.

My dear Mrs. Moore:

It was a pleasure to receive your letter of September 22nd. I am greatly interested in your son and have gotten to know him exceedingly well since his arrival on the Colorado. I have found him to be one of the best men we have aboard this ship. He does his work well, is an asset to his division, to this ship, and to the Navy.

I see him almost every day and notice that he is not only out for religious things but is interested in better things aboard ship. I hope that he may continue this interest through his four years of service. If he will go out of the navy far better, physically, mentally and morally than when he came in. I shall watch his development with interest.

Very cordially and sincerely,
Your boy's friend,
Signed: M. M. WITTENBORN.

VICE-CHARGE SENDS CONCORD MAN TO ROADS

Local Man, V. C. Baker, Gets Heaviest Sentence Following Hotel Raid in Raleigh.

The following story from the Raleigh Times gives an account of a Concord man's arrest and sentence to the Wake county roads for a period of six months:

V. C. Baker, a waiter of Concord, was the heaviest loser Monday in city court when Judge Burn passed judgment in five cases involving immoralities Sunday afternoon in the Raleigh Hotel. Baker got six months on the roads, while four others paid fines and costs.

The cases reached city court after Detective Banks and Thompson caught Ruth Eagles, of Winston-Salem, and G. C. Kennedy, of this city, together in a room at the hotel. Mr. Banks disclosed then led to the arrest of Baker, who occupied another room and posed as a friend of the woman. Marvin Smith, day negro bellhop, and Elbert Laws, night bellhop, brought the woman here, registered at the same hotel with her and then induced the bellhops to aid in acts of immorality by making dates. The woman testified that both negroes brought men to her room. Detective Banks stated that Baker was in possession of her money and had part of his clothes in her suitcase.

Kennedy and the two negroes were fined $10 and costs each, the bellhop getting suspended terms of six

MANAGER MERIWETHER GETS MUSIC FOR MONTH

Fiddlers Convention and Jazz Orchestra Offer Headline Attractions at Concord Theatre.

Theatre-goers will be given a treat Friday, October 23, when the management of that movie house puts on a big Fiddlers Convention and Jazz Orchestra with the Mooresville String Band, favorites in Concord, taking the lead in the music.

Plans have already been made to have, in addition to the band, a total of 30 Musicians who will contest for the prizes which are to be offered for the best rendition on stringed instruments, banjos, guitars, harps and fiddles. The whole show is to be under the direction of Frank Williams, of Mooresville.

The Mooresville String Band, which will be the headline of the night's entertainment, is well known in Concord, having played in the city on a number of occasions for square dances and also having been heard over the radio from Charlotte, where they often give programs.

Manager Meriwether has also secured another musical attraction for the month of October. On the 29th, Graham Prince and his Victor Record Orchestra will be in the city at both matinee and night performances. Persons interested in jazz orchestras will be glad to learn that a part of the personnel of the Prince Orchestra is composed of members of the Old Pennsylvania Serenaders, who played in the city for dances a number of times several years ago. Whitey Kaufman, a local favorite, is with this group of musicians.

RAGES RUN AT FAIR DESPITE THE RAIN

Horses Made Good Time on Track That Was Slowed Up Somewhat by Rain.

The rain which fell Wednesday failed to interrupt the race program at the Cabarrus County Fair. The regular program was carried out without a hitch, although the running time was slower than usual because of the condition of the track.

In the 2:11 race for purse of $300, Benland, owned by J. P. (Milk) of Concord, and driven by Scott, won first money, the best time for the race being 2:18 1/4. Second place went to Clay Simpson, owned and driven by J. H. Armstrong, of Birmingham. Poinsettias Bro., owned and driven by H. L. Roddy, of Morristown, Tenn., won third place, and fourth money went to Sidney Axworthy, owned and driven by W. J. Hodge, of Atlanta.

AMERICAN SLANG

American slang does not horrify Prof. William Craig, one of the two chief editors of the Oxford dictionary. He is in Chicago helping compile the new American dictionary.

"I thoroughly approve of American slang," he says. "It is often carried over by us, but on the other hand, some of your current colloquial phrases are extremely apt, and win the admiration of even the most strict of us."

In America slang gets into general conversation much more widely than in England, and is therefore more likely to win a place in the new dictionary.

"One instance of this is the phrase 'It's up to you.' There is no other group of English words to convey so concisely this exact shade of meaning. Slang expressions of this kind will be permanent additions to our language and obviously must be included in the new dictionary of American English."

MIDWAY SHOWS CONTINUE TO ATTRACT BIG CROWDS

Not Only Are Shows Good But the Equipment Is Clean and Personnel Attractive in Appearance.

The Bernardi Greater Shows, chief attractions on the Midway at the Cabarrus County Fair this year, continue to attract many of the persons who visit the fair grounds daily.

The chief reason for the interest taken in the shows seemingly lies in the fact that the show people are attractive in appearance and their equipment is in excellent condition. Despite the fact that the season for such outfits is drawing to a close, the management of the shows has kept its equipment in remarkably fine condition and the personnel refuses to "let down" as is often the case when the fair end of the season rolls around.

M. D. Golden, general representative and traffic manager of the Bernardi Shows, declares the season has been a very fine one for his business. He has played at some of the biggest State fairs in the east and South, and everywhere has broken attendance records. He attributes the success of the shows to the variety of the program he offers, the good equipment and the high standard of his personnel.

Mr. Golden has just signed a contract to winter his show in Charlotte, the winter quarters to be opened after the company plays several additional week engagements.
