STANLY CONVICT CAMP NOT AS BAD AS PICTURED

Politics Back of Reports. Although Conditions Are Not What They Should Be.

Concord, Oct. 12.—That there is politics mixed up with the reports as to bad conditions in the Stanly county jail, is a fact which is little doubted. Many exaggerated reports as to cruelties have gone out and many that were no doubt entirely false. These exaggerated and false reports have doubtless caused the local officials to pay less attention than they possibly should have. It is like the case of where the boy yelled "bear, bear," when there was no bear and then when the bear did come and he yelled "bear" no one paid any attention.

But while the mixed politics and prejudices against the changing superintendent have made conditions seem worse than they really are, yet there is quite a bit of complaint among leading Democrats here and throughout the county as to conditions at the camp. That it is not what it should be there are few who doubt, and the complaints are not by any means confined to members of the Republican party. Just this morning a leading Democrat and a high holding one of the highest business positions in the city with one of the largest industries of the county told a number of men, one of them having been a county official, that about three weeks ago he accompanied a local physician to the camp to see a sick negro. The man and the physician got in the camp after dark. They found the sick negro chained fast to the other prisoners in a small sleeping quarter about 13 by 18 to 20 feet. He was moaning and groaning in a manner as to keep the other prisoners from getting any sleep.

The physician requested a guard to bring the sick man out, but the guard told him that it was "too much trouble." After the physician had gone in and administered treatment (the negro was suffering from a case of old fashioned cramp colic, the physician said) a second request was made that the sick man be brought out of the stuffy quarters, but was again told that there was no extra guard to look after him. "He would be far better off chained to a tree outside," the physician told the guard, but even that request was denied. "I am not blaming the superintendent for such conditions," this man said, "but existing conditions are an absolute disgrace to Stanly county. I do not know who is responsible," he went on to say, "but I do know that there ought to be some place where sick prisoners could be segregated from the other men, for the sake of the well men who must work next day, under the lash, if necessary, even if not for the comfort of the sick ones themselves, for even if a man is bad, he is certainly ought to be given sleep at night, and however desperate one may be in character he should be allowed to die at least a dog's death."

This same speaker stated that he heard one of the guards "in charge" say that the sick negro above referred to was merely "poisoning" that there was nothing the matter with him, but that he did hope the "poisoning" would die before morning, "for he is no account anyway." This man said that he was at the camp with a local physician on another occasion and that he saw a negro whom the physician told him was suffering from the worst form of venereal disease, and that man was right there in the camp in the closest of contact with the well men," added the speaker.

Such reports as these, and these are only a sample of some of the complaints which can be heard on every "wind" coming from Democrats and Republicans, should convince any unbiased person of the fact that conditions at the Stanly county convict camp are not what they should be. At whose door the blame should be placed, this writer is not saying, but that Stanly county people, of all political parties, would welcome a most thorough investigation, there is absolutely no question, and that a searching investigation should be forthcoming there is still less doubt. Stanly county people are not expecting to have the convict camp converted into a pleasure resort, but they do want it maintained in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth, if it is not so maintained.

AUXILIARY PLANT MAY BE ERECTED IN ROWAN

Believed Likely That the Southern Power Company Will Build in That County.

Salisbury, Oct. 14.—It is believed that the erection of a large steam power plant by the Southern Power Company in Rowan close by Salisbury, before long, the company will make public announcement of plans for the construction of a development unit which of itself will be one of the largest steam power plants to be found in the south. The acreage on which option is said to be held lies a short way out from East Spencer, along the Yadkin river, and the plans are to construct a track from some point along the Spencer yards to the site of the plant.

According to reports relative to this development it will employ something like two to three hundred men and furnish a large horsepower as an auxiliary to the big production of the company's water power plants of the Carolinas.

The rumored purpose of this reported option is to buy the farm of Love Honbarrier as a site for a new 70,000 horsepower steam electric power plant that the Southern Power Company recently announced it would erect in this state.

Post and Flag's Cotton Letter.

New York, Oct. 14.—While more or less irregular, the market has shown a fairly steady undertone though called upon to absorb rather heavy offerings in the way of hedges, and replacing short lines which had been covered. Sentiment in local trading circles is aggressively bearish but the weather advices are not altogether satisfactory to sellers as very heavy rains are reported to have beaten out more or less cotton and to have left the plant waterlogged and exposed to damage by frost. Some feeling of the bulls is reported and that seed is sprouting all of which with continued damage by leaf worm is not favorable for a top crop without which it is hardly probable that the higher crop estimates will be realized.

Judging by the official figures to-day consumption remains fairly full of cotton. Some feeling of the bulls is reported and that seed is sprouting all of which with continued damage by leaf worm is not favorable for a top crop without which it is hardly probable that the higher crop estimates will be realized.

Any bearish disappointment would find the market heavily short and result in a prompt and fairly extensive if only temporary recovery, but any sustained advance will have to rest on a broadening of the demand for goods since speculative support is not likely to be in evidence except on compulsion.

"Twinkling Ankles" Will Be Seen Again.

London, Oct. 13.—The twinkling ankles of years ago are likely to be seen this season. Fashion experts say there will be no plain silk stockings for the society belle who wishes to be up to date. They will be adorned with silk embroidery and ribbon flowers, in the center of which will twinkle a small mock diamond. Other stockings will have embroidered silk omens, tipped with brilliants, in a variety of designs.

WASHINGTON—Although the council of the Interparliamentary Union refused even to consider the plea of Carl Lindhagen, mayor of Stockholm, that the union adopt a common language for the whole world, yet comment among his fellow delegates indicated that Lindhagen's proposal would have had many supporters, provided they had considered it possible of realization.

They didn't so consider it, however, and felt it would have been a waste of time to discuss it.

SOME of the English-speaking delegates at the interparliamentary gathering did seem to think their language's spread promised to make it ultimately a medium which may prove serviceable for the transaction of all business, at polyglot assemblies.
