Jake Newell is a quick thinking, quick acting man, with more than ordinally brain. He can adapt himself to all classes of people and feel at beine, and he is smart enough to play the soft pedal. I remember several years ago at Court in Charlotte Hon. Cam Morrison said that Hon. John J. Parker had the brightest future of any man in the state, if he hadn't turned a fool and joined the Republican party. Jake Newell spoke up and said that is where he showed his good sense. And it seems that he did, for he pulled down a good ripe plum and it will take a long time to eat it.

Jake Newell is a rock-ribbed Republication.

Robert Weddington is doing a good business, here feeding the people.

Mr. Lee Peeler has just recently made a large fine spring of grante and his moved his electric pump from his well to the spring. Several use water from the spring. Several use water from the spring.

When we were attending the fair we visited the Efird's large fine store. Mr. Joe Cress showed us all over the store. We went up and down in the elevator. They are all fine, clever people. Mr. Cress has been with the Egrd store 15 years. We met Mr. Harris, manger of Efrd's store. They have a beauty shop and a rest room for the ladies. Here are the names of some of the clerks in Efird's store: Myrtle Fink, Pearle Hathcock, Annie Richardson, Fay Krimminger, Ann Brice Baird, cashier, Mr. R. F. Johnson, shoe manager. If you want to see a fine store and good clever clerks, go to Efird's at Concord, N. C.

We have a lot of good items about the big Concord fair.

We spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. John Ritchie in Salisbury.

Mr. Ritchie is bossing the job and building the large fine Boyden High School for Salisbury. He showed us all over the building. It sure is going to be a fine school building when finished. Mr. Ritchie is one of the best carpenters and house builders in this country. He lived in Faith before he moved to Salisbury.

J. T. Wyart shipped a pair of mill stones today.

We attended the big sale at the old home of the late D. O. Miller and bought a big wagon load of old time things. The old time loom and everything that goes with it, and old time bedsteads and chairs and other things too numerous to mention. Will Eagle twist her crier and C. D. Plyler was clerk at the sale.
