TOM SIMS SAYS

When a man says he'll never marry it is just because he doesn't know what kind of girls there are in the world.

Be quiet. Then you will know what others think of you. And they won't know what you think of them.

Don't tell all you know. It is discouraging to learn how little it really is.

Sometimes one person doesn't like another because they are alike which is embarrassing to both.

The man who doesn't find fault with you is your worst enemy.

Being mistaken now and then isn't half as big a mistake as never being mistaken.

DOOMED BY ATTACK ON NEW YORK GIRL

Georgia Is Sentenced to Chair For Assaulting a Pedestrian en Route to Florida, Oct. 24.—A jury consisting mostly of farmers today convicted O. A. Wheeler, thirty-five, of assaulting Pauline Jacobs, a young woman who came to Georgia from New York en route to Florida, and Judge Harileman sentenced him to death. He is to go to the chair December 11th.

With only a slight show of emotion Wheeler stood up to receive sentence. His aged father, who came from Johnson, a neighboring county, to attend the trial, completely broke down. Wheeler's mother is dead. He is a married man, but a few months ago he and his wife separated. There is one child.

It is believed the jury determined upon the death penalty for Wheeler after another jury had given W. A. Y. M. C. A. Will Admit Non-Church Members to Its Voting Lists. Washington, Oct. 25.—The Young Men's Christian Association of North America for the first time in history, voted today to open its voting membership to non-church members providing they subscribed to a Nasworthy a twenty-year sentence earlier in the week for his part in the assault upon the young woman because it was generally known to them that Wheeler had been charged with the offense on two other occasions. This was not brought out in the trial, as Wheeler did not put his character in evidence, but neighborhood jurors knew of it as thoroughly as if they had heard all about it from the witness box.

The girl told the same story on the stand in the Wheeler case that she related to the grand jury and to the court during the Nasworthy trial.

The main difference between her story and the one related by Wheeler was that they promised to take her on to Florida and that she thought she was on her way there during the ride in the afternoon—the roads being unfamiliar to her; that the arrival at the "bachelor quarters" was a complete surprise to her; and that she was kept a prisoner there all night, taken down the road next morning and again assaulted and left in an unconscious condition.

"I have no people," she told the Court, "or at least, if I have I don't know it. I came to the United States from Russia eleven years ago—leaving my parents there. I don't know whether they are living or dead. I struggled hard to make my way in New York but just simply could not get along and live right—so I left. I had heard of the fortunes being made in Florida and that it was easy to get down there, so I decided to get there even if I had to walk."

It was reported here this morning that defense will make further investigation in New York into the girl's character before an appeal which had been filed is heard.

stipulated declaration of faith. The convention, which was opened today with an address by President Coolidge, subjected the change in policy to extended debate, in which one school of thought strongly urged limitation of active membership to men and boys belonging to evangelical churches. The final vote for the change in policy was more than three to one. The convention today elected Charles P. Taft, second, of Cincinnati, as its president.
