This play, which was for the first number of the Lyceum Course that is being conducted by The Collegiate Institute and Mount Amoena Seminary, bristles with epigrams and pleasing comedy. It fairly bubbles with music and good humor. All are looking forward to the next number of the course. This number is to be given on Saturday evening, November 7, and is known as "The Gypsy Quintet." Their program will consist of Gypsy Songs and Melodies, instrumental and vocal popular orchestral and chorus numbers.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL.

Number of Battles Arranged for Tug-of-War Contests.—Pictures to Give Proceeds.

Everything is now in readiness for the big Halloween Carnival which is to be staged Friday for the benefit of a group of charities in Concord.

Final arrangements for the tug-of-war contests were made today when it was learned that the Salisbury High School would send a team to the city to participate in a battle with the Concord High. The winner of this match will take on a group of Wincoff High School boys to determine the championship.

An academic tug has been arranged between the full-fledged collegiates from Davidson College and the embryonic collegiates from the Institute, who are to battle for the scholastic championship of the state.

Still more of these tussles have been arranged, with the Salisbury Industrial team at one end of the rope and the Hartsell Mill team at the end of the other.

An athletic contest of a different nature has been provided in a case-ball contest between representatives of Central School and No. 2 school. The girls will also battle in a pass over game in the gym.

Two of the local moving picture houses have promised to turn over their proceeds to the fund, the Star and Pastime giving special shows for the occasion.

WINECOFF SCHOOL NEWS

John Sharpe Williams Elected President of Literary Society to Succeed James Tucker.—Hallowe'en Party Friday Evening.—Girl Basketball Aspirants Also Working.

(BY JAZZY MOORE) (Official High School Reporter)

John Sharpe Williams was elected president of the Wincoff High School Literary Society at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. He succeeds James Tucker, who has held the executive office for several months.

John Williams is one of Wincoff's most prominent and popular students. He has held offices in various clubs and societies. He is one of the youngest students in the annals of the society to become its presiding officer.

Johnny adds to these qualities a pleasing personality that has won for him a host of friends since entering the institution and that will make him a splendid officer. That he will have the co-operation of the entire membership of the Literary Society in keeping up the high record of efficiency and service established by the past presidents of the society is a foregone conclusion.

Other officers elected for the ensuing term are: Ken Burrage, vice-president; Grace Litaker, secretary; and Margery Stone, treasurer. N. O. Stone was elected chaplain; Ruby Litaker, critic; and Vertie Cline and James Moore, news reporters for The Concord Tribune.

Society Programme. Prior to the election of officers at the society meeting yesterday afternoon an interesting and well-planned program was rendered.

A notable feature of the numbers was the declamation by the president, John Sharpe Williams, who gave a strong and forceful talk on the constitution of the United States from its first inception to the present day. He gave a most enlightening history of the constitution, emphasizing aims and ideals as well as all that it stands for in the government of today. The program also included a number of vocal and instrumental selections.

Expecting Party to Bring Great Throng. The annual Hallowe'en party heralded by the faculty and students of the high school and looked forward to by the neighboring towns of Kannapolis and Mooresville, is expected to find a great crowd of people at the school Friday evening. Almost all Wincoff residents are co-operating in this fall event under the direction of the senior class of the high school. It will be one of the most elaborate and extensive of the kind the county has known.

Girls Expect to Throw Winner in the Field. To keep pace with the boys, the girls have organized a basketball club, elected a manager and captain and have begun the hard grind that will end only after winners are determined in March. The girls have to throw a championship winning sextette in the field. Several old players and substitutes have returned.

James Barnett Thrown Off Wheeler. Taken to Good Samaritan Hospital in Charlotte.

James Barnett, a negro, who was serving a 90-day sentence on the county roads, was seriously injured Wednesday when the wheel on which he was riding, caught in a stump and overturned, causing severe injuries around his stomach.

He was rushed to the Good Samaritan Hospital in Charlotte, where he is being kept owing to his very serious injuries.

Although it is the custom for men working on the roads to ride their wheelers, it is known that it is hazardous, since any obstruction will overturn them.

A similar accident occurred shortly afterward when another negro, working on the roads, was overturned as he rode his wheeler. He was not badly injured and was able to continue his work.

CITIZENS CLEAR GROUND FOR NEW BETHEL SCHOOL

Site For Consolidated School Donated to the County by 'Squire J. C. McEachern.

First work on the proposed new consolidated school in No. 10 township was done Wednesday when a group of citizens of that section met and cleaned off the recently selected site in preparation for the building operations which are to begin at an early date.

This school is one of the six that was designated by the county school board earlier in the year to be erected for the high school instruction.

The site chosen is on the Albemarle-Charlotte highway near the new Bethel Church, in the center of the district. Ten acres of ground were presented to the county by 'Squire J. C. McEachern' for this use.

Despite the fact that there was opposition from certain sections of the township to the site which was finally selected, it was felt that this was superior to any which might have been chosen.

The soil, according to County Superintendent J. B. Robertson, is well adapted to playground purposes, being light and sandy, and the site is ideal with respect to drainage and sewerage disposal. There is a frontage on two roads, on the Albemarle-Charlotte highway and on the Bethel-Carricker stone road. This makes it easy of access from any part of the district.

The No. 10 school location is placed one-half mile from the Cabarrus station on the Norfolk and Southern railway.

Actual plans have not been drawn yet for the consolidated schools in the county. It is expected that an architect will be secured at an early date who will draw plans for several of the school buildings. Preliminary proposals indicate that the Bethel school will be erected at a cost of something in the neighborhood of $40,000 and will be a building of approximately twelve classrooms with an auditorium.

When completed, it is probable that this group of schools will compare favorably with any other similar group in the entire state of North Carolina.
