LOOK FOR NOTORIOUS FUGITIVE IN MOUNTAINS

Gerald Chapman's Pal Believed by Some Officers to Be Hiding Near Asheville. Asheville, Oct. 28—Is "Dutch" Anderson, notorious fugitive from justice, hiding in the mountain fastnesses of western North Carolina? Federal secret service men have visited Asheville during the past week in search of Anderson and while here made a trip to Flats, a small village where they expected investigation would reveal the hiding place of the famous bandit.

It is a well known fact that the search by Department of Justice officers over the country for Anderson is going on with undiminished vigor and several arrests have been made of men who resembled Gerald Chapman's pal.

Postal authorities, together with local deputy marshals, visited another place in Madison county where a man resembling Anderson had been arrested, but their investigation failed to warrant their holding him.

The fact that this is a tourist center, giving a stranger free range and causing him to attract little attention anywhere around here is believed to have influenced agents in following the tip that "Dutch" Anderson was in this section to evade capture.

Anderson, it will be recalled, was with Chapman in his daring escape from the federal prison at Atlanta, and has, since the conviction of his pal for the murder of a New Brunswick, N. J., policeman, been accused of murdering Ben Hance and his wife, who informed against Chapman in the murder case. He is considered one of the country's most dangerous criminals, and a staggering reward has been offered for his arrest.

"I'm not in favor of all these statistics," objected the pessimist. "Why?" "Because it makes my wife ask why I'm not an average man, with $304.45 in the bank and an income of $57.50."

BALTIMORE BANK GETS THE BUS LINES

Hambleton and Company Secures Options on the Greensboro-Raleigh Lines. Raleigh News and Observer. Fight between rival organizations to secure options on bus lines in this territory appeared yesterday to have resulted in complete victory for Hambleton and Company, investment bankers of Baltimore, who have secured options on all lines between Raleigh and Greensboro.

The Baltimore bankers through Major W. T. Thorne, of New York, and Willis Smith, local attorney, have secured options for the purchase of the Southern Transit Company, the Safety Coach Lines, Inc., and the Carolina Motor Coach Lines, operating between Greensboro and Raleigh at a price said to be around $275,000.

Hambleton and Company are also negotiating for options on the Safety Transit Lines, owned by S. T. Gresham, which operates a bus line between Raleigh and Fayetteville and Raleigh and Wilson, according to Mr. Smith.

It was rumored here yesterday that in securing options on the Greensboro, Raleigh lines, Thorne had beaten John T. Johnson, of Greensboro, who was said to be seeking options for the recently incorporated Carolina Transit Company. R. L. McMillan, of the incorporators of the Carolina Transit Company, stated last night that Johnson had secured no options for his company but said that he understood he had been attempting to secure options for himself and N. E. Hart, another incorporator of the Carolina Transit Company.

The amount called for by the options of Hambleton and Company was estimated by employees of the Corporation Commission at between $500,000 and $700,000 but this was declared greatly excessive by both Mr. Smith and Mr. Thorne.

CHURCH PUBLICITY.

Statesville Daily. Talking to the men's Bible Class at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, Dr. H. K. Boyer, formerly well known and popular pastor in Statesville, incidentally touching on the progress of the age, paid tribute to the newspapers. Twenty-five years ago, he said, the newspapers wouldn't touch church news, while now they give pages to church news. It is true that featuring church news is a part of the development of the modern newspaper.

One reason is the extension and elaboration of religious agencies, in which a greater number of people are engaged and in which there is more widespread interest, hence the increased importance in the news of religious work. Another and more important reason, in North Carolina at least, is the growth and development of the newspapers. With the progress of the State the newspapers have progressed. They have more space and employ more people and can therefore handle a much more varied collection of matter.

The reason church news was given little attention formerly was not because it was considered unimportant, but the space and the number of employees were restricted to the limited business, and under the customs and practices of the time the religious features were small because the church papers, being restricted to church news, were supposed to take care of that field.

It has not been so long since the newspaper business has expanded sufficiently to permit of the employment of reporters necessary to the care of a larger field and this field has been extended to church activities. In the smaller towns the papers are still hampered. Their activities in news gathering is limited to the extent of their business. The smaller papers can't afford a number of reporters to work the different fields.

Since current news of the day, news in general, is first expected directed; and it is only on the larger papers that sufficient force can be employed to cultivate the larger field. For that reason the small town paper must rely on the co-operation of the church people for the church news that it is glad to carry and wants to carry; and candor compels the statement that the co-operation very often doesn't co-operate. One who has had long experience in the newspaper field, and who tried industriously in various ways, to give the churches representation in newspaper columns will testify—and this testimony will be corroborated by newspaper editors generally—that of all information church news is the most difficult to get and requires an extraordinary amount of effort at times. Even the churches have anyone appointed to the job of giving out church news, and with the exception of the pastors, it is sometimes almost impossible to get information about church affairs. There is negligence and indifference in giving even the church notices in some cases, and special effort has to be made to obtain them.

If there is special news of any sort few church people seem to think it is any part of their business to give it to the news paper without waiting to be asked, and sometimes many inquiries fail to elicit what is desired. This isn't so much criticism as it is a statement of facts from the newspaper end. Every up-to-date church should have a secretary of information in charge of all church news, capable of knowing all ways of publicity which would help the churches, and more especially help the churches, by taking the pains to give the papers the information available in time, not after the paper is ready to go to press. This would at least remove the complaint sometimes heard, which is without sound basis, that the churches are ignored.

Most churches recognize the value of newspaper publicity. That is one reason why they are given such publicity as never before; they make, and should make, some effort to secure publicity. The church that gives some attention to publicity is the church that co-operates with the newspaper that would serve the churches as all papers are ready to do. Those who fail in this respect have only themselves to blame if they do not get a full share of the publicity.

When a woman becomes engaged she thinks of the furs she will have; when she marries she thinks of those she might have had.

A woman needs only to be told she is a fine production to believe for the rest of her life—a man's doesn't need telling.

Stewart's Washington Letter

WASHINGTON — Is Senator Burton K. Wheeler being persecuted? A good many of his brother senators are going to make up their minds affirmatively unless the government makes out a stronger case against him at his coming trial here than it made out against him in Montana, on the charge of having acted as "fixer" at the Interior Department for Gordon Campbell, the oil man. At least that's the consensus of gossip around the capitol now.

PERSECUTING a senator, in other senators' eyes, is about the worst offense imaginable. Senators are something like royalty. Kings may quarrel between themselves, but let the populace rise up against any particular king and all the other kings are on his side. Their feeling is that an institution has been taken but it was understood that unless the city of Hickory reaches some agreement with the Brookford mill, regarding the water, there will be a legal fight.

It was claimed that the entire usage of water for Hickory was taken from the river feeding the mill and that about 75 per cent of it was carried across to the Catawba river. City Attorney Joseph L. Murphy is preparing a brief in which he will likely contend among other things, that the city of Hickory owns a right of way to the river from whence its water supply is taken and that it owns half of the river. No decided stand was taken by the city council which will await information and advice from the city attorney and other lawyers.

Co-operative Shipment of Livestock. Statesville, N. C., Oct. 28.—The first co-operative shipment of livestock ever sent out of Jackson county was made last week, when a carload of beef cattle was sold by growers of the county through the efforts of T. L. Gwyn and Farm Agent C. W. Tilson.

Mr. Tilson reports that farmers and business men of the county are much interested in this movement and other shipments will follow as soon as the cattle can be brought together. Mr. Tilson also reports a recent successful get-together meeting of farmers and business men of the county at which time plans were made toward the future agricultural development of Jackson county.
