

"Feminine Bluebeard" Is a Most Daring Criminal

BY NEA SERVICE Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14.—Another chapter in a story of crime rivaling the famous "Bluebeard" murders in France has been written with the escape of a woman "lifer" from the Indiana women's prison.

Displaying the same clever criminal skill which police alleged caused her to murder two husbands and a father-in-law by slowly poisoning them to death, Mrs. Clara Carl escaped from the prison. So far no trace of her has been found. She is considered one of the most daring woman criminals in the country.

Feeding Chickens.

So cleverly did she outwit the prison authorities that she took all belongings with her. Mrs. Carl had deceived the warden into believing that she could be trusted and she was assigned to feeding the chickens in the prison yard.

childhood sweethearts.

Robert and Clara appeared deeply in love. They went to Cleveland, where Gibson was a teacher. His wife was employed on a newspaper. They conceived the idea of getting rich by going from town to town, writing and selling illustrated histories of various localities.

What the World Is Doing As Seen by Popular Mechanics Magazine

An Automatic Mechanical Fisherman

This automatic fisherman, made from an old window-shade roller and three tin-can lids will hook and play a fish until the fisherman gets there. Its construction is clearly shown in the upper details of the illustration. The lids are soldered together to form a reel for the fishline and this reel, in turn, is fastened to the square pin on the end of the shade roller.

Nails Are Most Dangerous Implements in Industry

That nails are the most dangerous implements in industry is indicated by figures gathered in New York. In one year, compensation was made for 1,338 accidents due to nails and, using New York City's average of thirty mishaps daily from this cause, there are nearly 18,000 such injuries yearly in the state.

Strip-Inclosed Storm Window Makes Neat Winter "Icebox"

By using two tapered strips of wood and a board on the kitchen-window sill, when the winter storm sash is attached, considerable space can be provided for cooling food, etc. The photo clearly shows how this is arranged. The sidepieces are 8 in. wide at the base and the shelf is mortised into the lower edges. Cleats form a seat for the edge of the sash, while wingnuts hold it in place.

Insects Pick Own Birthdays to Conform to Weather

If the weather is bad, the small egger moth can postpone its own birthday for days, months or years, according to observations just made by a British scientist. The cocoon of this type of insect is ordinarily due to open in February, but if the weather is inclement the birth is usually postponed for twelve months.

Burning Off Dry Weeds

A novel and practical method of burning off dry weeds and grass is to set an old tire afire and slowly drag it along by means of a wire, about 12 or 15 ft. long. One man should stand by with a fire extinguisher in case the blaze should spread too far or comes too near the fence.

The Busy Fire Department

go to the depot and then, too, the schedule might not be just right. Now there are both trains and bus lines. Then in addition there are Ford's and automobiles. It is easy to travel. The result has been that people are getting better acquainted than ever before. This applies to families no less than others. The ease with which one can travel enables those of similar tastes to get together at more frequent intervals than formerly.

Intolerance. Chattanooga News. In the course of an editorial recently on the somewhat hackneyed subject of "Tolerance and Intolerance" The Dearborn Independent said among other things: "The day is gone in which this nation stands for tolerance or intolerance, but indifference. The thing that passes for tolerance in this country today is a spineless and unmanly mushiness that doesn't care. The thing that passes for intolerance is in many instances the first reactions of an awakened consciousness toward certain powerful trends now operative in the nation. What we call intolerance has this advantage over indifference, that it represents mental activity, however incomplete, while indifference represents deadness. You can deal with intolerance on the basis of the facts, because its mind has been stabbed awake, but on what ground can you deal with indifference until disaster overtakes it?" Mr. Brown (kindly)—My dear, you have nothing decent to wear, have you? Wife (with alacrity)—No, indeed, I haven't; not a thing. I'd be ashamed to be seen anywhere. My very newest party dress has been worn three times already. Mr. Brown—Yes; that's just what I told Blifkins when he offered me two tickets for the theater tonight. I knew if I took them they'd be wanted. So I just got out. Well, I must hurry. TRIBUNE PENNY AD. TRY IT.
