

Proper Cleansing
involves almost infinite details.

There is the necessity for understanding the changes in fabrics constantly coming out, the late shades and modes in colors; the new styles and ways of draping.

Attention to these details gives our cleansing the up-to-date-ness that makes it distinctive.

COUNTRY CORRESPONDENCE

FAITH.
October 31st, 1925—this is the birthday of John Thomas Wyatt, and this is his birthday letter. He writes one every year and tells what happens on this day. He went to Salisbury and was treated to one of the best birthday dinners ever had at the Empire Hotel. This was our first meal there since the hotel was re-modeled and changed hands and is now one of the finest hotels to be found in North Carolina. Many people were taking dinner there all over the large fine dining room. He had a talk with nearly all of them and got some of their names. Some told us they were passing through on the way to Florida and just stopped in for dinner. Here are the names of some of them: M. E. Huebel, Pittsburgh, Pa.; J. J. McLoughlin, Pittsburgh, Pa.; J. C. Harkey, Salisbury, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Welch, Salisbury's milliner; H. S. Richardson, Greensboro; Mary Emond Syracuse, N. Y.; J. D. Lave, Columbus, Miss.; T. O. Deepuy, Greensboro, and several others whose names we did not get. J. C. Small, the steward, is a fine young man. He showed us over the cooking department. Mr. T. H. Holt, the proprietor, is a fine, clever gentleman. Here are some more names of people taking dinner at the Hotel: Alvin T. Rowe, Jr., London, England; Miss Katharine Porter, Davidson, N. C.; James F. Hodge, Greensboro. No wonder so many people stop over for dinner on their way to Florida. They have so many good things to eat and such a fine large dining room and some of the prettiest girls to wait on the guests you ever saw. When you want a square meal go to the Empire Hotel, Salisbury, on the National Highway. We are having cold weather here now. Ketchie's barber shop we got a shave by R. W. Garrison, one of the best barbers in North Carolina, and in Mr. Loder's chair was a pretty girl getting her hair trimmed and two others waiting. They would not write their names in our book. We got on our birthday two beautiful birthday cards in envelopes. Here is what is printed on one: "A Happy Birthday. Here's to a happy birthday with just a line to say I'm sending loads of wishes and happiest thoughts your way. From several readers of Venus' items in The Salisbury Post." And here is what is printed on the other card: "Wishing you with all my heart a happy birthday." And here is what is written with pen and ink: "Ruth Torrence, Gastonia, N. C."

Phil H. Palmer, hotel clerk at the Empire, sent Venus a beautiful card Haglow'en Greetings. One man who lives on N. Green St., Salisbury, gave us one dollar for a jar of eczema cure.

We met Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Stewart, of Cleveland, N. C., Route 2, in Salisbury with a fine lot of turnips for sale. One of Rowan county's big farmers. He gave us some money to have the Salisbury Evening Post sent to him so they could read the items by Venus. They invited us to come to see them some time.

We met Rev. W. G. Cobb, of Salem, Church in Salisbury.

We met Mr. R. A. Petyol, who just came from Virginia to go to work on the Evening Post and no doubt he will set up these items on his Linotype machine.

At Feldman's store we saw Miss Margaret Lyster and Miss Mary Kimball, cashier and several other pretty girls, clerks as busy as bees waiting on the people.

These items are what has happened on our birthday, October 31st.

Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Andrews went back to their old home town, Great Falls, N. C., to the big Dixon reunion. Mr. Simon Dixon, the oldest man there, uncovered a beautiful tombstone made of a fine millrock.

Faith public school started October 8th, 1925, with Miss Odella Cault as the sixth grade teacher. She sure is a good teacher. Miss Eula Belle Fink, Miss Helen Jones, Miss Elizabeth McCombs, Mr. Robert Andrews, all go to Salisbury every day. Miss Fink, Miss Jones and Mr. Andrew go to the high school and Miss McCombs to the new Catawba College.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Russell and son, Harlin, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Christenbury Sunday night.

Basketball keeps the high school boys and girls interested at White Hall.

Roy Christenbury, of Route 7, was a Sunday afternoon visitor at the home of Mr. Marvin Blackwelder.

Forrest Russell, of Route 7, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. R. A. Russell near the Hartwell Mill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Harrison and son, Archie Jr., of Salisbury, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Christenbury on Route 7.

"Master Bobbie" Lee Harrison returned to his home in Salisbury Sunday after spending a few months with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Christenbury.

The White Hall Literary Society met Friday, October 30th, 1925. The following officers were elected to serve for the following month: Steven Menzies, president; Lloyd Garmon, vice-president; Miss Kate Post, secretary and treasurer; Miss Nettie Litaaker, Miss Grace Kiser and Miss Irene Menzies program committee; Roy Christenbury as critic. The society adjourned to meet on Friday, November 7, 1925. The debate will be as follows: Resolved, that the country is better than the city as a place for a child to grow up. The affirmative will be upheld by Miss Viola Sides and Roy Christenbury; while the negative will be defended by Miss Dollie McDonald and Miss Lucille Barber.

Charles Carpenter, of Route 3, formerly of Route 6, was a visitor at the home of Miss Ruth Moneycut, in Concord, recently.

Come on, all you correspondents. School has already begun and we know you can get plenty to write. So let's get down to work and get something real good for The Times and Tribune. If we are going to have good items we must work to get them.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, Nov. 6.—The Nicholas Longworth's home promises to be the social center of Washington this coming winter. The Longworths' entertainments have long been famous. They're not ostentatious, but they have the touch, pre-eminently, of "quality"—the sort of thing that can't be come by except naturally.

One of Washington's social weaknesses is that invitations are sent out mostly on an official basis. Guests are guests, in the main, not because they have charm, accomplishments to their credit, personality, brains, something to contribute to an occasion's interest and vivacity—but because they're "somebody" in the Congressional director.

But Mrs. Longworth won't be bored by dull people. One is asked to her home on account of worthwhile characteristics. Her parties scintillate, invariably. The country's real statesmen, its scientists, its first-class men of letters, its big business men who know something besides business, those who have achieved or bid fair to do so—this is the group the late Colonel Roosevelt's daughter gathers about her.

Nicholas Longworth isn't overshadowed by his brilliant wife. Brilliant himself, the pair are perfectly complementary. Officially a congressman is no great figure in Washington, but Congressmen Longworth always has been, by virtue of his genuine ability, nimble wit and attractive personality. Now, as speaker of the House of Representatives, he steps into a position generally placed next to the president's in political importance.

The Longworths will open their big new house in Massachusetts avenue late in November. Yes, their new house. Their old one, in M street, had no yard for little Paulina to play in. That's why they say they moved, but maybe they had also in mind an extra room in which to discharge increased social obligations incidental to the speakership.

There will be a Sunday school institute held at the Roberta Methodist Protestant Church Sunday night beginning at 6 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come, as we are expecting some good singing and splendid addresses on the different phases of the Sunday school work. Remember the date, Sunday night, November 8th, and Mrs. Cagle has moved from Harrisburg into our village.

The mill is still running on short time on account of low water. We hope it will soon start up on full time. Our people seemed to enjoy the Halloween night to the fullest extent. A crowd put on their costumes and paid several homes visits and made music for them on the guitar.

We suppose Venus had a nice time Halloween, as it was his birthday. We have a family in our village that has six children whose birthdays are in October. Two of them are 31st. Still they are not twins. If you can beat that for birthdays in one month let's hear from you.

Mrs. W. J. McLaughlin passed to the reward last Friday morning about 11:30 o'clock. Funeral services were held at the Patterson Mill Presbyterian Church. The remains were carried to the cemetery at Back Creek church and there laid to rest. She was a good woman loved by all who knew her. The bereaved family has our sympathy.

Come on route seven with your items. We like to read them.

CONCORD ROUTE THREE.

We are having plenty of rain now, and the farmers are glad to see it. We are also having some cold weather. We are not so fond of it.

Mr. Marvin Moore spent last Saturday night and Sunday in Spencer. He reports a nice time.

Paul Barnhardt spent Saturday night with Charley Edgison. They spent Sunday in Kannapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Christy spent Sunday in Kannapolis.

BROWN EYES.

WESTERN STANLY.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Odum, of Wadesboro, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Dry.

Mrs. Paul Reinhardt is quite sick at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Yow have moved to Concord to make their home.

A ten days' revival meeting is in progress at the Midland Baptist Church.

A crowd of Stanfield boys spent one night last week trying to catch a coon. Coons are hard to catch in Stanly county. But they said they saw it.

A. J. Love and son, Mump, were in Stanfield Friday.

Most of the farmers in this vicinity have finished sowing small grain. Those who have not will wait another year probably, for there has been almost a steady downpour of rain for twenty-four hours.

A large crowd attended the funeral and burial of Joe M. Easley at Locust Baptist Church. Much sympathy is felt for the young wife and other relatives.

Artie Eudy is building a pretty cottage for himself on the Midland-Stanfield road.

The public road from the Stanly line to the Concord-Monroe highway is being put in fine shape. This will make a good outlet for Western Stanly folks to go to Concord, where they like to go anyway.

ROBERTA.

We have had a few good rains during the past few days, which were very much needed.

The farmers of our community are busy plowing and sowing wheat.

Our pastor left Tuesday night for conference accompanied by the delegate, W. B. Smith.

The ladies aid society met with Mrs. Z. D. Cochran last Friday night.

There will be a Sunday school institute held at the Roberta Methodist Protestant Church Sunday night beginning at 6 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come, as we are expecting some good singing and splendid addresses on the different phases of the Sunday school work. HARRISBURG ROUTE 3.

We are thankful for the rain we had last week. Mrs. Mattie Wiggins has returned home from the hospital.

Mrs. Sarah Oehler has been sick.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Beard spent last Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Beard, of Cornelius. There was a Halloween party at Mallard Creek schoolhouse last Friday night.

Mrs. Lizzie Burnett spent Saturday with Mrs. Cora Christenbury.

Mrs. Jack Stowe returned home from the hospital last Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Haines, Mrs. Dave Barnett, and Mrs. Ed Christenbury spent Saturday evening with Miss Lizzie Hunter and Mrs. T. S. Beard.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart spent the week-end with Mrs. Harkey.

ENOCHVILLE.

A mad dog went through here Monday evening late, according to later reports the dog was all around Will Rumples, Peeler Rodgers, and Chas. Beavers, biting their dogs and probably lots of others. We have not yet heard of the dog being killed but we hope it is.

Mrs. C. A. Beaver, who was recently taken to the hospital, is doing fine.

The rain has been very much appreciated around here. We hope the mills will be able now to operate on full time. Plows and tractors will get busy now, for most of the grain crop is yet to be planted.

Mrs. Dora Upright has returned to her home in Davidson, after spending two weeks with her son, C. C. Upright.

H. H. Upright is having his corn shredded today. BUSY BEE.
