LOCAL MENTION

Cotton on the local market is today quoted at 19 cents per pound.

The weekly meeting of the Concord Kiwanis Club will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow at 12:30 p. m.

Moving pictures will be shown at the Brown Mill by the Y force tonight. These weekly showings at the Brown Mill are greatly enjoyed by the large audience seeing them.

The condition of Mrs. N. A. Archibald, who is confined to her home with an attack of appendicitis, is reported today as improved. She is still unable to be up, however.

Football fans here will be interested in the announcement that State and Davidson are to play at Raleigh during fair week next year under a contract just signed. It is also announced that V. M. I. has been added to Davidson's schedule for 1926.

Prayer services this morning at the Y. M. C. A. were attended by a large number of young men of the city at 8 o'clock. All the men of Concord are urged to be present tomorrow morning at the service which concluded the week of prayer.

For the first time since he returned to Concord from the Charlotte Sanatorium, Nevin Sappenfield was able to walk uptown yesterday when he strolled up to go to a movie show. His progress was necessarily slow as he still has a cast on his leg.

Volleyball practice for the business men of the city continues to draw many of the men at the Y. M. C. A. each evening. The team is getting in shape and will probably be able to begin its match games within several weeks.

J. W. Denny will have a physical exhibition for the Father and Son banquet, which is to be held at an early date. A number of the younger boys have been secured to construct a "human pyramid." A quarter is also being arranged for this affair.

Officers of the county who want to capture James Byers, negro, charged with killing Ceif Stafford, another negro, have heard nothing from the negro since he left the Franklin Mill, where the homicide occurred. Officers have not yet given up hope of capturing Byers.

Concord was well represented at the Anniversary Day races in Charlotte yesterday, several scores of persons from this city and county being among the throng that saw Milton win the race with Hartz in second place. Most of the local people motored to the speedway.

Police officers declare that not nearly so many cars passed through Concord yesterday as did in May when the Memorial Day races were held in Charlotte. Officers at that time had some difficulty in handling traffic here, but yesterday everything moved off smoothly.

No session of the city recorder's court was held yesterday. One case in which a man is charged with passing a bad check, was continued until Monday at the request of the defendant. One arrest was made by officers last night, the defendant being charged with being intoxicated.

Another rain has brought rising temperatures to the city. Overhanging clouds yesterday brought signs of rain but late in the day the clouds broke up and it was clear early last night. Some rain fell in the city during the night and this morning and temperatures have risen many degrees since yesterday morning.

Fair officials here hope to secure a big football game for next fair week. It is planned to stage the game on October 16th provided that week is chosen for the fair. The infield at the grounds is large enough for a playing field and knock-down bleachers that will hold several thousand persons and officials will begin negotiations at once for a game.

The bride was exchanging her bridal costume for her traveling dress, and the chief bridesmaid was assisting her. "Did I appear nervous during the ceremony?" she asked. "A little at first, dear," said the other, sweetly, "but not after Charlie said, 'I will.'"

Inquisitive Old Lady: "Now tell me about your first success." Wearied Young Author: "Well, you see, madam, I was crossing the ocean last summer and was a contributor to the Atlantic."

QUINT E. SMITH, Exalted Ruler, L. C. BARRINGER, Secretary.

An optimist is one who eats chestnuts in the dark. A pessimist is one who has eaten chestnuts in the dark. The one nice thing about one kind of cheese is you can't tell when it is spoiled. A loafer usually wishes he was doing something else. Some people are cursing the weather as if they had a right to expect summer this winter. A man seldom turns over a new leaf until he has finished the old one. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

SOME DIFFICULTIES IN HOUSEKEEPING OVERCOME

It is not the inexperienced housekeeper alone who meets up with difficulties in looking after the household, especially in planning and preparing the daily meals. "Left-overs" are a big problem, and if constant watchfulness is not exercised the left-overs soon are taking up all the refrigerator space and eventually many of them find their way to the garbage can.

Just what quantity of food to prepare is indeed a problem. Suppose one wants a cupful of applesauce. How many apples will it take to make that quantity? How many quarts of peas in the pod will be needed to make a finished dish of, say, two cupfuls? Should the housewife order three, six, nine or twelve ears of corn if she wishes to serve stewed corn and wants two and a half cups after it is stewed and prepared for serving. Or perhaps she plans a dish in which one and a third cups of stewed tomatoes are needed—how many whole tomatoes should she buy to make about that quantity?

These, and many other difficulties, are already solved for her if she makes use of canned foods. Canners long ago recognized that the needs of families vary and have met this situation by packing their products in cans of different size so as to enable the housewife to purchase just the quantity of food needed for her family.

Every can must carry on its label a statement of the quantity it contains, and if the housewife becomes familiar with the can sizes and the amount they contain it will be a splendid guide to her in making purchases. If her family is small and a No. 1 can, which holds 11 ounces or about one and a third cupfuls, is sufficient. Her purchase of canned foods should be limited to that size can. When she stocks up her pantry with canned foods for the winter time, she should lay in just the size cans that are best suited for her needs.

It is well to keep in mind also that the entire contents of the can are edible food, there being no waste whatever, so by keeping the above table at hand the proper size can may be used, thus practically eliminating left-overs.

Cans of the sizes mentioned are commonly used in packing fruits and vegetables and many other commodities. In such articles as meats and some others that come in cans of special shape and size, the weight of the contents is given on the label.

The housewife may not be familiar with the size of cans known as No. 1, 2, 1-2, etc., but she will find the retail grocer knows the cans by these numbers. If she desires a certain number of cupfuls of food of any kind, she need only tell her grocer the size can by number that corresponds in the table to the number of cupfuls desired. The amount of food in a can is regulated by the Department of Agriculture, which enforces very strictly the requirements as to the contents of the can, so that housewife can be assured that the contents of the can coincide with the statement of weight on the table.

FAITH
"Faith in the American people means faith in their ability to form sound judgment, when once the facts have been presented to them clearly and without prejudice. It is this educational work, national in its scope, that The Associated Press performs, and upon its integrity and fairness depends in large measure the course of public opinion in the United States. This work is done without any tinge of personal or political opinion. A very practical need exists, and it is met by a very practical service. It is individual in its nature. It is a personal service for each of us, making its appeal entirely to the intelligence of the individual, and recognizing fully the American ideal of intellectual independence."
From the address of Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, at the annual luncheon of The Associated Press, in New York City, April 22, 1924.
